PROGRESS OF THE REVOLUTION.—A new light dawned upon the world with the introduction of Plantation Bitters twelve years ago. Drastic purgation went out—restoration and renovation came in. The the eyes of the people were opened to the great fact that the way to cure disease is to strengthen and support its victims, not to place them at its mercy but depriving them of the little strength they have. It soon became evident that a means of infusing vitality into the feeble system, regulating the secretions, curing indigestion and reforming a bilious habit of body, no medicinal preparation then known was at all comparable to the restorative. Since then hundreds of attempts have been made to rival the bitters. They have all failed, and the Grand Revolution in Medical Treatment, which was commenced in 1860, is still in progress. Nothing can stop it, for it is founded on the principle, now universally acknowledged, that physical vigor is the most formidable antagonist af all human ailments, and experience has shown that Plantation Bitters is a peerless invigorant, as well as the best possible safe-guard against epidemic diseases. febTeod&wlw
