PROGRESSIVES ARE COMING BACK TO THE G. O. P.

Chief of recent political events in the West was the conference held in Chicago by the Republican Chairman from six States. All of them reported encouraging conditions in their States, saying the members who had strayed away in the wake of the Bull Moose movement were returning to the old colors. This applies only to the rank and file.
The leaders—those who have barred themselves from the Republican ranks and, what is of more vital interest to them, from public office at the hands of Republican voters—are still off the reservation, shouting that the Republicans must come to them. Former Governor Charles S. Deneen, discussing this phase of the situation, dubbed these leaders the "Democratic Aid Society."
He declared his unflinching belief in a protective tariff and added: "The Republican party has ever been, and is now, a progressive party, but it stands for progress as conditions arise; progress based on sanity, not on hysteria flavored with demagoguery. We are trying the President's Democratic policy. If you like it, choose a Democratic House in November next. If you don't like it, return a Republican House that will tie the hands of the President in dictating further destructive legislation."

THE UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE.

The one universal language is not Esperanto but music. Everywhere the same musical score is played. The masters of different countries may have characteristic national qualities, but music lovers everywhere find delight in a composition, it matters not from what land or elime the composer hails. Whether played in Germany or Italy or France or at home, your favorite music sounds the same.—Leslie's Weekly.

The first London "beat" since the inauguration of war was Lord Northcliffe's Evening News story that there had been an engagement in the North Sea. One difference between Lord Northcliffe and a few American yellow journalists is that he had a grace to make an abject apology for the fake.—Courier-Journal.

No doubt the many Americans who are now in the war zone abroad, regret that they did not remain at home and "See America First" and enjoy scenery that is said to be grander than any in foreign countries, as well as spend their money at home.—Kentucky Elk.

The San Francisco Chronicle regards the President's views on business depression as an example of the danger of entrusting great power to theorists who have had no useful practical experience.

"Well, they'll be needing me," says the Kentucky mule, as he reads the war news. There hasn't been a war since the time of Cyrus when mules were not in demand.—Frankfort State Journal.

A leading Boston broker is in receipt of a letter from one of his customers telling him that business is picking up. The customer is engaged in manufacturing cloth for coffin linings.

Mexico, which a few weeks ago was a bristling cactus field of trouble, is now a veritable "Peaceful Valley," compared with the cultured capitals of war-torn Europe.

CUT THEM OFF!

One of our Kentucky exchanges remarks that it has no respect for a person who will take a paper for years and then kick when asked to pay up the subscription. For our part, we do not believe that any publisher should continue sending a paper for years to a non-paying subscriber. Really it is not good business to send out any paper that has not been paid for in advance, and if credit is extended to subscribers it should not be for a period longer than one year. If the subscriber does not pay in a year the presumption is strong that he does not intend to pay at all unless under strenuous methods of persuasion. Thereupon he ought to be cut off the list on the theory that it is better for the paper to lose one dollar than to risk losing several dollars in the effort to retain a subscriber at doubtful paying disposition.—Frankfort State Journal.

FOR BELGIAN INDEPENDENCE.

What ever views we may hold of the responsibility for the European conflict all must recognize that Belgium by its defense of Liege has established its independence.
Liege may fall, must fall, as it appears at this distance from the conflict, but after all the battles are over, and the Peace Conference of the World is held, the first proposition before the Parliament of man will be to establish and maintain the independence of Belgium, who dared to risk everything on one battle in defense of one city assailed by an ally who had turned invader.

He either fears his fate too much,
Or his deserts are small,
That dares not put it to the touch,
To gain or lose it all.

—Frankfort State Journal.

MAKE DATE WITH OPPORTUNITY.

While Europeans are murdering each other like maniacs let loose, we can go after the business they are thus deserting in Asia and South America and by a grand rush gain the leadership during generations to come.
Opportunity knocks loudly at Uncle Sam's gate.
Go to it, everybody! Make it pass its benefits around.—Cincinnati Post.

MUST BE SCARED, SAM.

Far be it from us to say so, but now would be a good time to clean out the ditches and pull the weeds before they go to seed.—Dover News.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE.

The Last Fatal Waltz.

While waiting round with fairy tread
A happy thought passed through his head,
Thought he: "I think 'tis time to wed,"
And so he did—but 'tough said!

Donneybrook Smiddle had many faults, but nobody could deny that he was a perfect dancer.

Jeannette, today's heroine, realized the faults except when she was dancing with him. Then she forgot them entirely.
Seven times had she accepted Donneybrook while in the midst of waltzes, but, alas! for poor Smiddle, she just as promptly broke the engagement as soon as the dance was over.

The day before Donneybrook took Jeannette to the Hau-neister ball he had a great idea.

It was during the fourth waltz—a divine orchestra was playing "A Little Love, a Little Miss." Jeannette was floating in Donneybrook's arms, enraptured, enchanted, hypnotized.

"Jeannette," said Donneybrook, "will you marry me?"

"Sure," said Jeannette.

"Now! Right away!" insisted Donney.

"Sure," breathed Jeannette.

Donneybrook gave a low whistle. Immediately his friend the young Rev. Sigbee Heedle, who was close by with his partner, waltzed over to them, and while the encore was being played married them as the two couples waltzed around. Miss Arkansas Threadbit, the young minister's partner, gracefully consented to serve as witness. All four were elegant dancers, and not one of them got out of step once. (After the dance Jeannette was a little peeved at first, but finally consented to live happily ever after.)—Louisville Times.

MAD STONE A FAKE

In The Prevention of Hydrophobia, Says The Kentucky State Board of Health In a Signed Statement.

To Peace Officers, Health Officers and the People of Kentucky:
A recent examination of dogs' heads from widely separated sections of the State shows an alarming prevalence of hydrophobia. Under the authority conferred upon this Board by the State Board of Health hereby requests and directs all persons owning valuable dogs to keep them upon their own premises or to have them carefully muzzled, and the people generally are hereby requested and directed to destroy, as painlessly as possible, all unmuzzled dogs running at large with a view to the prevention of hydrophobia. Failure to observe this request is punishable by fine before any magistrate.

Through arrangements with the United States Public Health Service, the State Board of Health is enabled to give the Pasteur treatment at the Bacteriological Laboratory, Bowling Green, Kentucky, without expense, to individual dogs who have been bitten by rabid dogs or other animals. Dogs' heads suspected of being mad should be sent to the Laboratory, by express prepaid, and the result of the examination will be telephoned or telegraphed.
This Board takes this occasion to inform the people of Kentucky that mad stones are useless if one is really bitten by an infected animal. Their use gives a false sense of security and their use is forbidden by law.
Given under our hands and the seal of the State Board of Health, this August 11, 1914.

COLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Maysville People Have Found This to Be True.
Are you wretched in bad weather? Does every cold settle on your kidneys? Does your back ache and become weak? Are urinary passages irregular and distressing? These symptoms are cause to suspect kidney weakness. Weakened kidneys need quick help. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for weakened kidneys. Grateful people recommend them.
A. Sorries, locksmith, Aberdeen, O., says: "The action of my kidneys was irregular and the kidney secretions contained sediment. I had backache and white stooping. It was hard for me to straighten. Colds always settled on my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they stopped the trouble and my kidneys became strong."
The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Sorries is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Sorries had. 50c all stores.
