THE BULLETIN. WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 30, 1871. JOHN H. OBERLY, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

THE BRIT HARTS and JOAQUIN MILLER school of poets has been called the "Californian."

per among the foremost leaders of public sentiment in America insults them. They can tolerate nothing but the old political rut, and permit the old-time politicians of democracy—the moss-covered captains of the Bourbons—to lead them into the most ridiculous absurdities.

KNOWING ones assert that Hon. William Seward proposes to become the democratic candidate for president in 1872. That Mr. Seward is anxious to sit in the presidential chair, no one who knows him can doubt, and his anxiety to become the democratic candidate proves that he has lost none of his reputed political sagacity.

THE NEW DEPARTURE IN TENNESSEE. Although the Memphis Appeal promptly threw all its influence against what has been called the new departure of the democratic party, the policy has been gaining new converts very rapidly in Tennessee.

THE WISCONSIN DEMOCRACY. The democratic press throughout the whole country applauds both the platform and the candidate of the Wisconsin democracy. The platform is declared sound in each of its planks, and the candidate the right man in the right place.

THE CHEYENNE WAT. In Cheyenne, when anything happens, the people consider it duty to hold a meeting and pass resolutions upon it. The other day a woman fell into Crow Creek and sank. A large crowd of people were standing upon the bank at the time, and they instantly proceeded to organize a meeting for the purpose of devising means for rescuing the woman.

A CONVENTION. We have thought that the peculiar condition of the local affairs of Alexander county would render a party nomination for county treasurer this fall an impolitic act, and this impression has not yet been removed from our mind, but a number of democrats, whose opinions are certainly entitled to respect and whose influence in the party is considerable, have cultivated the belief that the democratic party of the county should make a nomination for the office and stand or fall by the issue.

HE KNOWS WHAT HE IS ABOUT. The horses now passed the grand stand the second time. "How is he going now?" I asked. "The boy is making him go a little faster out than I ordered him, but I reckon Longfellow has got the race," the old man looks on coolly, but with a dreadful interest, which seems to take his breath.

NOTES OF THE DAY. A Detroit dog was killed by a drove of rats. A California suicide boiled himself to death in a model institution—the Patent Office.—[N. O. Times.] The "Hearse" is the cheerful name of a Nevada saloon.

THE FOLLOWING INTERESTING DESCRIPTION OF THE TROPHIES CAPTURED BY THE FRENCH IN THEIR CORSAIR EXPEDITION, AND NOW ON BOARD THE ADMIRAL'S VESSEL, AWAITING TRANSPORTATION TO PARIS, IS GIVEN IN LATE SHANGHAI CORRESPONDENCE: The liberty of the Kang-hoo was also transported on board the Admiral's ship to be sent to Paris. It consists of about three hundred volumes. The most curious of the spoils of Kang-hoo was a piece of white marble table, incised in gull metal, highly chased, and edged with a crimson silk damask, with gull inscriptions incised in the marble.

AN EX-SENATOR ON HIS MUSCLE. From the Peoria (Ill.) Democrat: A few days ago ex-Senator Richard Yates went into the Jacksonville silver office to coincide the editor of that paper. The editor brought out a revolver, and before Yates could strike the editor, or the editor shoot Yates, some one stepped in and prevented a very nasty little fuss.

NERVOUS DEBILITY. With its gloomy attendants, low spirits, depression, involuntary emissions, loss of semen, spermatorrhoea, loss of power, dizziness, loss of memory, and general debility, this disease is a scourge to many a man. It is a disease of the nervous system, and is caused by various causes, such as over-exertion, excessive study, and the like.
