The time, the place and the girl. Oct. 8 is the date; the place will be either Boston or Philadelphia. And the girl? Oh, that's Miss Arabella Cinch, the Pennant Kid.

So the dope looks today. Boston copped another from the scrappy Tigers, which leaves them in the lead over four games. If Detroit wins every one of eleven games to come and if Boston should drop about half of her fifteen contests there might be an argument over the American league winner.

The Phillies will be the other side of the big show, which is set for Oct. 8, according to present figures. And they will line up against Boston as favorites.

There are still two titles left for Chicago. The Feds have a chance to bring home the bacon in their league. And the other title is one which they can't rob us of—Champions of Chicago. Which leads us to the city series.

The candidates for this battle we can name right now—the Sox and Cubs. In spite of the argument the Feds put up to get into the field against the South and West Side favorites and make the pennant scrap a three-cornered one, there is little chance.

Mayor Thompson himself spent two days in New York trying to persuade Pres. Tener of the National league that we wanted a triple act in our big show. But Tener reminded Thompson that he is a North Sider and his arguments are biased.

And that isn't all. Federal league boosters intend to mass an army of baseball fans in Grant Park next Saturday and descend in a bunch on the city hall with a request that Mayor Thompson make another fight here in Chicago. North Siders are keen for a chance to lick or get licked by the Cubs and Sox.

Two double-headers today. One on the West and another on the North Side. And double-headers will come in bunches hereafter in the Cubs' park. At least two special bills will be pulled off with the Giants and Phillies and three when the Cincinnati Reds visit our town. Hard work is in store for the West Side boys.

Now comes the time of the year when we first think of looking up those woolens, when mother buys syrup for those buckwheat cakes and Coach A. A. Stagg tells how rotten his Chicago pigskin boys are going to be this year.

The first practice of the year found weather to suit. A fresh wind from the east made booting and running a pleasure to the puffing squad of thirty that opened the season's practice on Stagg field.
