THE CZECH AGREEMENT.

All Parties Concerned Heavily in Accord With It.

PRAGUE, Jan. 29.—At the meeting of the old Czech members of the diet yesterday Herr Schonyk, the leader of the German party, announced the unanimous acceptance of that part of the agreement arrived at by the German-Czech conference in Vienna. He expressed the wish that the result of the conference would conduce to the peace and welfare of the common fatherland.

Herr Schonyk afterward attended a meeting of conservative land-owners and workingmen, and the latter, he stated, has been officially announced. It provides that the Laudes-Chulpath (school commission) shall be composed of German and Bohemian sections, the Landeschulrat (commission on worship) is likewise to consist of German and Bohemian sections. The commission will have a president appointed by the members of the diet. He will be empowered to designate a council composed of members of both sections, to which shall be referred all matters of common interest to the different religious sects.

A new chamber of commerce will be founded in Eastern Bohemia. Some local hostels will be transferred to other chambers. New judicial and political districts will be formed and will comprise as far as possible people of one nationality.

Effectiveness of the supreme court at Prague will not be required to be conversant with the Bohemian language, but the other twenty-six members of the court must understand the German and Czech tongues.

After the judicial districts are defined the present ordinance relative to language and the system of electing members of the diet will be revised.

New curiae of Germans and Bohemians will replace the present curiae of Germans, but the curiae of landed proprietors will be maintained. Each curiae will have the right of vote on certain questions.

All the parties in Bohemia favor the adoption of the agreement. The German members of the diet agree to resume their seats in that body. The agreement has come binding upon the representatives of the various parties signify their adherence to it.

The press at Vienna is unanimous in rejoicing over the reconciliation of the German and Czech parties in the Bohemian diet. No doubt is entertained of the permanency of the adjustment made by the conference.

MR. REED'S RULING.

THE DEMOCRATS DEPRIVED OF FILLIBUSTERING METHODS.

Refusal to Vote Held Futile for Preventing the Count of a Quorum.

Mr. Crisp Resorts to Every Method to Delay Consideration of the First Election Contest Case.

Decisions by Different Presiding Officers Cited Both For and Against the Speaker's Action—The Matter Likely to Come Up Today in Another Form—Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Mr. Payson of Illinois, from the committee on public lands, reported a bill for the creation of additional land districts in Colorado. The bill was passed—yeas 182; nays 98.

Mr. Dazell, of Pennsylvania, called up the election case of Smith vs. Jackson from the Four West Virginia district. Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, raised the question of consideration.

Mr. Covert, of New York, changed his vote from the negative to the affirmative, and Mr. Rogers was then given permission to withdraw his inadvertent vote in the affirmative, as was Mr. Cowles, of North Carolina. The vote was announced as standing yeas 181, nays 97.

MR. REED SEES A QUORUM.

The speaker—the chair directs the clerk to record the following names of members present and refusing to vote.

This statement was the signal for a burst of applause from the Republicans and jeers from the Democrats. The speaker proceeded to read the names of Democrats whom the speaker had jotted down as present and not voting. When the name of Mr. Beckinridge, of Kentucky, was called he stepped into the aisle and in a resounding voice said: "I deny the power of the speaker to do this and I denounce it as revolutionary." Cheers after cheers followed. Does the gentleman deny that "rebel" yell went up from the Democratic side.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, roared out that he was responsible for his action in the house to his constituents and not to the speaker, and Mr. O'Ferrall, of Virginia, protested in the name of his state against the action.

Mr. McCreary, of Kentucky, denied the right of the speaker to count him as present.

The speaker—the chair is making a statement of the fact that the gentleman charged with the duty of counting him as present? [Applause and laughter on the Republican side.]

Mr. O'Ferrall inquired by what parliamentary rule the speaker had the right to declare a person present if he did not vote.

The speaker replied that he was now making a statement of fact, and that he would make a statement of law by appeal from the decision of the chair.

THE SPEAKER STATES THE CASE.

The speaker finally said: "The gentleman must not mistake the situation. He is not able to compel the chair to do a certain thing. The chair must proceed in order and the gentleman, as a member of this body, will undoubtedly allow the chair to do so."

The speaker then proceeded to make a statement of the names of members voting as yeas, yeas, yeas. The chair thereupon, having heard their names called in their order, having directed a record to be made of this fact. Accordingly that question was now before the house and the chair proposed to give a statement, recognizing the fact that an appeal could be taken if any gentleman was dissatisfied therewith.

SIMILAR DECISIONS CITED.

In support of his decision the speaker referred to a similar decision by Governor Hill when he presided over the senate of the state of New York. A similar case had occurred in the legislature of the state of Tennessee. Both these decisions were by members of the Democratic party, and his citation of them was not intended as a partisan attack, but as a precedent. Benjamin H. Byrnes, of Brooklyn, representing the citizens of Wamego, appeared before Rock Island officials today and asked that the company build a branch to that city. Wamego has only one railroad, the Union Pacific, and the people are disgruntled with that company because it recently removed its division shops from Wamego to Junction City, taking away over three hundred people.

DISGUSTING REVELATIONS.

Brutal Treatment Accorded Patients in New York Insane Asylum.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—The first annual report of the state commission on lunacy was made public today. A considerable amount of space is devoted to a comparison of state care and county care of the insane, and the report takes strong ground in favor of the former. A large number of shocking incidents observed in the county institutions is related. One named woman afflicted with turbulent dementia, was confined in a cell with a male inmate except five filthy male patients in the same building. In another part of the building a young woman was found acting in a most indecent manner toward a man's cow. Her room was cold and cheerless and its floor was wet and foul. In another place the attendant excused the practice of having several patients in the same bed. The commission concludes that however feasible may be the theory of county care, it has fallen far short in practice, of the hopes entertained for it. A system which has been in vogue for twenty years can hardly be expected ever to become a success. State care, on the other hand, while not perfect, represents all that is best in the present state of medical knowledge.

CARRIED THE POST OFFICE KEY.

BORNE TERRI, Mo., Jan. 29.—On opening the door box of the post office this morning Postmaster Degeendorff found in it an anonymous letter addressed to himself and including a key to the door of the post office. The writer stated that the key had been in his possession since the building was erected and that he had used it on different occasions, having, as he averred, robbed the present postmaster of the key. On trial the key was found to fit the lock exactly and the number stamped upon it showed it to be one of four keys that originally belonged to the door, but of the existence of which Mr. Degeendorff had no knowledge until this morning. Mr. D. has no knowledge of having lost the key, and says he does not believe that he has been robbed. It is said, however, that his predecessor, who had no idea of the key's existence, had considerable trouble in making his quarterly settlements.

WORKED THE SECOND MORTGAGE RACKET.
