President Crabbe's Reception.

One of the most charming events of commencement week at Eastern Normal School was the President's annual reception and promenade concert, given on the campus Tuesday evening. The colors of the senior class, green and white, readily lent themselves to an artistic decorative scheme. The circular lawn enclosed by the driveway from Lancaster avenue was surrounded with rustic chairs, where the guests were served from a charming table hung with feathery smoketree blossoms, surrounded by a tall and graceful basket of Dorothy Perkins roses, and lighted with tapers. From here the facade of Kuric Nevel Roark Hall, where the guests were received, was particularly effective, with its massive Ionic columns flanked deep with palms, evergreens, snowball blossoms and foliage. Iced drinks were served from a dainty little booth covered with dense wisterias, and the orchestra was screened from view by a hedge of green boughs. The entire scene was graceful and effective in the extreme. There were many guests from the city and county, and the host and hostess especially appreciated the presence of an unusually large number of parents of graduates who were here for commencement week to witness the conferring of diplomas upon their respective sons or daughters.

Don't forget JNO. R. GIBSON'S sale.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of expressing our sincere gratitude to our friends and to all who were so kind to us during the long illness of our son who died a week ago. Such kindness will ever be to us a sweet remembrance.

More Truth Than Poetry.

A Classic going the rounds of the press is as follows: "A hen stood on the garden lot, whence all but her had fled, and did not leave a planted spot in the earthen bed; with vim she worked both feet and legs, and the gardener says he bets she was trying to find the kinds of eggs on which the onion sets."

Most people pay full price. Why not pay less at the QUICK ACTION SALE?

New Automobile Law.

The automobile law enacted by the last Legislature became effective yesterday, June 16th. Motor vehicles of all kinds are included. We publish for the benefit of our readers in this issue of the Climax a synopsis of it. We have not looked carefully into the provisions of the law and are not prepared to express an opinion as to whether or not it is a good law. Certain we are that some legislation is needed. Few drivers of automobiles pay any attention to speed limit and have come to think in many cases that they own the pikes, or surely have the right of way and a perfect right to run over your dog, your cow or anything else that comes in their way. Richmond has been particularly fortunate in a few or, in fact, practically no serious accidents, so the law is perhaps not as much needed here as in many other places, yet it may save life and prevent trouble in other ways if owners of automobiles and chauffeurs will familiarize themselves with the law and carefully observe it.

One can scarcely pick up a daily paper without being confronted with a headline—"Killed in an Automobile Accident." A careful adherence to the law and a strict enforcement of it will at least serve to improve conditions.

The law forbids the driving of any vehicle at a speed greater than is "reasonable and proper." The following are "limits placed as "reasonable and proper," any greater being prima facie evidence of unreasonable and improper speed. In closely built-up sections of incorporated cities, ten miles an hour; in residential districts, 15 miles an hour; on highways outside of the business and residential sections, 20 miles an hour. On a curve, corner or crossing, where the operator's view is obstructed, eight miles an hour is the limit.

A driver must come to a full stop in passing a frightened horse or near a street car taking on or discharging its passengers. Any city may, however, pass traffic laws that place the speed limit lower than the statute.

The framers of the law were generous in providing fines and equally unfeeling in fixing penalties which can be punished. Some of the law infractions and their penalties are:

Fine of $10 for fictitious chauffeur's badge.

Fine of $15 for employer of unlicensed chauffeur.

Fine of $10 for unlicensed chauffeur.

Fine of $15 to $50 for intoxicated operator of motor vehicle.

Fines of $10 to $100 for use of fictitious automobile license.

Fine of $15 to $100 for a person under 16 who drives a car without parent or guardian.

Cancellation of vehicle license for owner who fails to report discharge of chauffeur on account of drunkenness.

Two to five years in the penitentiary for taking machine without consent of owner.

Forfeiture of chauffeur's license on conviction of drunkenness.

Fine of $10 to $50 for violation of any section not specifically enumerated. This may be augmented by 5 to 30 days in jail.

The new license prices are as follows: For vehicle and 25 horse power or less, $8; between 25 and 50 horse power, $11 and above 50 horse power, $20. A motorcycle registration fee is $5.

The examination for chauffeur's to establish their right to license are to be held as follows:

Louisville, first Monday in December; Lexington, first Monday in February; Maysville, first Monday in April; Bowling Green, first Monday in July; Paducah, first Monday in September; Covington, first Monday in May.

Until then the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles at Frankfort will have the right to issue licenses.

There is nothing made by turning corners too sharply.

Pay your taxes, but see to it that the money is wisely and economically expended. You owe this much to the community.

Emerson said: "Hitc your wagon to a star; that's all right, but keep your horses on the earth, where they are more easily managed."

"Did you read about that Coahuila affair?"

"What is it, a Mexican battle or something Roosevelt has shot?"

"Any other can tell you that her boy learns to swear from the Other Children in the neighborhood."

Peck—"I'm surprised that you should lose your self-control, Maria. That's something you never saw me do."

"Mrs. Peck—"You lost control of yourself the day I married you. Now hold your tongue!"

Another reason why you should not let the grass grow under your feet is that it is bad for the grass.

The best friend that a high-minded man can have is himself; but it is the most exacting friendship in the world.
