"DON'T SEW UP THE SLIT"

"Don't sew up the slit because it's getting cold; let the wind bite your ankles," was the advice offered slit-skirt wearers today by Dr. Adolph Schmidt of Halle University, Saxony, on a tour of America.

"Exposure to cold weather increases one's resistance," said Dr. Schmidt. "Women should throw away the fluffy things they wear about their throats in the winter."

THE WAITER DIDN'T LIKE GRAY HAIR, EITHER!

Diner—Look, waiter! There's a gray hair in this soup.

Waiter—Ah, m'sieur is like me! M'sieur regret also ze leetle BLONDE cook is gone.
