CIRCULATION STATEMENT.

Table showing circulation data for April, 1910. Columns include dates from April 1st to 30th, with corresponding circulation numbers ranging from 6792 to 6716.

Personally appeared before me the 3rd day of May, 1910, R. D. MacMillen, Business Manager of The Sun, who swears that the foregoing is a true and correct statement of its circulation for the month of April, 1910, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

PETER PURYEAR, Notary Public. My commission expires January 10, 1912.

Daily Thought.

Not what God gives, but what He takes. Uplifts us to the holiest height; On truth's rough crags life's current breaks.

Beautiful day for the comet. And, then, remember it will damage the comet just as much as it will the earth, if they collide.

Caught all that about the "descending node," "perihelion," "plane of the ellipse" and "transit of the sun," did you?

Spectacularly, Europe is getting all the best of it. They get to see Roosevelt, King Edward's funeral cortege and the transit of the comet.

Of course, it is encouraging, so to speak, to reflect that "Mercury and Venus have been closer the comet than the earth will be, and both are shining on," but we have lost most of our vanity.

The frost has killed the fruit crop; tobacco plants are scarce in the Black Patch; and now comes the report that out worms are ruining the corn.

thing of the effect of a fixed idea on the brain structure. Hyde lacked that durable character, which can be established only by youthful training, so as to permanently shape one's life.

Be that as it may, he is a doctor with a knowledge of all sorts of drugs and germ diseases. His wife is the niece of Colonel Swope, a millionaire, of convivial habits, who made a will, so conditioned, that upon the death of any heir all the other heirs would benefit out of that one's share.

The fire broke out early this morning in a small restaurant adjoining the grocery, and quickly spreading to the attic of the building. Patrolmen Gillet and Baldrige discovered the blaze and gave the alarm. When the firemen reached the scene the blaze was burning briskly and it required considerable water to drench the fire.

Character cannot be developed after maturity. Discretion may; but refraining from gross evil through fear of consequences is a negative substitute for the active virtues of high character, and becomes especially futile if discretion is acquired at the expense of reputation.

Parents, who educate their children to believe the law of the jungle is the true one, that the earth is the inheritance of those who can possess it, and material acquisition and comforts are the only desirable ends in life, may be training a Hyde for his murderous career, to write their unspotted name on a prison record, or end their line in an electric chair.

Some Stories Around the Town.

Mr. Joseph Eisey Bridgewater, of LaCenter, a son of Mr. J. E. Bridgewater, was the valedictorian of his class at the Marshall Training school in San Antonio, Texas.

The first of a series of get together dinners was held yesterday at the Palmer House by the members of the Paducah local board of fire insurance underwriters.

Another little girl in Paducah has the distinction of being the fifth link of a family of five living generations. The girl is little Miss Bertha Virginia Crawford, the five-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford, 1119 Clay street.

mother. As yet little Miss Crawford has not seen her great-great-grandmother, but in a few weeks it is expected to have a picture made of this family group.

Eighth and Husbands streets was the scene of a colored panic this morning, when a small fire broke out. The comet, which was below the horizon, extended its tail in a magnificently weird arc from the line where the earth and sky meet in the east to the very zenith of the heavens.

The fire broke out early this morning in a small restaurant adjoining the grocery, and quickly spreading to the attic of the building. Patrolmen Gillet and Baldrige discovered the blaze and gave the alarm.

Mr. Dennington is a former patrolman, but resigned from the police force last December. He was ill today as a result of the exposure received at the fire this morning trying to save his books.

The near approach of Halley's comet caused Chief of Police Singery no small amount of worry this morning when his cook refused to be on hand for work, fearing the end of the world would come sometime today.

Country Life Institute Is Addressed By Paducah Pastor, Rev. Landis

A very unique convention was held for three days last week in the Presbyterian church, Bellefontaine, Ohio. It was composed of a body of men to study the actual conditions prevailing in the agricultural districts and country towns of America.

Rev. E. B. Landis, of this city, presented the subject, "A Rural Community," and spoke of the present condition, together with the future possibilities. Mr. Landis has rapidly come to be recognized as one of the leaders in the pioneer work of students of country life and he is to be congratulated to have been
