

GIRLS DRESSED LIKE MEN TAKEN IN TOW BY POLICE OFFICERS

Dressed like men and acting like the roughest variety of the masculine species sometimes acts, Judith and Gay O'Hara, two young women who claim to have walked and ridden the "bumbers" from Seattle, Wash., to South Bend, were taken in charge by the police at an early hour Thursday morning and are being held pending an investigation.

The two women were strolling on St. Michigan st., at an hour when most men have retired. They wore khaki trousers with skirts and caps to match and brown leggings.

They were laughing too boisterously to suit the otherwise quiet air of the street after the midnight hour, so the officers in the district kindly escorted the women to police headquarters. They were then taken to the county jail where they spent the night.

The women told Chief Kline that they left Seattle last April, and that they have been working their way east. They say they want to join the Red Cross. They appear to be about 22 or 23 years old.

HUNS BEGIN TO DISTRUST KAISER

Captured German Officer Says People Are "Opening Their Eyes."

BY JOHN T. PARKERSON. International News Service. WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE CAMBRAI-ST. QUENTIN FRONT (night), Oct. 9.—A great wave of depression has been caused in the German army by the collapse of Bulgaria and the tottering of Turkey and Austria, prisoners declared today.

During the day I saw several hundred dejected-looking captives in prisoner cages in the rear of the American lines.

One officer, of more than usual intelligence, said in English that the kaiser has not the same hold over the German people that he formerly had.

The German people still believed in the kaiser to some extent, the officer said, but in the latest flush of victory the people closed their eyes, whereas they are now opening their eyes.

The officer said that he did not believe that Pres. Wilson would accept the latest German peace offer, although he had hoped so. His opinion was that the allies are now on the road to victory and would not stop until they had finished the German army.

A CHINESE STUDENT'S VIEW OF WILHELM

Two examples of broken English have recently fallen upon my grateful ear—both from the lips of doorkeepers of restaurants.

The first touched upon the untimely, although welcome, heat wave in mid-May.

"It is," I remarked with an affability equalled only by want of originality, "almost too warm."

On the second occasion I was waiting for a guest who was late. It is an old habit of mine, and nothing seems to break it. After a while I commented, pleasantly, to the door-keeper on the tendency of the fair sex to be behind time.

He laughed the light, easy laugh of one who has deep intimacy with the world we live in.

German War Machine Crumbling and Great Stores Captured.

BY JOHN T. PARKERSON. International News Service. WITH THE BRITISH ARMY ON THE CAMBRAI-ST. QUENTIN FRONT, Oct. 19.—(1:30 p. m.)—At least 30 German divisions (350,000 men) are in virtual flight from the Cambrai-St. Quentin front.

It is impossible to forecast where the British drive will end.

Both phrases also show that neither speaker, after I know how many years in England, is yet making any effort to talk English, but is content to clothe his own native thoughts in the most adequate English apparel that he can collect.
