

NEW DIRECTORY GIVES MAYSVILLE OVER 8,000

Population of Maysville Appears to Have Materially Increased From New City Directory Just Issued.

The third volume of the Caron Maysville City Directory is just being delivered in the city. The book is a very neat cloth bound volume published by the Caron Directory Company, of Louisville, Ky.

Of considerable interest is the announcement in the introductory to the volume that Maysville now has a population considerably larger than the last Federal census credited to us.

"This volume contains the names of 4417 residents of Maysville which if multiplied by two, the multiple used by our firm in Louisville and other cities published by us, would give Maysville a population of 8834.

"Maysville is steadily improving and is essentially a city of homes. The business and residence sections of the city are well paved and lighted.

The new books are being delivered by Mr. M. Michael who can be found at No. 221 west Second street. They are sold at five dollars a copy and a few extra copies may be obtained by calling of Mr. Michael.

OLD GRANDAD DISTILLERY ROBBED OF 100 CASES

Guards Are Overpowered and 100 Cases of Bonded Liqueur Is Stolen From Free Warehouse at Hobbs.

Louisville, Aug. 31. — Surprising, overpowering and blinding the superintendent and two guards, a band of a dozen or more armed men wearing handkerchief masks early today broke into the free warehouse of the Old Grandad Distillery Company at Hobbs, Bullitt county, and stole between 75 and 100 cases of whisky, according to reports to Bullitt county officers and local officials of the internal revenue department.

A youth named Hodge, whom the thieves came upon as they were leaving the distillery property was abducted under threat of death, placed in one of the automobiles of the bandits and brought near Camp Zachary Taylor, where he was released and told to go back home.

Sheriff A. L. Roby, of Shepherdsville, after receiving a report of the circumstances from his neighbor, W. F. Joyce, government guard at the distillery, is reported to have said it was a "straight-out robbery."

"They even robbed the L. & N. ticket office at Hobbs of $25 and the superintendent, J. M. Head, of $10." The sheriff is quoted as having said.

J. B. Wathen, president of the old Grandad Distillery Company, said he had not been notified of the robbery. He said there was a stock of approximately 200 cases of whisky for medicinal purposes in the free warehouse over which the government has supervision. A government guard and two private guards employed by the company were stationed there, he said.

APPELLATE COURT HAS LARGEST OF CRIMINAL DOCKETS

Fall Term of Kentucky Court of Appeals Opens September 18 With 111 Criminal and 347 Civil Appeals For Hearing.

The Court of Appeals will open its fall term on Monday, September 18th with the largest criminal docket in its history. There are 111 criminal appeals; most of them growing out of the prohibition act passed by the last Legislature and involving every phase of the act from the right to give away a drink, which is a criminal offense under the act, to the right of freedom from search and seizure.

The civil docket consists of 357 appeals, in which the usual run of legal questions are involved. Among these are the cases of Orle S. Ware, Commonwealth's Attorney, Kenton county, vs. Sperry and Hutchinson Company and Thos. M. King vs Commonwealth, from Jefferson county, which will be of general interest.

The intent of the King vs. Commonwealth case is to test the constitutionality of the Blue Sky Law and to get a ruling as to whether or not it applies to common law trusts in the event it is held to be constitutional.

A suit to test the constitutionality of the Simmons-Strange Road Act, which was introduced to kill the original $50,000,000 road bond project sponsored by the Republican administration, will soon be filed in either the Franklin or the Jefferson circuit court and the appeal will probably be filed in the Court of Appeals sometime during the fall term.

If the anti-trading stamp act and the Simmons-Strange road act are declared unconstitutional all the major acts of the last Legislature will have been thrown out—it generally takes the courts about a year to straighten out legislative tangles and blunders.

The following cases were appealed from this county: Edgars vs. Commonwealth. The Sachs Shoe Co., vs. Maysville Suit and Dry Goods Co. Cracraft, etc., vs. McDaniel. Weedon, etc., vs. Power, admrx, etc.

COUNTY HEALTH NURSE RESIGNS POSITION HERE

Miss Louella Erlon Resigns Position Here To Take Special Training in Cincinnati—Leaves at Once.

Those who are acquainted with the work of the Mason County Health Department will be very sorry to learn that at a special meeting of the Mason County Health League on last Tuesday, Miss Louella M. Erlon, who has been Mason County's Health Nurse for the past several months, resigned her position to take effect on the first of September.

Miss Erlon will leave Maysville within a very short time for Cincinnati where she will take a special course in her profession to fit her more efficiently for a speciality in the line of her work.

During her all too short stay in Maysville, Miss Erlon has demonstrated her unusual ability to handle the many complex situations arising in a county health department. Her work has been thorough and will be felt for time to come in this county.

PROGRESSIVE FARMS INSPECTED BY FARMERS OF DISTRICT

Best Managed Farms in This Section Are Visited by Numbers of Farmers—Talks Made by State Experts.

To get first-hand information as to how successful farmers manage their business, Mason and Fleming county farmers joined in an all-day tour Friday, which took them to six profitable farms in this section of the state.

Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the college, and George Roberts, head of the college soils and crops department, talked to the farmers about various problems during the noon hour stop, which was made on the farm of George Hurst.

According to plans, the tour started from Flemingsburg at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The farms of E. F. Rador, J. W. Shockley, George Hurst, C. L. Bradford and Frank Dye, all in Fleming county, and John Hunter, Mason county, will be visited before the tour is completed Friday night.

Various factors that influence the profits obtained from the farm business were pointed out and studied at each farm. Mr. Jett said, with the result that those who took part in the trip are expected to get a wide variety of ideas for eliminating the leaks in the business on their own farms.

BOY DROWNS AT MANCHESTER ISLAND AS MANY WATCH

Persons Witnessing Drowning of the Youth Thought Lad Was Playing in the Shallow Waters Along the Island.

Manchester, Ohio, Aug. 31. — Roy Darlington, 9 years old was drowned here at 4 o'clock this afternoon while watching coal diggers at work at the foot of Manchester Island. A hundred persons stood by without an effort to save the boy because they were not aware that he had stepped off a reef into the swift current of the river.

He had been wading and splashing about on a shallow bar near where the coal diggers were working, and those who heard his cries thought they were in fun. When they realized at last that they were witnessing a tragedy, frantic efforts were made to reach the drowning boy, but he disappeared for the last time before the would-be rescuers got to his side.

HAYSWOOD HOSPITAL NOTES.

BOYS BACK FROM TRAINING CAMP.

James Burrows, Harry Sammons, William Kinsler and Frank Barkley, of this city, and Richard Gault and Charles Fox, of the county, returned Thursday night from Camp Knox, where they have been members of the great Citizens' Army in training there.

The young men report a fine time and were greatly benefited by the trip. James Rogers, another Maysville boy in the party, will spend several days in Louisville before returning home.

Mrs. David Faulkner en route from Barre, Vermont, her former home, to Flemingsburg, her new home, spent Friday with the Misses Sproemberg, of Commerce street.

COUNTY TREASURER MAKES GOOD MONEY STOLEN

Money Said to Have Been Stolen From Office of County Treasurer of Pike County, Ohio, Paid by Official.

Portsmouth, Ohio, Aug. 31. — State Inspector C. K. Bowen of Columbus, after completing his examination of County Treasurer Jacob Slaven's books of Pike county, found that a shortage of $1,998.40 existed.

M. Slavens said that this sum was in his cash drawers when they were rifled by an unknown thief last Sunday night. He gave a check for the amount of money missing and the incident is closed so far as he is concerned.

As soon as Inspector Bowen learned that the discrepancy was made up he left for his home in Columbus.

Mr. Slavens said that he was reasonably sure that there was about $1,900 in his safe when it was closed last Saturday afternoon and the inspection proved that he was about correct.

Sheriff McClay is still making an effort to learn the identity of the thief who forced his way into Slaven's office while he was ill with lumbago at his home here.

NEARING TOMB OF GOLD MINERS.

Jackson, Calif., Sept. 1. — Drillers and blasters attacked today the last 50 feet of solid rock separating rescue squads from the 47 men entombed half a mile under ground in the depths of the Argonaut gold mine.

A hospital in a subterranean chamber 3,000 feet below the surface was made ready to give first aid to any of the men found alive. Cots and oxygen apparatus are on hand, and surgeons and nurses await the call to duty.

U. S. STEAMER SINKS GUNBOAT.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 1. — An Argentine gunboat was sunk and five other vessels rammed and badly damaged by the Munson liner American Legion, which became unmanageable in the harbor here when about to leave for New York yesterday.

Four persons were injured, including officers of the gunboat Azopardo which went to the bottom immediately after the American vessel started running amuck.

BROTHER OF LOCAL WOMAN DIES FROM INJURIES IN WRECK

Mr. William H. Nigh, Prominent Iron-ton Business Man, Dies as Result of Wreck When His Auto Was Struck By Train.

Mrs. Stanley Lee, of Market street, has just been advised of the death Thursday at his home in Ironton, Ohio, of her brother, Mr. William H. Nigh, prominent Ironton business man, as a result of a collision between a Norfolk & Western railroad train and Mr. Nigh's automobile.

Mr. Nigh was driving his automobile out his private driveway which crosses the N. & W. tracks when the engine on his auto "went dead" directly on the railroad crossing. He saw a train approaching at a rapid rate of speed and jumped from his car starting to run to the clear. The train, however, struck the automobile and threw it upon Mr. Nigh.

The accident happened Wednesday morning and Mr. Nigh was rushed to the Ironton hospital where he died from his injuries Thursday evening.

Mr. Stanley Lee and his son, Mr. Irwin Lee, of Lexington, left Friday afternoon for Ironton.
