PRICE $1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

AUGUST 5, 1913

NEARLY every year at crop moving time, especially if the crops are large, there is a stringency in money matters amounting almost to the making of a financial crisis. It is said that a few of the great banks accumulated money in order to gouge the farmers at the opportune moment. But they were able to do so this year, for the country has a Secretary of the Treasury who does things. He has accordingly announced that he will deposit from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 in the banks of the West and South for the purpose of facilitating the movement of the crops. For this money collateral of Government bonds, State and municipal bonds and prime short-term commercial paper will be accepted. The banks are to pay 2 per cent. interest. Local banks can now get money direct from the United States Treasury and not dependent on the New York banks. Former securities have in emergencies deposited U. S. funds with New York banks. Mr. McAdoo will send them to the sections that need the money and not give the New York banks a greater leverage to rob the farmer. Mr. McAdoo is to be commended and the country congratulated that he is in charge of the Treasury.

For years the Express Companies successfully fought the adoption of a parcel post law, because it had the sinews of war and powerful friends in the United States Senate, but the popular demand finally won. It was John W. Maumaker who said that there were just four reasons why the parcel post hung so long—the Adams, the Southern, Wells-Fargo and the Overland. The law has cut into the revenues of the Express companies very heavily and now comes the Interstate Commerce Commission, with an order reducing their rates approximately 16 per cent., a total of $20,000,000 a year. Little pity, however, will be felt for the extortionate concerns. For many years they fattened on the people's necessities, but their day is done. Your Uncle Samuel now transports articles up to eleven pounds at but a fraction of former express charges. Truly it is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

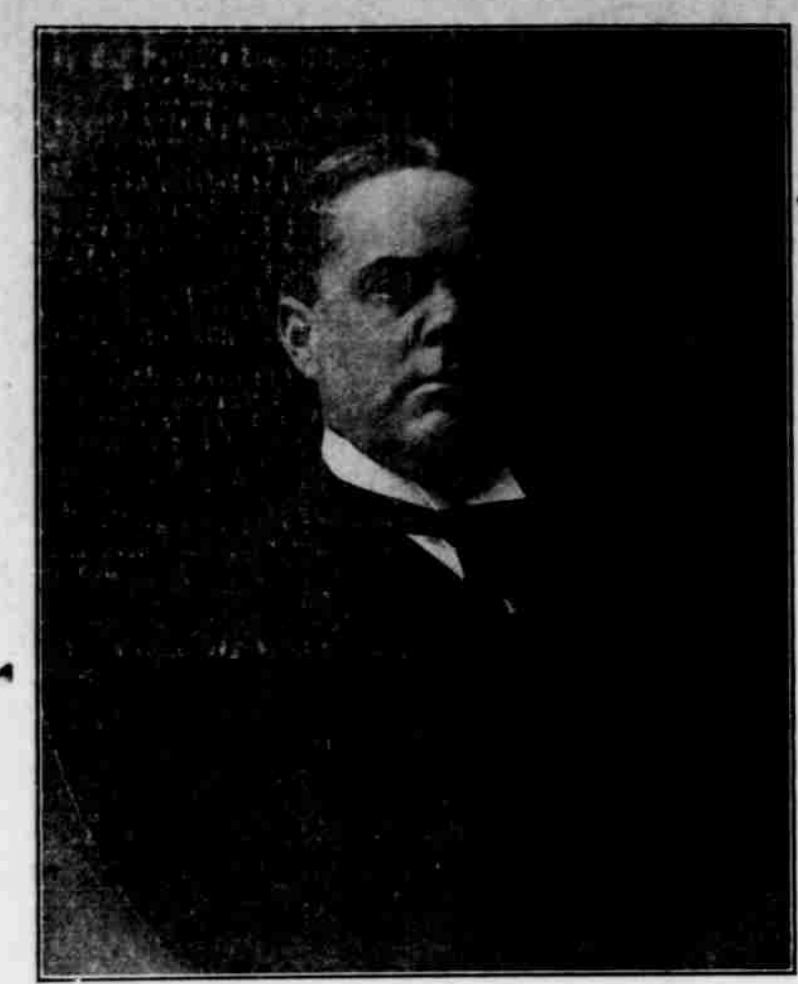

The President has very naturally ac-

The Democratic Ticket

The Democratic ticket nominated by the people at Saturday's primary is a strong one and a sure winner. It would have been hard to have nominated a stronger one. Had the Climax had its choice there might have been a change or two, but it had only a voice in the important matter and instead of kicking on the personnel of the ticket, it feels to congratulate the party on its excellent work. The primary is the only satisfactory method of naming candidates, for then every voter, however humble, has a voice in selecting those who shall be the standard-bearers, and having taken part in selecting the candidates, he feels an interest in them and wants to see them elected and is willing to work to that end. We congratulate the gentlemen who have won places on the strong ticket, for in defeating the high-class men they did, they have proven not only their popularity as citizens, but the estimate put upon them by the Democrats of Madison county on their fitness for the offices they will fill. We also felicitate the candidates, the vanquished and the victors, on their splendid deportment through the hottest campaign Madison has had in years. The best of game was displayed throughout and if there are "sore spots" on any of those who "also ran," we haven't heard about it. We reiterate that a splendid ticket has been named and that it will sweep everything before it in the November election. The Republicans and Progressives tried to bolster up courage by naming party tickets, but those parties will not make it even interesting to the gentlemen whose names will appear on the ticket of the game which is the game of game cocks.
