COUNTRY SCHOOLS WELL ATTENDED

New Building for Twin Branch Will be Commenced Next Spring.

According to Township Trustee James L. Kennedy the attendance at the country schools is fully as good as last year. The Kennedy school, three miles and a half northeast of Mishawaka, has 178 pupils and the Osceola school 148. There are eight other one-room school buildings throughout the township and the attendance at those is greater than last year. Notwithstanding the dearth of teachers throughout the country at the present time, the township schools are all supplied.

An architect is now busy on the plans for the proposed new school building at Twin Branch, which is to be built next spring. At present the 75 pupils are being taken care of in a single room.

An electric light plant will be added to the equipment of the Kennedy school this month, which will be a decided boon to the residents in that locality. Many meetings and entertainments are held there during the winter months, and with the new lighting system installed, this center of the community will in all probability become one of the most active in the county districts.

FRUIT PIT CAMPAIGN BRINGS GOOD RESULTS

Success has marked the campaign for the collection of peach stones, fruit pits and nut shells, to be used for carbon for gas masks. A C. Haslinger, chairman of the campaign, has six barrels ready for shipment. He requests that everybody who has collected any pits or nut shells bring them to his store not later than Thursday, so they can go forward with this week's shipment.

The collection will then be started over again. It is the plan of the chairman to make a shipment every week.

TEMPLE ATTRACTION TODAY.

"A woman's intuition invariably anticipates her husband's coming by 10 minutes. If it weren't for that 10 minutes there would be more divorced women," so says Edward J. Connelly as the devil in "Satin's Pawn," which appears at the Temple today. Connelly plays the leading part and is supported by Bessie Barriscale in the role of the unfaithful wife, one of his pawns.

ARRESTED FOR TRESPASS.

Carl Haney of the central fire station spent Monday, his day off on a hunting trip and was arrested for trespass by George Bush. Haney was hunting on the Bush farm and Mr. Bush telephoned to the police station and the patrol was sent after Haney.

RETURNS FROM KENTUCKY.

E. J. W. Plink has returned to the city from a trip through Kentucky.

Reduce Those Dangerous Swollen Veins

Physicians are prescribing and hospital are using a new and harmless, yet very powerful germicide that not only cures enlarged or varicose veins and hemiplegia to become normal, but also reduces goiter, enlarged glands and wens. Ask any first class druggist for the original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time, and furthermore, if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging. Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directions advise and improvement will begin at once. Your druggist can supply you.

After the Battle is Over

CLEANING UP AFTER THE FIGHT

Blue Bird of Happiness

By Olive Barton Roberts

When Jimmy was drafted the old guard all had something to say.

The old guard, let me explain, was a club of six celibates who had fore sworn matrimony for the privilege of wearing the insignia of freedom on their shields.

Every Saturday night for years they had assembled at the joust, armed with whatever loose change they could gather up depending on the lapse of time since pay day, or the last check from home; and well rewarded was he who by his prowess was able to open the most jackpots.

But valiant though these knights of pleasure may have been, one by one they were overpowered and taken prisoner by the common enemy, woman.

Charley Downs was the first to go, then Randall McCague; after two years Dick Forrest capitulated to Phyllis Brewster's fair charms and it was at their house Billy Scott met Phyllis' sister. That was the end of the organization, always declared it was a put up job of Dick's to let himself down easy.

But behold; Carter himself came back one day after a two weeks' vacation from the office, looking suspiciously happy and subdued and Jimmy registered a mental groan. He knew that look. It was all off. No one left but himself now. Carter was undoubtedly married. So right then and there Jimmy made a renewal of his vow never, never, never to marry.

Charley Downs might think his little Charley the most modern of miracles. Randall McCague certainly had the privilege of wearing his overcoat a half century if he wanted to in order to buy silk bonnets for the twins, and likewise Dick and Billy and Carter might do and think as they chose, but marriage was not for him.

War came in April and the draft in August and it was the turn of the benefits to laugh.

"You poor slackers!" roared Jimmy. "If I'd tied myself to a woman's apron like the rest of you, I couldn't have gone, I suppose. But I'm glad I didn't and I'm gladder I'm going. I'll punch a few extra holes through Fritz to keep up the honor of the old guard that isn't there."

So Jimmy had gone away and by training and examinations had got himself made a lieutenant, and the first thing his friends knew he'd been shipped off to France.

At the end of four months of varied experience, part of which was spent in actual warfare in the trenches, in which he distinguished himself for bravery and got himself made a captain, he was sent home on government business, and arrived to find himself a real hero in the eyes of his friends.

True, it was a different Jimmy who came home, no longer the rather dudish blase man of the world, but a weather tanned, sober, thoughtful-eyed soldier, who seemed to have visions he could not discuss

IOWA FIRST STATE TO SUBSCRIBE LOAN QUOTA

International News Service.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 1.—With some counties still unheard from, Iowa is the first state in the union today to go over the top in the fourth Liberty loan. Her quota is $147,100,000. It was reported from the seventh federal reserve district last night that there was subscribed at that time $148,920,500.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—With official figures today showing that Chicago at the start of the fourth day of the Liberty loan drive had subscribed only $15,999,000, loan workers assert that unreported subscriptions bring the total $10,000,000 nearer the quota allotted to this city.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR MEN CONFERENCE.

Mexican and American Leaders Meet in November to Discuss Means of Common Action.

Closer relations between labor circles in America and Mexico will be established, it is hoped, by the international labor conference to be held at Laredo, beginning Nov. 13, at which the governors of all the border states of both republics are expected to be present.

A delegation from the American Federation of Labor has only recently returned from Mexico City. The coming convention, it is believed, will be of great importance to labor, not only in the countries immediately concerned but in all Latin America.

"Wage earners have learned that their interests are favored by cooperation rather than competition," writes Pres't Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in the Federationist. "The basic facts of the workers' advancement and betterment are the same the world over. The one force in the United States to which Mexicans confidently turned for unflinching assistance and advice was the organized labor movement. During all the years when the revolution in Mexico was in the making, the organized workers of the United States were closely in touch and cooperating with the efforts of Mexican fellow workers."

PARIS IS EXCITED.

International News Service.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The signing of the armistice between the allies and Bulgaria caused great excitement here. Members of the chamber of deputies are expressing the belief that Turkey will soon follow Bulgaria's lead.

atop the white fence, her hat held loosely in her other hand to let the sweet little spring breeze blow around her face, was Rose.

Jimmy had taken a street car part way to the country club and was cutting across fields to save time. He came on Rose unexpectedly. It was as though he had turned the pages of a book and came suddenly upon a picture that was too charming for comment. Moreover it seemed as though the picture explained the story better than the context itself.

He stood a minute watching her silently, before she saw him.

"I wish you wouldn't move," he begged. "And please don't talk. I—I just want to look a little while."

She seemed to understand although she gave the credit to the blue bird and the pink blossoms. How could she know that in that instant a metamorphosis was taking place in a man's soul, that the blue sky, the magic sweetness of the spring air, the little peach tree and the blue bird and her wonderful sweet self, had roused at last an intensity of feeling in this soldier's breast that almost frightened him.

It had come at last, an overwhelming wave of feeling that left him trembling. Poor Jimmy.

"Love Rose?" Of course he loved her! He always had. But he'd just found it out.

Then he came close. "Dear!" he said simply, possessing both her hands. "How sweet you are! I love you!"

The blue bird flew away at that

- AMERICANS FIGHT IN SIX LANDS.
- United States Troops Are on the - Battle Front in France, Ger-
- many, Belgium, Russia, Aus-
- tria and Italy.

Workers at home have the responsibility of producing supplies for American soldiers now fighting in six countries—France, Germany, Russia, Austria, Italy and Belgium. American artillery has been reported on the French line opposite Mulhausen, several miles inside the border of the German empire. The Yanks are supporting Italian sectors at the end of Lake Garda, and their flyers have maneuvered over the lowlands near Venice. In Belgium they are fighting with Austrians, and they form an army corps engaged in France. They are at Vladivostok and on the Murman coast. Far-reaching in its responsibilities, labor is now put to a supreme test that will find it able to support the millions in the field.
