COMMISSIONER'S Sale.

ADAIR CIRCUIT COURT OF KENTUCKY.

L. O. Turner, &c Piff.)
E. O. Turner, &c Dft.)

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of sale of Adair Circuit Court, rendered at the May Term, thereof, 1915, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Columbia, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on Monday, the 5th day of July 1915, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabout (being County Court,) upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit: Two certain tracts of land situated in Adair County Ky., on the waters of Russell Creek. The first tract contains 42 acres more or less. The second tract contains 5 acres. With tract there belongs a right of way over lands of L. O. Turner, which is reserved in Deed from J. M. Turner Deed to L. O. Turner. For better description reference is made to the Judgment and order of sale of record in order Book B 14 P. 429 in the office of the Adair Circuit Court Clerk. Said two tracts of land will be first offered separately and then together and the bid or bids bringing the most money accepted. For the purchase price, the purchaser, with approved surety or securities, must execute Bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

W. A. Coffey, Master Commissioner.

TANLAC PLANT MADE LARGER

Unprecedented Demand for Remedy Necessitates Increased Capacity.

Tanlac, the premier preparation, sold in Columbia, by Page & Taylor, and which is being so widely discussed in this State, is being used today by more than 150,000 Kentuckians, thousands of whom have testified to the benefits they have gained by its use.

Every walk of life is represented in the small army of Kentuckians who have been benefitted by Tanlac and who have testified to its merits as a medicine of rare value.

The Taylor-Isaacs Drug Company, Louisville, has sold more than 30,000 bottles of Tanlac in 90 days. The success of Tanlac in Louisville is typical of the cordial reception the preparation is receiving in large cities and rural districts where it has been introduced. In the last six months the business has grown to enormous proportions—so large, in fact, that it recently became necessary to increase the capacity of the Tanlac plant in Dayton, Ohio, which had been producing from 8,000 to 10,000 bottles of the preparation daily.

The unusual, and heretofore, unused formula composing Tanlac is, in a large measure, responsible for the medicine's popularity and success. The ingredients, which are gathered from many sections of the earth, are of known curative value.

One ingredient never before has been used in a proprietary medicine. This probably contributes more to the success of Tanlac than any other one thing. Its curative power is conceded to be most effective and rapid. This ingredient was discovered on an island in the Pacific, west of Mexico.

HEALTH OFFICER'S COLUMN.

BY U. L. TAYLOR.

Last week I wrote to the Adair County School teachers, giving them advice and directions about quite a number of things, and this week I am writing an article copied from the "Good Health," to show that the condition of things in Kansas, is very near what it is in Kentucky. Kansas is one of the leading States in the Union in point of sanitation. At the close of a lecture on the country school house and sanitation, by E. O. Humphrey, one of the leading sanitarians in the State of Kansas. He was complimented upon the good talk by the President of the Board of County Commissioners with the remark: "That sounds well and would look good in print, but the country school is up to date in this country. I am also the President of our board of directors in my country school district, our school house and premises will come up to the standard." A proposition was made involving the scoring of five country school houses and grounds including the President's pet school. Mr. Humphrey procured conveyance and the local health officer, together with the commissioner, accompanied him. Stopping in front of the President's school first and before dismounting we said: "To the child who lives in a home with a neatly kept yard, this school ground would be treated with contempt. It is extremely ragged; weeds here and bare grounds in other places; occasional pieces of brick, sticks and paper.

To the child who lives in the poorly kept home with no attention paid to a nicely kept yard, your school yard will surely not give encouragement to improve home conditions. The two objects sought for the child from an instructive standpoint are lost: Viz, admiration for the beautiful ground by the first child and stimulation to copy it by the second child. Your fence is not well painted, nor does it 'sit up' straight. There are two boards off one pannel and one board partly off of another. Great suggestion to the boy to kick off the fourth board. Going to the rear of the 1st: We find the privies with doors unscreened and opening toward the school and play ground. Not the best means for privacy to say the least of it. The vaults looked as they had never been cleaned, and the odor arising confirmed it. Upon trying the pump, the water ran through the open board cover and could be heard trickling into the water below. Under the cover there were three bricks gone and the dry weather had sent the ever present rat in quest of something to quench his thirst. We found three rats in the well.

Scoring the premises so far and giving instructions upon the best way to build the privy vault and screen it as well, how to empty it and how often; the proper way to curb the well, the height above surrounding ground, sloping up to it by grading, and the water tight and dug tight top, etc., we entered the school room where 56 pupils spend 5 hours per day for 8 months per year. According to best sanitary authority they were seating eleven more children than the room should accommodate. The front seats were small enough for a kindergarten class. No decorations on the walls. One large globe and that broken. Two large maps of the antediluvian era or further back than that. Everywhere a repellent atmosphere not in keeping with the age. That school house and grounds scored under 40. He and his entire community were in a rut so deep that the money expended for education (?) should have employed a cow boy for herding the children. He refused to follow the company to the other schools, saying, "It is no use, this is the best one. I did not know what school inspection by a sanitary officer really meant."

The health board regulations of Kansas contemplate the inspection of all schools one per year, by a man of good sanitary training. "They shall be disinfected before the opening of school year," says their regulations.

The county commissioners constitute the health board of the county. They select a physician of "good sanitary ability," as the county health officer. He is competent to score the schoolhouse and premises, and as a matter of economy should then and there disinfect the school house. The latter being of importance only as a climatic act, or finishing touch, to the more important work of getting house and grounds in respectable condition. This would give to the country child an idea of the beautiful and cleanly. It would stimulate to better home conditions. It would increase school attendance. It would change the school work from drudgery to freedom. It would earn the money invested in the county school. The inspection and disinfection of each school can be done for less than $4. If the county health officer does his whole duty and insists upon his recommendations being carried out in every detail. He may have opposition at first, but that should not prevent him from doing his duty. He will get his reward here, instead of waiting for eternity to roll back the scroll, for there is no one thing more engrossing to the mind of the child and the mother than that of cleanliness, after you have shown them how.
