THE COURTS ARE INDISPENSABLE.

We are frank to confess that the editorial appearing in a recent issue of the Lexington Herald entitled, "Why Continue to Maintain the Courts?" was read by us with feelings of surprise, mingled with regrets.

The distinguished editor of that influential daily, whom we regard as a public-spirited and law-abiding citizen, being out of patience with the courts because of several recent miscarriages of justice, temporarily loses sight of the fundamental principles underlying our system of jurisprudence.

To begin with, we have just as good government and officials as we deserve. If we elect men to office who are in sympathy with law-breakers, how can we expect the law to be rigidly enforced? We have always advocated sure, quick and adequate punishment for lawlessness. It is this knowledge that makes every one fear the federal courts. If a law is on our statute books, it should either be enforced or repealed.

Then again, if the juries, made up as they are from the body of the people, disregard the law and the evidence, we, the people, are not wholly blameless.

Of course, we know the editorial mentioned was not to be taken literally, yet we feel its influence cannot be for good and for our part we shall continue to urge the people to respect the courts, to discharge, when called upon as jurors, the highest duty of a citizen and lastly to elect men upon whom the enforcement of the law will devolve, who by their past conduct have proven both their ability and willingness to deal out even-handed justice to all. Laws, backed by a strong, healthy public sentiment, can and will be enforced, by men of this character.

On August 19th, 1912, J. S. Scobee and more than 20 other citizens and legal voters of the Howard's Mill voting precinct of this county, filed in the County Court of Montgomery county a petition asking the submission of the question whether cattle or any species thereof shall be permitted to run at large in said voting precinct, and the court being advised, it is now ordered that the officers of election in said Howard's Mill voting precinct open a poll at the next regular election held in said precinct for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters in said precinct upon the question: "Are you in favor of making it unlawful for cattle or any species thereof to run at large on the public highways and uninclosed lands of Howard's Mill precinct?" A Copy Attest:—

KELLER KREENE,
Clerk Montgomery County Court.

In a speech in Louisiana, Colonel Roosevelt said, "We are through once and for all with the Republican party." That is one thing to its credit. The whole country seems tending that way. The G. O. P. is thoroughly discredited. Its life is well nigh spent. When it lived it lived in clover and when it dies November 5th it will die all over. Democracy's day is brightly dawning.—Winchester Democrat.

Owingsville Court.

Judge Allie W. Young opened court at Owingsville Monday. After the usual preliminary charge to the grand jury he gave to that body one of the most vigorous charges ever heard in the Bath county court house in regard to the recent outrages committed by the striking iron miners and their sympathizers, and said that he would keep court in session all year if necessary to bring the law-breakers to justice.

STILL IN PRIMITIVE STATE

Choccos Indians of Panama Free With Simple Hospitality and Small Wants.

Professor Pittier of the United States agricultural department, who was recently sent to Panama for botanical study, has done some remarkable work for the Smithsonian institution in regard to exploring among the original inhabitants of that region.

He visited a tribe of Indians known as the Choccos. They lived on the southwestern coast of Panama, and Professor Pittier thinks they are descendants of the tribes which inhabited that part of the world when Columbus discovered Santo Domingo.

They are tall and stalwart, with kindly natures, a free hospitality and an innate honesty. Few white men have ever been among them. Tribes of a somewhat similar nature are also found on the southeast coast, many of them having never seen a white face in their lives. While the Republic of Panama nominally rules this section, the truth is that these Indians govern themselves entirely, have absolutely no intercourse with the whites, do not allow a white man to visit their lands and still fly the Colombian flag.

Their houses are grass huts, their clothing is almost nothing, but they seem to enjoy life in spite of the fact that they are unacquainted with the benefits of religion, fashion, society and government.

LENGTHY IMPRISONMENT.

A pit pony which was imprisoned in an English mine at Bestwood, Nottinghamshire, by a heavy fall of roof, was rescued alive and well, the other day, after a fortnight's imprisonment. The pony was helping to clear the roads which had fallen into disrepair owing to the strike when the fall, amounting to several hundreds of tons of rock, took place. The miners immediately set to work to rescue the animal. First a narrow avenue was forced, and through this food and water was pushed to the pony. Meanwhile excavations were steadily progressing, and the pony was finally liberated little the worse for its experience.

LARGEST ELECTRIC SIGN.

The largest single electric sign in the world depicts a baby's face that alternately smiles and sheds tears on the crowds that throng Broadway, New York. The smile is some twelve feet wide when it reaches its fullest development and each individual tear is two feet by ten inches wide. The sign itself is 85 feet high by 106 feet wide and contains a total of 9,010 square feet of space. The child's head is forty feet high. The sign weighs 80 tons and contains 4,050 electric lights.—Popular Mechanics.

PINESSE.

"Papa, you know that George, who proposed to me last night, is coming for his answer this evening, don't you?"

"Yes."

"O, thank you, papa! That is the answer I was going to give him, anyway!"

HER PREROGATIVE.

Mrs. Ere—So the umpire's wife doesn't attend the ball game any more?

Mrs. Wye—No; it was so aggravating to her to see him get the last word.

UNABLE TO SEE ANY HOPE

Eleventh Hour Had Passed and There Was No Consolation for the Sorrowing Wife.

An old minister in South Wales told a story once to Pastor Thomas of the Washington Avenue Congregational church which illustrates the verity of the saying that it is folly to be wise where so much consolation can be gained from ignorance, says the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

The preacher told him, "I was called to visit an old woman very illiterate and ignorant of spiritual things, a short time after the death of her husband, who was noted for his learning, his enmity to the Christian ministers and his capacity for drink."

"Fearfully she told me that it was not his loss, but his unpreparedness for death that so concerned her. Then I called her attention to the thief who obtained forgiveness on the cross at the eleventh hour, after he had sincerely repented."

"Possibly," I said, "your husband had mercy and forgiveness at the eleventh hour."

"The old woman paused in her weeping, looked at an old clock in the corner, hesitated, and then said in a broken-hearted tone, 'That's the trouble, Mr. Jones, it was after twelve on that clock when he died and it was only fifteen minutes past. I wish now that it had been an hour ahead of time. Then there might have been some hope.'"

DIFFERENT

She—Was he tastefully dressed?
He—No; just fashionably.

BIRD MIGRATION.

The rate at which some birds can migrate under favorable conditions is extraordinary, and as one listens to their plaintive cries coming from the darkness overhead it is difficult to realize that in a few hours these same birds may be within the arctic circle and little later may be even crossing the pole itself. . . . Less is known of the actual dates of the departure of the migratory birds in autumn than of those of their arrival earlier in the year, and this for obvious reasons. The way in which our most charming songsters silently skulk out of the country in the autumn is very different from that in which they make their triumphal entry in the spring when every wood and copse resounds with their melodies.—Windsor Magazine.

HIS IMPRESSIONS.

C. E. Fosdick, secretary of the Automobile club, was complaining in New York about the scarcity of good inns and hotels to be found on country automobile trips.

"I met a man the other day," he said, "who had just returned, brown and rather thin, from a long tour through the remoter parts of the middle west."

"Well, what impressed you most on your trip?" I asked. "The scenery? The resources?"

"No; the tough beefsteaks," he answered, "the canned vegetables, stale eggs, strongish butter, exorbitant bills and disobliging waiters."

MIGHT BE WORSE.

"Well," remarked the scientist, "this political controversy is pretty severe, but I suppose it might be worse."

"How?"

"Why, they might try to bring up that argument about who discovered the north pole."

REAL PITY.

"Miss Prim lost her temper yesterday."

"Heaven help the unfortunate who finds it."
