

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are 18 years old.

(1) A met a fellow at a party. He wanted to call at her home. She would not let him. Later she consented. Did she do what was right, for she thinks a lot of him?

(2) B met a fellow at a dance. He seemed to take to her; he took her home. He wanted to kiss her good-night. What would you do, for she dearly loves him?

(3) C met a fellow three years ago when she was thirteen. She loves this fellow. She never goes out at night or to dances. C has never been out with this fellow, but they talk when they meet. How can she make him love her, or shall she try to forget him. C thinks she never will forget him.

THREE SCHOOL GIRLS.

(1) If he is a respectable lad, it was correct for her to permit him to visit at her home.

(2) She should wait with her loving until he shows that he deserves a good girl's love. She is too young to decide that she is really in love with anybody; but she is old enough to be modest and dignified and not permit every boy who asks her to kiss her, B should tell this boy that her lips are not for anybody but the man she is going to marry.

(3) C just thinks she is in love. All girls go through that sort of thing and often are heartily ashamed of their early loves when they get older and meet a real man. Just look upon him as an ordinary friend, be pleased and courteous when you see him, but don't put yourself out over him. He probably doesn't care a snap for you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would like a good recipe for cream candy; also one for molasses candy, the old-fashioned kind.

THANK YOU.

Cream Candy—To three pounds of white sugar add one-half pint of water, set over slow fire for half an hour, then add one teaspoonful gum arabic. When this is dissolved, add a tablespoonful of vinegar, boil until brittle (try a little dropped in cold water); then take it off fire and flavor with vanilla or any flavor you like. Rub lumps with butter and pull until white. Then twist into sticks, or break up when cold.

Old Fashioned Molasses Candy—Two cups New Orleans molasses, one cup brown sugar, one tablespoonful vinegar; one small teaspoon of soda. Boil fast for 20 minutes, stirring all the time. Add soda just before taking off fire and stir rapidly a moment. Pour into shallow pans and pull when cool enough to handle. It should not stick to the fingers if cool enough, but if necessary put a little flour or butter on the hands. If you double the quantity, boil five minutes longer.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What will remove freckles without injury to the skin? I have freckles and just hate them.

(2) What will make the hands soft and white?

(3) What do you think of a fellow when he is out with a certain girl who hugs and kisses her and is always fussing around her? He tells her she is the only one he care for.

READER.

(1) Lemon juice is the only safe thing for freckles. It will not remove very stubborn freckles. You must remove the skin to get rid of freckles, and then you will freckle quicker than ever. Use the lemon juice, bathe the face often with buttermilk and let it dry on. Put a little cold cream and powder on the face before going outdoors, wear wide-brimmed hats and a green veil to keep from getting more freckles.

(2) Soak the hands in warm oatmeal water, then rub in cold cream, every night. During the day, rub in a mixture of glycerine, rosewater and lemon juice each time after having the hands in water.

(3) I presume he is fond of her, but it is possible he does the same thing to other girls who will let him. I haven't much faith in a fellow who hugs and kisses, and talks love unless he talks marriage at the same time.

CECIL FANNING, BARITONE.

Cecil Fanning, baritone, who appears in recital at the Villa de Chantal April 22, has recently returned from a 15 months' tour during which time he gave concerts in the principal cities of the old world, and wherever he appeared critics spoke in the highest terms of his work. Mr. Fanning is accompanied by H. B. Turpin, as accompanist who has also been the singer's sole teacher. Mr. Turpin adds much to the pleasure of the recital with his explanatory remarks and faultless accompaniments. In speaking of Mr. Fanning's work the London, England, Theatreland says: "Cecil Fanning, the distinguished baritone, has just returned from an extensive tour in most of the European cities, where he scored tremendous triumphs on his merits as a concert singer. He gave his first vocal recital of this season at Bechstein hall, singing such well known songs as 'Der Wanderer,' 'Der Erlkonig,' and 'Wohin.' In German with strength and great dramatic charm. In the air from 'Orfeo' and 'Richard Coeur de Lion,' his vibrant musical voice had full play. He sang equally well all through the afternoon, no matter what style of song it was—for instance, 'Dame Durden' and the 'Devil's Song' of Reinhard Volker, which is most original."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Try cleaning light kid gloves that will not stand gasoline with French caulk.

Eggs to be beaten or cream to be whipped will foam more readily if a pinch of salt is added.

Black stockings will keep a good color if always rinsed in blueing water.

Curse of flour, four level tablespoonfuls. Curse of Butter, two level teaspoonfuls.

THE TABLE.

Bread Calf's Brains—Soak the brains in cold water until well bleached. Put in a stewpan with a tablespoonful of vinegar, a small sliced onion, a blade of mace, two or three cloves, salt and pepper, one-half glass of white wine, and sufficient water to cover. Let them simmer for half an hour, and then take them out to cool and drain. When cold, slice the brain in thin slices, dip in egg and seasoned bread crumbs, and saute in butter or nice drippings.

Mushrooms with Bacon—Fry a few slices of bacon. When almost done turn upon them one dozen or more good sized mushrooms that have been cleaned in the usual way. Fry very slowly until tender.

Drop Cakes—One cup of butter, one-half cup of sugar, two eggs, one small teaspoonful of baking powder, one pint of flour, one cupful of washed and picked currants, one teaspoonful of each of extract nutmeg and lemon, one-half cupful of milk. Rub the butter and the sugar to a white light cream, add the eggs and beat ten minutes, add the flour and baking-powder sifted together, the milk and the extracts. Mix into a rather firm batter, and drop with a spoon on a greased baking-tin, bake in a quick oven ten minutes.

Beet Salad—Boil and peel six good-sized beets; cut off the ends and scoop out the center, leaving a wall about one-third of an inch thick. Soak in vinegar for two hours, then drain and fill with the following mixture: one cucumber, one tomato, one bunch of celery, one-half cupful of finely chopped beets, salt, and a dish of cayenne. Pour over a French dressing and serve at once.

Rosettes—Four eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little salt; beat these together; then add one pint of milk and flour enough to make a batter. Dip hot rosette iron in the batter and fry in hot fat. Serve with garnish of currant jelly and top each with whipped cream.

Fried Corn—Cut the corn carefully from six ears of nice sweet corn. Do not score, and be careful not to cut any of the cob with the corn, but have each grain separate. Put one tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan; put in the corn and fry until a nice brown, stirring often. Remove the pan from the fire, add half a cupful of hot cream, and salt and pepper to taste. Serve at once.

Frizzled Beef and Eggs—To every half pound of chipped beef allow half a pint of milk, one tablespoonful of flour. Put the butter into frying-pan; when hot add the beef and stir for about two minutes, or until the butter begins to brown, then dredge in the flour. Stir well, add the milk and a little pepper, and just before taking from the fire whip in two well-beaten eggs.
