Likely to Provoke a General Clash of Arms Among the Powers of Rioting in Belfast Renewed Monday, but Order was Restored and All Quiet at Midnight.

Portentous Data from the Leading Powers—The Continent Restless as a Tiger Watching for Prey.

OVER THE OCEAN.

England.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Daily News says: It is obvious that Prince Alexander was deposed in a revolution imposed by the Czar. The official version of the revolution is so flagrant and transparently dishonest it will not deceive a child. The effect may be extremely serious. Russia's action is absolutely unwarranted and without an excuse. According to the argument of the Berlin Post a revolution is impossible and the Russian victory over England is the Russian victory over England. Her power is less trusted than England's. Alexander was nominally a vassal of the Sultan and, as it can be shown, he was deposed without the Sultan's consent. Grave international difficulty will at once be raised.

France.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The fall of Prince Alexander has been the absorbing topic in Paris ever since the receipt of the first news concerning it. France has determined to observe an expectant attitude. President Grevy keeps in continuous communication with all the members of the French ministry.

Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—The Messenger publishes an official communication stating that the relations with other powers in regard to the Ministerial Industrial exhibition. The ceremonies there that opened the exposition were long. Instead of giving the signal at 4:30 p. m., in accordance with previous arrangements, it was after 5 o'clock when Mrs. Cleveland touched the telegraph key in response to the word "ready" from Minneapolis.

A Thousand Miles Away.

PROSPECT HOUSE, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Mrs. Cleveland touched the electric button this afternoon that set the machinery in motion at the Minneapolis Industrial exhibition. The ceremonies there that opened the exposition were long. Instead of giving the signal at 4:30 p. m., in accordance with previous arrangements, it was after 5 o'clock when Mrs. Cleveland touched the telegraph key in response to the word "ready" from Minneapolis.

A Drunken Brute.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Jas. A. McElhenny, twenty years old, after a days' disipation returned to his home tonight in West 37th street, and cut and bruised his mother so she will die. His only reason for the dastardly act was his mother remonstrated with him for his idleness and drunkenness. He hurled a knife at her which struck her on the forehead. He then flung a plate which struck her over the eye, fracturing the skull. She fell unconscious to the floor, and then realizing what he had done the young brute left the house, but was soon arrested. He said his cousin had committed the assault, but his dying mother, to whose bedside in the hospital he was taken declared he was her assailant.

Another Bomb Discovered

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—While patrolling South Park avenue, Officer Brown was attracted to the rear of No. 2,490 by a crowd of people intently looking at some object on the ground, which none seemed disposed to pick up. The object was a gaspette three feet long with one end solidly plugged up with lead. At the other end a long fuse and three matches were attached. It resembled a dynamite bomb, similar to those found in all parts of the city.

Ireland.

DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—An immense meeting was held today at Carrick on Suir, in aid of the Irish parliamentary fund. Resolutions were adopted declaring the people would continue the home rule struggle for years. The wildest enthusiasm prevailed. A large sum of money was subscribed.

During an eviction in Bally Ogan today, a row took place during which the police were stoned and a number of bailiffs seriously injured. A fruitless attempt was afterwards made to wreck the barracks. A portion of the mansion of Judge Rice at Bushment, near Kerry, was wrecked today by the explosion of dynamite. A similar outrage was perpetrated on a protestant farmer at Gorman, Londonderry.

BELFAST, Aug. 23, 7:30 p. m.—This morning a detachment of police made an attempt to disperse a mob on Shank Hill. The mob becoming infuriated threw volleys after volleys of stones and routed the police.

Richmond Acquitted.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 23.—The celebrated Richmond murder trial was ended today and a verdict of not guilty rendered. Fully one thousand spectators, one half of them ladies, assembled at the opening of court this morning, expecting a verdict before noon, but in this they were disappointed, as Mr. Boyd, prosecuting attorney, occupied the entire forenoon in closing his speech, after which court adjourned until 1:30. Notwithstanding the excessive heat the great crowd remained in their seats while the jury were at dinner.

At 1:45 the jury were sent to their room for consultation and were absent exactly seventy-seven minutes. An impressive silence prevailed in the court room as the jury filed in. The foreman handed a written verdict to the court who read as follows: "We the jury find the defendant not guilty as charged in the indictment on the ground of insanity, and we further find the defendant insane at the present time." C. Day, foreman.

Then followed a scene the like of which was never before seen in the St. Joe court room. A cheer of approbation broke from the men followed by tremendous applause, while the ladies rose to their feet and waived their handkerchiefs. The new guard about Messrs. Green and Barnes, the attorney for the defense, and overwhelmed them with congratulations. The ladies surrounded Mrs. Richmond, the steadfast wife who has stood so nobly by her husband, and kissed and hugged her, while tears of joy ran down her careworn face.

It was fully ten minutes before this remarkable demonstration ceased. During all this time Dr. Richmond sat apparently unconscious as to what was going on about him.

The speech of Mr. Green, the senior counsel for the defense, is considered one of the most remarkable addresses ever heard in Buchanan county.

Dr. Richmond will be removed to the asylum tomorrow.

Lull in the Storm.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The police are very positive that the anarchists had some deep-laid plans for a riot on the morning when the verdict was returned by the jury, but just what it was they are not able to determine. I think, said an officer who has been on duty throughout the trial, the arrangements whatever they might have been, had been concealed by the condemned men and concealed by their relatives to the anarchists outside. You remember when they filed into the court room for the last time Friday morning Parsons took a red silk handkerchief, which had been given him by his hat and waved it at the crowd. He also said he was a prisoner, and I believe that if the verdict had been all right he would have used it for a signal. The red signal was a sign for something, I am sure, and there would have been an outbreak if there had been enough of his friends in the big crowd.

That reminds me, suggested another officer, Mrs. Parsons, for an hour before the verdict was brought in, rose at least six times from her seat and went to the window, then gazed at the crowd as if to size it up; she would return to her seat. I at once became suspicious of her actions and informed her she must not go to the window any more. She was worried, but I need my point. The crowd had evidently not planned out to suit her; if it had I am honest in saying there would have been some sort of trouble.

Said He Was an Anarchist.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Julius Huppock was before Justice Meach in the armory police court today charged with carrying concealed weapons. The prisoner was arrested yesterday. The officer noticed Huppock acting suspiciously near the corner of Twenty-sixth and Arnold streets and questioned him as to his business. Huppock seemed upon his former complaint as the terms clearly express, and in continuing the proceedings on the point legally and accurately decided in the first instance, would be not only to divert Joaquin Villalobos and after returning the first book of Wines let a corresponding order be issued to a second lower judge of Drayton for its exact fulfillment, and let it be recorded in the archives of the state government that I. Louie Cipriano, prime magistrate of the second chapter of the Supreme Tribunal of Justice of the state of Chihuahua for this act tried in the appellate grade, do so, de-ore, order and sign before witness giving with per.

Ring of the True Metal.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—A union meeting of all the Chicago chapters of the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, adopted a preamble setting forth that the agitation by alien sojourners under the name of socialists, internationalists, anarchists, etc., and the haunting of red and black flags is treason and rebellion; that these foreigners in trying to make a union of laboring people are doing the latter great injury; and much of the evil is due to defects in the immigration and naturalization laws. The resolutions approve the verdict and congratulate the police on their work, and also call on congress to limit immigration and make a union years residence and ability to speak English necessary qualifications for citizenship.

Cutting Released.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—A dispatch from El Paso says Chihuahua authorities have released Cutting, but no particulars are yet received.

DENVER, Aug. 23.—An El Paso special says that at 11:30 this morning Cutting was taken before Judge Castaneda, when the official minutes of the Chihuahua court which had arrived this morning, were read to him, reciting the decree discharging him from further custody. The decree of the court is based entirely on the fact that Medina, the offending party, waived his right to a civil suit for damages, the court holding that this ended the proceedings of the state.

When released by the court Cutting replied: "As long as I am not further detained as a prisoner, I accept my liberty and I request that a copy of the decree of the supreme court be given me for my future use. This court consented to do in Spanish. Judge Castaneda gave a copy of the decree to Jose Polibio, who sent back word that he would give Cutting his liberty accompanied with some wholesome advice."

Cutting said to a reporter: "Well, I can't see what all this has to do with my card in the El Paso Herald, which I was arrested for four weeks ago, and was being tried at the time my government made a demand for my immediate release."

It is said on the other side of the Rio that the Mexican constitution prohibiting the residence of agitators and other dangerous characters with the republic, will be enforced against Cutting.

The decree giving Cutting his liberty, after a long preamble, releases the history of the case and says: "Considering the offered party, Landino Medina, has decided from an action to that laudable proportion of its effect but also it would go beyond the intent of law and national decorum, therefore the court decides in the name of justice to state the following propositions:

First.—The act of detaining on the part of Emilio Medina is granted, from the civil action to which he was entitled, against A. K. Cutting, placing him immediately in absolute liberty.

Second.—The general prosecuting attorney of the state, General Jose Marie Gonzalez, and the defendant's attorney, which had a right against A. K. Cutting, and therefore the principle motive of proceedings do not exist; therefore there is not in the judgment of this court a sufficient foundation to continue the case, and considering the act of dissent on the part of a party offered it is conceded to be with the principal object of quieting the alarm caused upon his former complaint as the terms clearly express, and in continuing the proceedings on the point legally and accurately decided in the first instance, would be not only to divert Joaquin Villalobos and after returning the first book of Wines let a corresponding order be issued to a second lower judge of Drayton for its exact fulfillment, and let it be recorded in the archives of the state government that I. Cute all Around.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—On the black board inside of the station room of the Erie and Seventh avenue horse rail road of Fifth street Seventh avenue was, last week, a notice that on Monday a new time table would go into effect and requesting drivers and conductors to be on the look out for it and the men were watching. On Saturday morning up in the employ of the present year is practically gone and a vast deal of suffering must ensue, without means of any kind.

It is learned many more people were drowned at Indianola. The lower end of the peninsula is completely washed away, and the present year is practically gone and a vast deal of suffering must ensue, without means of any kind.

The total loss is now known to Texas from the gulf storm: Human lives, lost, thirty-eight; loss to crops, $1,000,000; loss to city property, $2,400,000; loss to shipping and harbor improvements $900,000.

The law takes no account of the time between trips. The men groveled and kept it up all day long. Their local assembly met Saturday p. m. and the new table was discussed. It was plain the men were disgruntled at the change and before their own way they would kick. It was deemed advisable to delay action over Sunday. They met after midnight last night in the same hall, and at 1:30 this morning were discussing whether it would be better to tie up the Broadway line alone or avoid and persuade the men on the Sixth. Elkins and the men on the Sixth line to act, and tie up all the lines together. They said that if they tied up Broadway only the result might be in doubt, but if all the West side roads were tied up the strike could not last longer than a day at the outside, and the companies would readily go back to the regular order of things.

It was evidently decided to tie up the Broadway line at once as no cars on that route are running this morning. One of the Broadway conductors said that though the new schedule increased trips from five to six, and lengthened out the day greatly, it did not raise the men's pay. The law which says that horse railroad employees shall not be worked more than twelve hours per day, ingeniously omitted to say twelve consecutive hours and it would be so easy to arrange a schedule so the drivers could be lawfully deprived of any chance to sleep three consecutive hours a day.

Sergeant Coombs with fifty police took possession of the Broadway railroad company's stables as soon as the strike was reported. Acting Police Superintendent Sturs ordered the reserves to be kept in the stations until further orders and put himself in immediate communication with precinct commanders and instructed them to neglect no station against possible trouble.

Captains were told to hold their old platoons till notice was given they would no longer be necessary. Half hourly reports from the stables represented everything quiet. Police Inspector Dilks resorted to the superintendent of the railroad was awaiting the arrival of the president before taking any action. The superintendent was of the opinion that many of the men were anxious to accept his offer to go to work on the old time table and at the old rates as a compromise pending the president's arrival, but were afraid of malcontents.
