U. S. CRUISER "CINCINNATI" FIRING A SIX-INCH GUN.—FROM A DRAWING BY CARLTON T. CHAPMAN IN HARPER'S WEEKLY

Reproduced by Permission from Harper's Weekly. Copyright, 1898, by Harper & Brothers.

The bombardment of Matanzas on April 27th was momentous, because at that time the first shots were fired by the American fleet in Cuban waters against the Spanish flag. For eighteen minutes the flag-ship New York, the monitor Puritan, and the cruiser Cincinnati, at a range of 4000 yards from earthworks abreast of their stations, were firing almost incessantly. The engagement was opened by the flag-ship, but the Puritan and Cincinnati impatiently signalled for permission to join her. The request was at once granted, and the Cincinnati was speedily in action, demolishing the enemy's batteries on the west shore. The accuracy of the guns of the big cruiser was remarkable, and every discharge of her 6 inch gun wrought destruction to the Spanish works, while the men were full of enthusiasm, and overjoyed at the distinction of firing the first shots of the war.

The subject of the illustration from Harper's Weekly, which we reproduce, is the Cincinnati swinging into line opposite the enemy's forts, and discharging her fore-castle gun. It was the first test in modern warfare of American naval discipline and gunnery, and the test proved conclusively that thirty-five years of peace have not dulled the traditional keenness of Yankee marksmanship.

$45,000 DAMAGES

IS THE SUM TOTAL ASKED BY VARIOUS PERSONS

Through Jackson & Starr, Attorneys—One Suit Against the City and the Other Against the Big Four and the Pennsylvania, Respective.

This was essentially a day for damage suits at the court house. Within ten minutes there were filed at the office of the clerk of the court, this forenoon, five damage suits, aggregating in amount, $45,000 in the demands made. One was against the city of Richmond, and was for $5,000, while the other four were against the Big Four and the Pennsylvania companies, respectively.

THE CITY CASE.

The case against the city is that of Oliver Pickett, who claims that he was injured by falling into a sort of pit-fall left in the making of a sewer across the sidewalk on the west side of Ft. Wayne avenue, north of the railroad, near the intersection of north P street and close to Starr park. He alleges that his injuries would not have occurred except that the city and her employees had been negligent in the matter of closing up the ditch and rendering it a safe place to cross.

THE BIG FOUR CASE.

The suit against the Big Four is entitled George H. Eggemeyer, administrator of the estate of the late William Baldwin, deceased, vs. the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railway, for damages. Demand $10,000. Baldwin was killed on the Big Four near New Trenton, Franklin county, Indiana, March 9, 1898. He was a brakeman on that road at the time. The administrator claims that the death was due to the negligence of the defendant. Baldwin was a resident and a native of the western part of this country.

"DOC" FUSON'S SUIT.

The suit of J. E. Fuson, freight conductor, was filed also. He asks $10,000 damages for alleged injuries in which he claims his skill was frustrated, his wrist broken and other injuries inflicted. The train on which Fuson was riding, according to the complaint, was running westward, between Hamilton and Richmond, when the coupler on a Vandalia car became broken, causing the train to break into two sections. The proper signals were given and the usual effort was made to stop the train by setting the brakes on the hind section. The engineer, according to the further statement, stopped his engine on a down grade when the sections were about twenty car-lengths apart, and the coming together of the two sections threw Fuson from the train, inflicting on him the injuries stated, together with others almost too numerous to mention. He claims a defective coupler and the negligence of the engineer as the elements of the company's culpability in the matter. This was in December 1897.

J. E. STANTON.

John Stanton, fireman, who was hurt near Campbellton, Richmond division, September 10 last, by the giving way of a stake on the side of the locomotive, asks for $10,000 damages. All these suits were filed by Jackson & Starr.

OTHER COMPLAINTS.

Jackson & Starr, in addition to the above list of complaints, have filed the suit of the Richmond Loan & Savings Association vs. William Almetzer et al., on note, and to foreclose mortgage. Demand $700.

The Sandwich Manufacturing company vs. H. Cheesman et al., on note, and to foreclose chattel mortgage. Demand $300. Also by Jackson & Starr.

Same attorneys file suit of Second National bank vs. Stephen and Anne Thomas, to set aside fraudulent conveyance.

Same file suit of Richmond Loan & Savings association vs. H. O. Austin et al., on note, and to foreclose. Demand $850.

Same file suit of same vs. Rebecca Cleckner et al., on note and to foreclose mortgage. Demand $800.

Same file suit of Abigail J. Needham vs. Francis M. Lee, on note. Demand $500.

S. C. Whitesell filed the complaint of William Steinbrink vs. the city of Richmond and William Wagner, contractor. The demand is $225.

LEE YARYAN'S TOMB

To Be Marked With a Beautiful Stone of Hammer Dressed Barre Granite.

This morning at the monument works of Perry T. Williams, corner of Main and fifth streets, a PALLADIUM reporter was shown a magnificent piece of monumental work on which the workmen were putting the finishing touches. The work was the monument of the late Lee Yaryan, and the inscription will not use the initials "J. L.", but "Lee Yaryan." The stone is a very handsome one, of Barre granite, hammer-dressed, gray in color. The base is massive, and the shaft is rather low, somewhat on the style of that of Andrew F. Scott. When the work shall have been finished and put up, it will be one of the handsome monuments in Earlham cemetery, and the Field Day.

As we go to press the Earlham field day is on at full blast and the boys are breaking some state records in fine shape. The successful contestants will represent Earlham at the state meet later in the season. There was a fair sized crowd on the campus and great interest was shown in each event.

Field Day.

The weather appears to have settled at last. Yesterday was as beautiful as a dream, but slightly too windy for a good dream, and today is a nearly ideal as days in this climate ever get. There were hundreds of people from the city and country out at the Glen and elsewhere yesterday to enjoy the first fine weather for a good many days. Every available rig in the city was out, and the livery men would not object to several such Sundays. The bicycle riders enjoyed the day to the full.
