There can not be a doubt concerning the effort on the part of this government to keep out of war and to secure peace for others through diplomatic channels, and so far it has succeeded in avoiding serious trouble. But the war spirit throughout the world is now aroused and more than likely this government can not play the roll of the Good Samaritan much longer. There seems to be no end to Mexico's troubles, and every movement points to a counter rebellion against the Caranza government on the part of Gen. Villa and his followers. Should such a war open up it is likely that our government would be compelled to intervene. Should such a step be taken it would mean fight and and fight to the finish. In the meantime evidence exists that Japan wants to measure arms with the United States, and it is the opinion of many well informed on the situation, that we are approaching trouble with that country, not because of real harm done Japan, but of racial feeling manifested in the California Alien land laws, and the desire of Japan to more firmly establish her claim as one of the great powers. Come what may, be the cost heavy as this country is able to bear, Japan had better live within the bounds of peace with Uncle Sam, for Americans would rise in full power to smite the "Yellow peril." On the part of Mexico the feeling is quite of a different character, but if war can not be avoided, if our country is forced to settle the trouble, we believe it should be done on a business basis as demanded by Mr. Watterson under his position "On to Panama." This country has evidently reached the limit of forbearance, exhausted its peace balm in trying to make two cures love each other, to guard safely the bone over which they have been fighting, so if it must enter the fight we believe it should take charge of the herd. "On to Panama" is the slogan under which the stars and stripes should be unfurled beyond the Rio Grand if intervention be forced on us.

The last month before the election is about starting, and we again warn the Democrats of Adair and adjoining counties not to become too sanguine and lose interest in the various races. Apathy upon the part of friends often loses an election. It is the party that works all the time like it had strong opposition that most generally wins at the polls. When candidates and their friends fight from the rising of the sun to the setting thereof, they are invariably successful on the day of the election. In voting for Gov. Beckham, Senator Camden and Congressman Helm you vote to indorse the administration of Woodrow Wilson, the greatest President that was ever inaugurated, the man who is in favor of peace, and who has done and is doing now everything in his power to keep the United States on good terms with all nations of the world, a man whose administration is meeting the requirements of this country's needs; the man who has said to the money kings, you can start a financial panic in New York, but you can not in the country—that he would see that the banks out in the States were furnished with sufficient money to meet local demands. He stands for the country, and wants to see her grow in agriculture, manufacture and in all other industries at as little expense as possible to the tax-payers of the nation. We hear only praise of his administration from all lovers of good government, and there is scarcely a doubt but he will succeed himself as President of the United States.

No greater compliment was ever paid a local candidate than the one received by Judge Rollin Hurt from the Democrats of Adair county, where he was born and reared, and where he has actively engaged in the practice of law for more than thirty years. As a candidate for the nomination for Appellate Judge out of thirteen hundred Democratic votes cast in Adair county, he lost twenty-eight. When you take into consideration that Judge Hurt has been, some years ago, County Attorney, making it his duty to prosecute, and since the close of his term for that office, has been on one side of every important case tried in Adair, is it not remarkable that he did not incense more of his fellowmen? Is it not an evidence that he does clean work, having the full confidence of his fellow citizens? We want to see Adair county at the coming election cast more votes for him than was ever recorded for any one man.

If the people of the third Appellate district want a judge who is as well qualified for a seat on the Appellate bench as any man in the district, and one whose character is as spotless as any man who ever wore the ermine, vote for Rollin Hurt.—Edmonton News.

If you believe in the administration of Woodrow Wilson, the greatest President this country has ever had, work in the interest of the Democratic candidates for office and vote for them at the November election.

Thirty-three days until the November election. Let every Democrat in the county make up his mind to be at the polls.

It was Democratic day at Somerset Monday. Former Governor J. C. W. Beckham, opened his campaign for United States Senator. Other prominent Democrats were present and spoke including Senator James. At many other points in the State speeches were made by prominent party men.

Gradyville.

Uncle Charlie Yates has been on the sick list for a week or more with a complication of troubles.

attending Conference in Louisville this week.

Died, on the 24th, with typhoid fever, Mr. C. S. Bell, in his fifty first year. He was a man who had a great many friends. His remains were interred at Edmonton. He leaves a wife and a great many relatives and friends to weep over his departure. The best of all as we are reliably informed, that he left satisfactory evidence that he was fully prepared for the great beyond when the end came, and was only waiting to shake hands with his loved ones that had gone on before.

Eld. Z. T. Williams, of Columbia, called in to see us last Saturday while en route for Summershade, Metcalfe Co., where he will be in a revival services for ten days or two weeks with the pastor of the Christian church. We are always glad to have Bro. Williams and his good wife in our home and we always feel better after having them with us.
