Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1881 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

J. P. Mallette, of the Mallette & Raymond Manuf. Co., No. 329 South Canal St., Chicago, Ill., says: "My wife has been a great sufferer from neuralgia for a long while, but a half bottle of Athlophoros cured her so that she has not suffered my since. When it was first recommended to her, she would not get it as she was always opposed to taking any kind of patent medicines. But as the treatment she was under gave her no relief I insisted on her trying Athlophoros. After taking a half bottle the neuralgia was gone and has not returned since."

Decatur Ill.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years. During the past winter I was stricken with a very severe attack, rendering me almost helpless and confining me to my bed. I tried various medicines and was prescribed for by physicians with no avail. Finally I was induced to try Athlophoros. I was relieved and cured so quickly that words could not tell my surprise. I do not hesitate in recommending it to any one suffering with that painful complaint, rheumatism. A. M. BLAKNEY, Cor. Union and Green Sts.

THE COERCIONISTS WIN.

THE RENEWAL OF THE CRIMES ACT TO BE APPLIED FOR.

Irish Executives Ordered to Make Arrests and Seize Rents Paid to Trustees—A Case in Which the Police Were Outwitted—Killed by an Avalanche—The Cholera—Notes.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The coercionists in the cabinet have carried their point. The government will apply to parliament for suspension of habeas corpus, trial by jury, and the ordinary law, and the renewal of the crimes act. The latter is to be supplemented and amended so as to include boycotting and cover every possible kind of excitement and combination hostile to the administration of the ordinary law. The moderates, overruled as to the issue of the queen's proclamation, suggested a suspension of coercive measures until parliament met. This, too, is refused, and the Irish executives have received strict injunctions to make arrests and seize rents paid to trustees under circumstances similar to those attending the proceedings at Loughrea. There is an important distinction between the collection of rents as trustees for individuals merely and the same act for the avowed purpose of devoting the money to the purposes of the Land league or any form of agrarian agitation. The former may be legal, but the latter is stated by the law officers of the crown to be indisputably illegal. The Nationalists will consequently receive rents in the future only in the capacity of ordinary trustees, the real nature of the transacti on being understood but not stated. A legal instrument will probably take the place of the form of receipt for rent hitherto given to tenants.

Collected Rents in Spite of Police.

DUBLIN, Dec. 21.—Messrs. Cox, Jordan, and Kenny, Nationalist members of parliament, cleverly evaded the police Sunday while receiving the rents of the tenants on the Vandeleur estates under the plan of campaign. The three gentlemen above named, secretly arrived at Kilrush Friday and took up their quarters at a hotel. The police, who had been informed, were on the alert. The tenants, who expected to turn over their rents to the three members of parliament, as trustees, arrived on Sunday. They were privately instructed to assemble at three rendezvous outside the town in the evening, deposit their rents and then return to their homes. Messrs. Cox, Jordan and Kenny, left the hotel singly during the prevalence of a driving snowstorm, and visited each of the rendezvous, where they succeeded in capturing the rents before the police had become aware of their movements.

FOREIGN MISCELLANY.

The Judge's Address to the Jury in the Campbell Divorce Case.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Sir Charles Russell Monday concluded his address to the jury in behalf of Lady Colin Campbell. The judge in summing up the case to the jury, said Lord Campbell denied having committed adultery with Mary Watson which allegation depended chiefly on the evidence of Lady Miles. Whatever may be said against Lady Miles, it must be admitted that until recently she was Lord Colin's friend and that she had done all she could to discourage the plaintiff from commencing the action against Lord Colin. Lady Miles only took Lady Campbell's part when she was convinced that unjust charges were to be brought against the plaintiff. The doctor's evidence regarding the examination of Mary Watson did not negative the evidence of Lady Miles. The suspicion, however of his lordships adultery with Mary Watson was insufficient. If the crime of adultery had not been proven as a fact, the jury was bound to find Lady Colin innocent of that charge. The evidence against Lord Colin depended on the testimony of servants and must be received with suspicion. The Purfleet incident, taken in connection with the many important examples of mistaken identity, compel the jury to carefully consider whether the evidence of identity is reliable.

Father Fahy Released.

GALWAY, Dec. 21.—Father Fahy, who was sentenced to six months imprisonment on Sept. 13 last, on the charge of having threatened the owner of property in Woodford, from which the tenant had been evicted, was Monday unconditionally released from prison. Father Fahy was given the choice of finding bail or going to jail for six months. He chose the latter, saying that if he gave bail it would be a tacit admission that his defense was a denial of using threats and was false.

A Big Steamer Ordered Built.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The North German Lloyds have ordered a steamer to be built which it is intended shall surpass in speed and size any vessel now afloat. She will be constructed by the Fairfield Iron company of Glasgow. The steamer is expected to compete with the Greyhound steamers of the English lines for the carrying of anglo-American mails.

The Canadian Premier's Escape.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 21.—The car in which Sir John McDonald and three of his ministers have been stumping western Ontario, was mysteriously attacked near Thamesville, and a door and two windows broken. What did it no one knows, but a plot to wreck the car is suspected.

The First Keen Twinge.

As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatis mot take it before the first keen twinge.

Moses Von Dam, of Jersey City, who was rejected by Mary Brunn, made his will, bequeathing her $20,000, and then committed suicide.

ATTUNES HIS LYRE.

BILL NYE'S LINES ON THE DEATH OF A MARRIED MAN.

Written on the Theory of Conveying an Idea, and Still Not Inflaming the Public—Specimens of Fine Word Painting by the Bard.

I have been waiting patiently for the coming poet to take up and treat a theme which has for years been knocking on the door of the slumbering bard, and asking for admission and recognition. The slumbering bard has ignored that call. He has slumbered on. He has turned over and put a pillow in each ear, as it were, in order to avoid the loud, clamorous appeal of this theme. He has shown that he would rather continue to be the slumbering bard at his present salary than the coming poet at better pay.

So I have been compelled to attune my own lyre, and, in halting numbers, handle it myself. It is out of my line to write poetry, but those who think I cannot write a poem that will be ravenously snapped up and published by the American press do not thoroughly understand my true nature.

Any of us may be able to write poetry, no doubt; but will it be published? That is the test. Will it, I ask, or will it not be published?

To write true poetry, therefore, we must not do so solely to gratify ourselves. We should remember that the publisher, the editor and the public have feelings, also. My theory has always been and still is that poetry should be so written that it will convey an idea and still not inflame the public. Inflammatory poetry is unworthy and transitory in its results. I do not know that I am making myself perfectly clear, but let those who read these lines attempt to write lucidly and learnedly on a subject of which they are entirely ignorant and they will see at once how I am hampered.

But to continue the thought. I say that poetry should, in my judgement, awaken a throb in every heart. Is it not a pleasing sensation for the true poet to know that he holds in his hand the consolidated throbbers of 50,000,000 people, exclusive of Indians, not taxed and therefore exempt?

I believe so.

It is therefore a great boon to me to realize on this pleasant morning that a mighty multitude weep together with me over the following poem, which is founded on fact. There are tears in it I know. I would spare the reader these tears if I could, but I cannot. I have run the poem through the wringer three or four times, but it is still damp.

Will the reader forgive me and loan me his lachrymal glands for a few moments?

The poem itself is based upon the sudden drowning of a married man, who had been for years connected with the oil business. By his death his widowed wife was left with no husband. The poem seeks to disclose how she and still reveal to the thinking mind how she muzzled her great grief and battled on through life.

In the third and fourth stanzas I aim to do some fine word painting, and present to the careful student a delicate little picture of the humid and yet hungry, moaning sea.

Later on I may write some more sad poems, and finally print them in a small, dark blue volume that will be within the reach of all.

Writing poetry with me is not irksome. It is not hard work. It does not strain my mind. In fact I can write poetry readily while using my mind for other purposes. It is not acquired in my case. It is a gift. Ever since I got jerked around in a cyclone two years ago and stepped on a peal of thunder and broke my leg and concussed my brain, I could write poetry like this:

A BRAVE HEART.
BEING LINES ON THE DEATH OF A MARRIED MAN BY A FELLOW SUFFERER.

I.
Out where the blue waves come and go,
Out where the nephyrs kiss the strand,
Down where the damp tides ebb and flow,
Down where the ocean monkeys with the sand,
William, the hungry, rustles for his meal.
Slim William, the oelist, gathers the oil.

II.
Up where the Johnny Jump Ups smile,
Up where the green hills meet the sky,
Where, out from her window for many a mile,
She watches the blue and dimpling lie,
The wife of the oelist, with visage grim,
Sits in the gloaming and watches for him.

III
Down in the moist and moaning sea,
Down where the day can never come,
With staring eyes that can never see
And lips that will ever continue dumb,
With eels in his breast, in a large wet wave,
William is filling a watery grave.

IV.
Up where the catnip is breathing hard,
Up where the tansy is flecked with dew,
Where the vesper soft as the onion peels
Wakens the echoes the twilight through,
The new-made widow still watches the shore
And sits there and waits, as I said before.

V.
They come and tell her the pitiful tale,
With trembling voice and tear-dimmed eye,
They watch her cheek grow slightly pale,
Yet wonder at the calm reply:
"All our tears are but idle gentlemen,
Go bring in the eels and set him again."

Bill Nye in Boston Globe.

Burdens of the Egyptian Fellaheen.

The weaker races are justified in resisting to the death the interference of Europeans. Ever since England and France obtained a foothold in that unhappy country, swarms of hungry officials, who have no interest in the country except to make all they can out of it, have been despoiling the Egyptians. The Egyptian fellaheen are very poor, and are heavily burdened, but they have to provide $2,000,000 a year to pay European officials, whose salaries are altogether out of proportion to the work which they perform. At the present moment there are twenty-eight Europeans who each draw over $9,500 annually, and of these no less than twenty-two are absent on leave. The latter include the entire court of appeals, four members of Cusse, the chiefs of four departments, two secretaries of state and two controllers. Who would now deny that Arabi was right when he determined to make a stand against this swarm of locusts and raised the cry "Egypt for Egyptians."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Morals in Africa.

"The morals of the Matabeli," says Mr. Kerr, "from a British standpoint (which would take a lord chancellor to expound, and an archbishop, at least, to exemplify), are unquestionably in the lower scale. But in this respect they are far from being beneath other types of the African races. Polygamy is a recognized custom among them. Wives, in fact, mean wealth; their number is a sign of greatness in the husband. I would say there is no immorality, for the knowledge of sensual vice has no dwelling in the really savage mind. He is not a 'blase creature, but a simple son of nature, free and strong in the robustness of his manhood."—Boston Herald.

Demoralizing.

The yacht mania is demoralizing our people. It was only this morning that little Johnny, seeing a one-legged man passing the house, exclaimed: "Pa, there goes a single sticker."—Boston Transcript.

DON'T FAIL TO TRY IT.

J. C. Burrows, Kalamazoo, Mich., testifies: "For more than five years, a member of my family has been afflicted with Hay Fever, culminating late in the fall in a hacking cough. Every remedy proved futile. Not half a bottle of Papillon (extract of flax) Catarrh cure had been used before the cough entirely disappeared, and general relief followed. It is simply wonderful." A SENSATION.

Why is it that three bottles of B. B. B. are sold in Atlanta to one of any other blood remedy, and twice as much consumed in the state of Georgia as any other preparation? No one need take our word, but simply ask the druggists. Ask the people. They are competent witnesses. Six houses in Atlanta are buying B. B. B. in five and ten gross lots, and some of them buy as often as every two months. Why these unprecedented sales here at home with so little advertising? Modesty forbids us making any reply. Had B. B. B. been before the public a quarter or half a century, it would not be necessary to be bolstered up with crutches of page advertisments now. Merit will conquer and down money.

$1.00 Worth $500.000

For four years I have been a sufferer from a terrible form of Rheumatism, which reduced me so low that all hope of recovery was given up. I have suffered the most excruciating pain day and night, and often while writhing in agony have wished I could die. I have tried everything known for that disease, but nothing did me any good, and have had some of the finest physicians of the state to work on me, but all to no effect. I have spent over $800 without finding relief. I am now proud to say that after using only one bottle of B. B. B. I am enabled to walk around and attend to business, and I would not take $500 for the benefit received from one single bottle of B. B. B. I refer to all merchants and business men of this town. Yours, most truly,
E. O. GARA.

He Swallowed 15.

I have been troubled with a serious blood disease for six years, and have expended over $250.00 for worthless remedies which did me no good. The use of 15 bottles of B. B. B. has about cured me—doing more good than all other remedies combined. It is a quick and cheap blood puritier.
