NOW NEARING TOPEKA. GOT TOO MUCH GAS.

Pipe Line Laborers Are Now Digging at Tecumseh. D. E. Vanderheyden Nearly Killed While Working in a Trench.

It will be two to three weeks before the pipe line from the Kansas gas fields reaches Topeka. The pipe line has been found. The camps of the laborers and the trench of the pipe line is still at Stull, a small village some twelve miles southeast of Topeka. Pipe for the line is being hauled across country to the trench from LeCompton. Bills of lading call for the delivery of thirty-seven car loads of pipe at LeCompton. About one-half of this has already been received at that station and is being rapidly removed to Stull. Nine carloads out of a shipment of thirty destined for Tecumseh have been received within the past five days. A gang of men whose headquarters have been at Lawrence has been kept chasing between LeCompton and Tecumseh unloading the gas mains and stacking them beside the right of way of the Santa Fe.

A small shipment sufficient for one mile will be sent to Topeka, but aside from this no pipe for the main trunk line will be sent here, enough will be received at Tecumseh to take care of the territory between that point and Topeka. Pipe for the local extensions is already being distributed, however. Friday evening the Kansas Natural Gas company, who are conducting the line, shipped a gang of 32 Italian and Greek laborers into Tecumseh. A camp was pitched a half mile south and west of Tecumseh and on Saturday they were directed to dig trenches for the pipe. This gang will work eastward to meet the main gang which is working westward from Stull. The trenches are being excavated to a depth of from 25 inches to 5 and 6 feet. The latter depth is given on elevations in order to maintain the flow of gas in the mains and this is all that is desired. Heavy rains of ten days ago hampered the progress of the work and for a whole week not a shovelful of work could be done. The line is being laid at a rate of about seven-eighths of a mile per day.

The main from Ottawa to Topeka is a twelve inch main and the pipes come in varying lengths of from 9 to 18 feet. "Well, it certainly looks like we were going to get natural gas and that in pretty short order, too," remarked Tom Anderson who made the trip out beyond Tecumseh to the pipe line.
