Y. M. GYM CLASSES TO OPEN MONDAY

Strong Schedule For Winter Season Is Arranged by Physical Director.

The formal opening of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming season will take place Monday of next week, Oct. 7. From the present indications this year will see as large or even a larger attendance than any year in the association's history. A strong program of work for business men and boys has been prepared to meet the special needs of these war times, and it is expected that many of the older business men who have never before taken gymnasium work will be enlisted.

Business men's classes have been prepared for men whose occupations are largely of a sedentary nature and are composed of setting up exercises, informal games, pulley weights and stall bar exercises; physical conditioning which is so essential as the director puts it to "geting over the top in your business." Their aim is to conserve and renew health as a basis of physical and mental efficiency and a sure builder of morale.

Boys' classes will be full of lively competition, games, athletics, gymnastics, baseball and a thousand and one stunts which the Red Triangle is promoting among the older brothers in our big army camps and "over there." Boys will be taught a lot about army life, such as the army system of marching and march of the other information in the school of the soldier squad and company which is so fascinating to the boy of today.

A special class has been arranged for the high school boys called the "high school non-com club." All these young men will be subjected to call for training and it is the plan to give all possible preliminary training and information, appreciating that the preliminary experience which they so gain will enable them to take places of leadership and gain recognition when that time comes.

An advanced volley ball group is being planned in connection with the business men's 5:30 class, which will take in all the other experienced players in the association.

Arrangements have been made whereby all men subject to call under the new draft can avail themselves of a short intensive period of physical conditioning before jumping into army life, and it is hoped many will take advantage of this opportunity.

Physical conditioning will be the main objective, but it is also planned to give information which will make the trials of the "awful" work less terrifying. This work will be given on short term arrangements for drafted men only.

All members are given a physical examination before using the gymnasium and other activities and many men are taking this examination this week.

Schedule of Classes. FOR MEN. 12:15 Monday, Wednesday and Friday. 8:00 Tuesday and Thursday. Home Guards: 8:00 Tuesday and Thursday. Extension work: 8:00 Monday. General volley ball: 4:30 Saturday.

LOCAL AND FOREIGN MARKETS

STRONG TONE ON STOCK MARKET

Tobacco Stocks Are Unusually Active and Oil Stocks in Demand. NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Irregular movements characterized trading during the last hour, but a more wholesome demand for various speculative war issues which have recently been subjected to pressure, was evidenced on the set-backs. Marine preferred was the feature, followed closely by Studebaker common. Both stocks made new high price levels under the influence of a buying movement that reflected unusual confidence in the merits of both properties.

Gossip of the Markets

New York Financial News says: "A great stress is being laid in representative channels upon the point that the stock market, while it represented the inflation of European entrance into the world's war, it has not deflected the entrance of America into the conflict because of the great restraint exercised over affairs by leading bankers and others of the country but it is now held that no longer can this inflation be prevented and it is declared that the longer it is postponed by artificial means, the more forceful it will be later on."
