

WOMEN AT POLLS DEFEAT THE WETS

Feminine Voters Turn Out Strong at Carpentersville License Election.

JUBILANT OVER VICTORY

Is More Decisive Than at the Three Previous Village Local Option Tests.

The first test in Illinois of women voters in regard to the liquor question was made yesterday when the women of Carpentersville, near Elgin, defeated at the polls a proposal to grant a saloon license in the village.

The victory for the "drys" was more decisive than at the three previous local option tests in the village. The vote was 172 to 135.

One hundred fifty-one women voted. It is estimated the "dry" women outnumbered the "wets" two to one. Women representing three generations in one family voted. At the last two local option elections in Carpentersville the "drys" won by one vote each time.

This time five invalidated votes were thrown out by the judges. All are believed to have been cast by women. One had written her name in the space reserved for her cross. Others had drawn lines through the section of the ballot favoring the granting of the license.

PASTOR GETS AID AT CRISIS

A crisis arose just an hour before the close of the polls. Rev. C. E. Enlow, pastor of the First Congregational church, by mutual consent marshaled the forces of the "drys." He had held back until the last in order to ascertain the approximate strength of the "wets." He was alarmed to discover they had brought in several who had not voted for years and had mustered an alarming total.

The minister stood on the curb in front of the town hall going over a list with some of his lieutenants among the women parishioners. "I must have at least a dozen more," he said.

"Do you suppose I could help a little with my automobile?" asked Miss Alma Masters. "You can save the day if you will get me a dozen more votes," replied the pastor.

"Well, there is Mrs. Ernest Steffens," replied Miss Masters, "and if she could ride I think she could come and bring her baby."

"Good, that's one—now who else?" exclaimed Dr. Enlow.

"If I hurry I think I could go to Elgin, six miles away, and bring some of the girls who are in the Cook office and who live here," Miss Masters suggested.

The preacher seized her by the arm and hurried her into the big six-cylinder car.

In a few minutes she was back with the mother and the baby. Another trip and she brought old "Grandpa" James Bumstead, 93 years old. The old man was so astounded by the speed at which he had come he was an hour trying to figure out what had happened. By that time he was back home again.

Then came the race to Elgin. It was a tortuous path over bridges and hills. But the motor was working good and the big car hummed. When Miss Masters returned 40 minutes later she had seven new voters. Other women and the man in the second automobile had brought in the final voters just before the polls closed.

It was only a few minutes later that the results were announced. A crowd of women stood about the door and when Dr. Enlow proclaimed that the "wets" had gone down to defeat they cheered and sang hymns.

In one of the automobiles. Dr. Enlow and S. H. Wirsching, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois, were with her.

"It is going to be up to the women to keep this town straight," she said. "And we are going to do it. Why, there are just as many women as men in this town and while some of them refused to come out and vote today and some came to vote as their husbands told them, I think we will find at the next election the men voters will give us serious consideration. I don't know but I would just as soon take a chance and run for village office myself."

ECZEMA SPREAD ALL OVER BODY

Began on Cheeks With Pimples. Itched Badly. Caused Disfigurement. Had to Put Mittens on Him. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Eczema Left Him.

Barbery, Ohio. — "When my little boy was two weeks old he began breaking out on his cheeks. The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. Whoever that matter would touch, it would cause another simple until it spread all over his body. It caused disfigurement while it lasted. He had fifteen places on one arm and his head had several. The deepest places on his cheeks were as large as a silver dollar on each side. He was so restless at night we had to put mittens on him to keep him from scratching them with his finger nails. He could not sleep because I put those mittens on which would not allow him to scratch and then he would wake up and be cross. If he got a little too warm at night it seemed to hurt badly.

"We tried a treatment and he didn't get any better. He had the eczema about three weeks when we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him at night with the Cuticura Soap and spread the Cuticura Ointment on and the eczema left." (Signed) Mrs. John White, Mar. 19, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexion, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

42 Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp. Advertisement.
