PEOPLE SLIP ONE OVER.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 15.—

This city is some het up today. Also it believes in the recall of judges, and wants to have the recall in effect as soon as possible.

The reason for this is that one, measly judge, named Chas. C. Van Kirk, is all that is standing between the sweating, heat-crazed people and cheap ice.

Last winter, when the city reservoirs were frozen over, Mayor Geo. R. Lunn had 30,000 tons of ice cut and stored.

When the first heat wave struck the city at the beginning of July Lunn announced that that ice was for sale at just enough to pay the cost of its cutting—25 cents.

The Ice Trust then was selling ice at 40 cents, and it set up an awful holler. Also it had a dealer apply to Justice Van Kirk for a temporary injunction restraining the city from selling ice.

July 3 Van Kirk issued the temporary injunction. Lunn got around it by giving the ice away, saying that he had had the ice cut and stored for the benefit of the poor people of Schenectady and that he was not going to see them cheated.

Today Van Kirk not only made the injunction against selling the ice permanent, but also, ordered that the city sell the ice at public auction. There was no argument that the city's selling of ice violated any law.

At the forced sale the ice was bid in by D. J. Sweeney, a friend of Mayor Lunn, for $175. Sweeney, according to the mayor, will reimburse the city for the cost of harvesting the ice and will then sell it to the poor at cost.

"We win," said the mayor. "We will supply the ice to the people as we had originally planned, and if another fight is made against us we are in a position to defy the courts."

MAY OUST MARATHON.

Stadium, Stockholm, Sweden, July 15.—When the Olympic games were continued today the Americans were far in the lead of their rivals on points, and with the end of the meeting tonight they will have rolled up more points than in any previous Olympic contest.

The score this morning in athletic events only was: United States, 79; Finland, 24; Great Britain and all colonies, 23; Swe-
