STALEYS AND FAST CARDINAL ELEVEN PLAY SCORELESS TIE

CHICAGO'S PRO CHAMPIONSHIP STILL REMAINS UNDECIDED AFTER TWO TEAMS FAIL TO SCORE IN GAME BEFORE SEVEN THOUSAND FANS.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Chicago's pro football title remains undecided, as the result of yesterday's 9 to 9 game at Cub park between the national championship claimant Staleys and the Cardinals. Several thousand shivering rosters braved the cold to witness of the hardest fought battles of the season. Past play was difficult, as the field was covered with snow and ice and the footing was treacherous.

Three times the Cardinals failed to score field goal, and the Staleys, with easy striking distance, lost the ball on downs when a forward pass was incomplete. These were the only scoring possibilities during the afternoon.

During a good share of the time the Cardinals kept the ball in the Staley yard, due largely to Paddy Driscoll's superb play. The Staleys had much of their strength out of the game, Center Traflet being forced to sit on the side line due to an injury to the Canton battle, while Full Back Haffner didn't play, and Dutch Steyer was unable to make many of his splendid runs because of a limp.

Toward the end of the battle the Cardinals opened up an overhead game, and had fair success, three straight forward passes gaining a total of thirty yards. Sachs and O'Connor were on the receiving end.

After the ball had been worked back and forth during the first quarter, the Cards finally reached the Staley's thirty yard line, where McMahon's try at a place kick was blocked. In the second quarter a Staley fumble on its own twenty yard line gave the ball to the Cards. The latter lost it a couple of plays later on a fumble.

After an exchange of punts and another kick, Driscoll seized a drop kick from the Staley thirty-five yard line at a difficult angle and missed. A forward pass, Driscoll to Steyer, advanced the ball to the Staley twenty-five yard line a few minutes later, and McMahon tried a place kick which went astray.

A tumble at the Cardinal twenty yard line in the third quarter gave the Staleys their big chance. Haffner and Sitchevich got away with a short forward pass, but the opportunity to score vanished when an incomplete pass lost the ball on downs.

Several forward passes, added to some plunges, carried the ball down to the Staley thirty yard line in the fourth quarter, where another try at a field goal failed. Lineup:

Unique Frieze.

A remarkable example of the use of sculpture to illustrate scientific facts is the frieze on the exterior of the New Institute of Human Paleontology, in Paris, carved by Constant Roix. It depicts scenes from the life of primitive humanity, some of the subjects being reconstructions of prehistoric periods, while others represent contemporary life among uncivilized people.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 16.—Pat Moore of Chicago defeated Johnny Buff of Jersey City, former world champion, in their ten round bout here for the National Athletic club here last night. The champion was unable to land effectively because of Moore's frenzied defense and awkward attack.

Three of the rounds were even, while Buff had a shade in two, and lost for a K. O. all through the fight, but Moore always managed to keep out of harm's way.

Little damage was done to either fighter, but the large crowd heard Moore as he left the ring because of his slowish style of fighting.

A big crowd saw the battle. It was estimated that 6,000 persons were in the building and that the receipts were close to $10,000. Chicago furnished the greater part of the crowd, which included men in all walks of life.

The champion and challenger made work in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, and closed the hour at 10:30, rounds and Moore at 11:45, rounds. The battle weight was 118 pounds.

Buff was the first to enter the ring and was closely followed by Moore. In the second round, the champion's instructor, was Buff's chief adviser, Ken Howard was the man in Moore's corner. After the gloves were adjusted Referee Walter Houlahan called the fighters to the center of the ring for final instructions, the gong sounded and the bout was on.

The first two rounds were pretty even, both fighters exchanging punches in a liberal manner. The third round went to Buff after he had landed a left to the jaw of Moore and followed with a solid right to the body of the latter.

Moore put a left to the body of Buff and landed a left hook to the head, ending the round with a solid right to the head. He easily won the fourth round. The following three rounds were Moore's by a shade.

The eighth round the fighters battled evenly and was a good draw, while Moore had a shade in the ninth. They traded punches and Buff pulled a right uppercut to the body. Moore put Buff against the ropes with a left uppercut. Johnny came back and went to close quarters, pounding Moore on the body. Moore hooked a left to the chin, but caught a right to the body. Moore stabbed Buff with the left hand at his belt. Moore's sound and the fight.

Four in Play

Four men went up together in this play in the football game between Everton and Cardiff City, England. This was when Downs, an Everton back, guarded Brewster while he swatted the ball with his head. Some game!

A Strange Citation.

Three aunts and two uncles were visiting at Dorothy's home one Sunday recently, and the unmarried state of the guests as well as of her own brothers and sisters set the little one thinking. Finally she remarked: "Isn't it strange? My mother and the cat seem to be the only people in this whole family that have any children!"—Boston Transcript.

TWOMBLY AND 4 OTHERS TRADED FOR STATZ

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 17.—Although President Veeck announced in New York that the deal for Arnold Statz, star outfielder of the Los Angeles club, had not been closed, word from the coast yesterday conveyed the information that formal announcement of the transaction is all that is lacking. It is reported that five Cubs will be given to the coast league club in exchange for the youngster.

The players named in connection with the swap are Catcher Daly, Outfielder Twombly, Infielder Deal, and Pitchers York and Ponder. Waivers are supposed to have been sought and received on these men. Twombly, who built up quite a reputation as a pinch hitter during the last season, is the best of the lot and a string probably will be attached to his services.
