

CZARNARNECKI STIRS LARGE AUDIENCE

Famous Polish Orator Grills the Beast of Berlin Before Big Crowd in Hammond's Liberty Hall Last Evening.

"No matter what sacrifices we make in this war it will be nothing compared to what this German monster would exact as his price if he is victorious. Would you have had us wait until he had crumpled France and swept Great Britain off the seas? Their fight is our fight and the flag of every allied nation is our flag by proxy. And he who casts a slur on the flag of a nation that is fighting to protect our liberties and our women and children is casting a slur on our flag."

Anthony Czarnarnecki, one of the editors of the Chicago Daily News and a returned correspondent from Europe, stirred a crowd at Liberty Hall in Hammond last night with a powerful address in which he revealed the cupidity of the German nation and told how Poland has suffered. He spoke under the auspices of the American Alliance.

"The Germans are not readers of human nature," he said, "and they failed to judge Americans right. They think we are a nation of money-makers without any backbone and are not fighters. They do not reckon with the strength and resources of this nation. They are just beginning to realize what they are up against."

"Anyone in this country with heart strings to the Central Powers had plenty of time to go back between the starting of the war and the time we entered it during the period of our neutrality. And those who didn't go back and still have sympathy for Germany are yellow springs, backwards without nerve enough to go back."

Six months before America entered the war Czarnarnecki was in Germany, Austria and Poland as a special correspondent for his paper, one of the few newspaper men to visit devastated Poland. He told of the German cruelties in Poland where the bronnet is held at the throats of the people. Even before the war Poland, divided into three parts, was oppressed, the speaker said.

"Poland," he stated, "was a rich country, weakened within by the poisonous German propaganda, and not ready to resist foreign invasion. It was made a crime to teach the native tongue and the German language was forced down the throats of the people. At the outbreak of the war the Polish factories were stripped of machinery and the men without work could not earn a livelihood. Starvation followed. Then the skilled workmen of Poland were told that they could have work in the factory centers of Germany and thus support their families. As soon as a workman left his home to work in Germany a German soldier entered his home. Thousands of women were driven to suicide and thousands lost their reason."

The speaker told of the ruins in the wake of the German armies in the east and of the poor people living in the ruins and of the wholesale executions for petty offenses or no offenses. He named a professor executed for saying the Russian government did a good thing to take liquor away from its people and a prominent German shot for begging the women of his parish to be pure. This reign of terror still holds in Poland, he stated. Thousands of women and children are suffering from dreaded diseases in the wake of the armies. Cities that surrendered without a shot were bombarded and civilians massacred. In Warsaw Czarnarnecki saw children begging for food and former successful bankers, lawyers and merchants waiting in the long bread lines with fat well-fed greedy German soldiers leaving at the suffering people. Czarnarnecki stated that in Berlin, with the United States neutral, he was told by a high official, "You're an American and America will pay us."

"I saw how Poland paid when Kultur barbers subjected her to unspeakable things. Any sacrifice we make will be nothing compared to that price."

The library board has rented the rooms over Mrs. L. Davis' millinery store and will within the next two weeks open up a library. The board were intending to build this year, but owing to the high cost of material and labor they will rent rooms until after the war. The Carnegie corporation has made a donation of $12,500 to erect a building.

The Chicago Automobile Club passed through Lowell yesterday morning on their way to George Ade's farm, where they enjoyed the day and returned to Chicago in the evening.

The old soldiers around Lowell feel that Uncle Sam is using them pretty well by increasing their pensions from $8 to $10 per month.

Norman Chapman of Monec is visiting Jerome Dinwiddle.

INDIANA HARBOR

BOY IS O. K.

Wire From Jefferson Barracks Sets Rumors at Rest Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 2907 Grapevine street, Indiana Harbor, have been in great suspense lately because of the story which has appeared in the papers that Daniel Smith of Indiana Harbor, while on sentry duty, at Jefferson Barracks disappeared and that it was feared that he had met with foul play. Mr. Smith wired the commandment and a wire reached him last night that his son who enlisted about six weeks ago was in good health and doing splendidly in his work. A letter followed today from Dan to his mother. The Smiths are much mystified over the story and do not think it probable that there is another Dan Smith in Indiana Harbor.

WHITING DIPS ARE BOUND OVER

WHITING, Ind., June 21.—Pat Callahan and Frank Stiff, the Whiting pick pockets, were bound over to the superior court under $500 bonds each by Judge R. E. Cronin of the city court. The defense was taken care of by Deputy Prosecutor Chas. Perel. Attorneys Gavit and Hall appeared for Callahan and Stiff.

The men operated on a Whiting street car and were caught after considerable chase when they jumped off the car at Whiting. Callahan was released on bonds furnished by Gavit, but in default of same Stiff was taken to Crown Point.
