

WOMEN AND THEIR

ACTIVITIES

THE PARTY LINE

Hello, Lucile, how are you? I was talking about you yesterday, saying that you will have a birthday this month. How have you been anyway? I heard about the wonderful time you had in Idlewild this summer. Yes, Walter Abernathy told me that there were more people there this year than he had ever seen before.

Yes, it seems that everybody is talking about the Henderson wedding. They all say that it was one grand affair, and that Lovelyn Evans had charge of it. I was told that nearly everyone who came downstairs at the Chicken Shack after the wedding supper, helped himself to something from the cash register.

I know that Lovelyn would have put a stop to that had she seen it. One person remarked that he knew Ernie had to start from scratch the next morning, for there could not have been anything left in the cash register. But they say that the wedding was lovely, and that he got a very fine girl.

AT THE PIT.

Yes, I was by her house Tuesday. We played bridge and then went over to the Pioneer Barbecue Pit on 51st street for something to eat. Talk about barbecue! I never have eaten such delicious lamb as they have there. The place is so lovely, too. The walls are hand-painted scenery, and everything is so spotlessly clean. Mrs. E. I. I. A. Morphis is the owner and she and the people connected with it are so affable.

Are you going to the Tuskegee-Wilberforce game Saturday? I would not miss it for the world! I hope that it is a pretty day. I can't wear a green dress this year as I had my dress dyed black. No, I took it to the William Cherry Cleaning Company at 43rd street and Prairie avenue and it looks like new. They certainly do fine work there.

Talking about a cleaning place, I must tell you about a new product that is on the market. The Pynol Flakes. It is one of the finest preparations for silks, etc., which I have ever used. Then the shampoo is par excellent. I want you to try some. They have several articles which are worth while. Your face feels so fresh after using Pynol soap. I am just simply carried away with it.

ENID LEE DIES.

Did you hear about Enid Lee passing away? Yes, she died in New York, and her funeral was held Thursday. I have not heard whether Etta Moten went to the services or not. You know she traveled to South America as Etta's accompanist on her trip there. She was certainly a brilliant pianist. I understand that she was ill only a brief period, too.

That is life, you are here today, and gone tomorrow. I saw Dr. Lawson driving his car the other day. I was so glad to see him out as Lulu told me that he had been awfully ill. I think he looks fine, and he told me he goes for a drive every day.

I was down there the other night. The conversation came up about them, then. I heard several of the girls say that they were really separated. It seems that she is the one who refuses to come home. She had better be careful, for as good looking as he is, you know someone will soon begin to comfort him. He does not seem to be worried.

I will have to tell you about it when I see you, as this is "deep stuff," and my line is a party line, and it is too dangerous to talk over the phone. I'll give you a ring what time to come by for me to go to the game. You will be rooting for Tuskegee, and I will be rooting for Wilberforce, but that will be all right between friends. So long, 'til Saturday.

It pays to be Beautiful

BY ZEPHYRNN ABRAMS

Good afternoon, friends. We are going into further details about conditions which cause dry, split, lustreless hair.

Many people of both sexes think because they see the final white suds, the hair is clean, and when rinsed in three waters the shampoo is complete.

Remember we spoke of our hair growing in shingles and there is also grease, acid, salt, etc., that remain under these shingles and unless they are carefully removed will dry, and when coming in contact with hot combs, will further dry the hair and cook it, causing the hair to burn, mat together, and begin to break off.

Sometimes one will shampoo her own hair improperly and ask the beautician for a press and wave. The hair is not clean and eventually is burned and breaks off. If she is informed of this, and is not told in detail how to shampoo properly, rarely will she be convinced that it was her fault and not the beautician's.

I always advise letting one who

JONESETTA TREAS. HAS FINE PARTY

The popular Jonesetta Bridge Club spent a very pleasant afternoon at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Lela Harper, 4841 Forestville avenue. In spite of the long vacation, all members were present and ready to greet each other, to vie for the prizes offered the best Contract players.

They were Mesdames Thelma Clarke, Bessie Taylor and Ethel Jones. After the game, the hostess invited the members to her spacious dining room, where a delicious dinner was served on a specially prepared table.

Other members present were: Brownie Singleton, Octavia Davis, Inez McKinney, Odessa Taylor, Elizabeth McMinn, Laura Banks and Anna Jones. Mrs. Bertha Periloux was accepted as a new member. Next meeting will be with the president, Anna Jones, 4215 Champlain avenue.

is well experienced, care for one's head, for simple as it seems, the shampoo is the fundamental factor in a beautiful head dress.

Here is a lovely formula for the shampoo. Next week I shall give directions on how to shampoo the hair. This is good for men and women. Remember our slogan. "It Pays to be Beautiful."

- 1/2 bar coconut castile soap
2 quarts water
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon borax
Heat mixture over low flame. Do not boil. When cool, add a few drops of your favorite perfume.

Social Service Guild Of St. Edmund's Episcopal Church Givinig Annual Bridge Party

The Social Service Guild of St. Edmunds church are giving their annual bridge and whist party at Bacon's Casino on Thursdaoy evening, October 15th. Much interest is being manifested in this affair because of the fact that as in previous years there are to be a score or more of elaborate and useful prizes given to the successful contestants.

The committee immediately in charge of the card tournament is composed of Mrs. Harry Horsley, Mrs. Pauline Jennings, Mrs. Charles Mickey and Mrs Frank Edwards. In addition to the regular prizes there will be a magnificent door prize awarded.

St. Edmund's Social Service Guild has been active for many years rendering valuable service in this community. The members work regularly all during the year with the underprivileged and handicapped. They give scholarship assistance to students, clothing to the needy, supplement family budgets, assist with rent and various other worthy causes.

The card party Thursday night, to which the general public is invited, gives promise of being one of the outstanding social events of the fall season.

Among the members of this guild are the following, Mmes:

JOHN C. ROBINSON AERO AUXILIARY

The John C. Robinson Aero Auxiliary held it's regular meeting at the Poro College, 4401 South Parkway, Monday night. The president expressed her appreciation in having such good attendance. It seems as if great interest is being shown in helping her put over her program.

Plans were completed for the big benefit dance in the near future. The next meeting will be held at the same place Monday, October 19 at 8:30 o'clock and we urge each member to be present.
