REMEMBER THIS.

When you go into the country, make up your mind that you are going into God's great gallery of charm and beauty to enjoy yourself and to see what you can get out of it. Resolve that you will come home laden with riches that no money can buy; that you are going to extract from the landscape—from the mountains, the valleys, the fields, and the meadows—a wealth which does not inhere in the dollar.

Learn to drink in beauty and health at every pore. Try to realize that the flowers, the grass, the trees, the brooks, the hills—the charm and beauty everywhere—are God's smiles; that they are for him only who can appreciate them, who can respond to them, who can appropriate their message. They can not be bought; they belong only to him who can enjoy them.—Success Magazine.

Sea bathing is now really fine. The temperature of the water is as high as it is the last of July ordinarily and the number of bathers is constantly on the increase.

The clambake pavilion at Long Island is doing more business than ever. Is this not an evidence of the result of judicious advertising, coupled with business ability? Long Island has had a very satisfactory growth in popularity and it bids fair to continue.

Little Diamond Island is now provided with a water supply and a gas plant. This will give it a new start in the field as a coming summer resort nearby Portland. The lots are said to be selling rapidly to an excellent class of people who will build expensive cottages.

The Breeze tide cards are being sent out for July. They are neat and handy and the demand for them is so large that the publishers have not only mailed copies in bundles to hotels, but have sent numbers of the cards to bay people who have sent in requests for them. They are free.

Chebeague Island is to be treated to a concert by its own band Saturday night. The people of the island should see to it that the money needed to give the players encouragement is forthcoming. The concert is to be given on the grounds at Hill Crest.

People who wish to travel back and forth between the islands are confused when they try to work out their schedule from the steamer time tables. If the running time of each steamer could be published it would save a lot of brain work and probably be the means of putting more money in the company's pocket.

Chebeague Island has one of the very few and in fact the only winning baseball nine in Casco bay. There is great credit due the boys for the interest they manifest and the two games weekly on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons form no small part of the amusement for the summer visitors as well as the island people during the months of July and August. The attendance so far as regards numbers has been most praiseworthy, but the funds secured are not so satisfactory. When one considers the excellent game of ball which the home team usually put up it is not too much to expect that there should be no person not interested enough in the national sport to contribute the regular admission fee of twenty-five cents, which goes towards paying the expenses of the visiting team as well as the running expenses of the home nine. At each of the games played to date the total collections have not exceeded twenty dollars, this sum not being sufficient to meet the expenditures. We trust the team will receive the support it certainly deserves.

A COMMUNICATION

SUGGESTION FOR ORRS ISLAND'S PROSPERITY.

It is for the vital interest of every person living on Orrs Island or who owns property there to not only wish Orrs Island well, but to act together for the good of the island.

It is a mistake, everybody says who has the experience to know, not to advertise the various kinds of business already established or which is likely to be established as publicity has made all the other islands in the Bay build up.—Charles E. Davis.

How to Make an Excursion Boat.

Get a pot of paint, some pine boards and an abandoned engine. Also a keg of spikes and two smokestacks large enough to hold a red emblem.

Put your boat together very carefully, seeing that all the pieces fit onto the keel. After it is all ready shake it lightly to see it doesn't fall apart. Then place it gracefully on the surface of the bay.

It is quite possible that it may leak at first. If so, fill the cracks with laundry soap.

Now for the fittings. Put a couple of cheval glasses in your cabin and a toothbrush attached to a chain in the wash-room. Buy at auction some life-preserver coats and fill them with breakfast foods. In case of accidents you are thus providing the passengers with nourishment.

After you have selected your captain and crew, secure permission from the proper authorities to run the boat loaded to the guards with women and children. This can easily be done—provided you have the necessary cash.—Life.

French Chemical Scarecrow.

According to recent experiments by Stanislas Tetard, a widely known French agriculturist, wheat and other cereals can be protected against the ravages of crows, which are particularly fond of the grain when its sprouts are just pushing above the ground, by treating the seeds, before they are sown with a mixture of coal tar, petroleum and phenic acid.

This treatment, which delays the growth of the seed for a day or two, but causes no damage, imparts an odor which is insufferable to the crows, but which disappears after sprouts have attained a larger growth when they are no longer subject to attack.—London Globe.

The population of the world is now estimated to be about 1,503,000,000. Of this number 150,000,000 are black, 600,000,000 yellow and 750,000,000 white.

GUESSING CHARACTER.

How People of Various Professions Have Done It.

There can be little doubt that close observation of people, and ability to read their character and their thoughts is of immense value in trade and commerce, especially for a shop assistant or salesman in persuading people to buy goods, or in detecting would be swindlers. It is said that you can tell a man's character from the way he wears his hat. If it is slightly on one side, the wearer is good natured; if it is worn very much on the side, he is a swaggerer; if on the back of his head, he is bad at paying his debts; while if worn straight on the top, he is probably honest, but very dull.

The way a man or woman walks is often a very good guide to character. Witness the fussy, swaggering little man, paddling along with short steps, with much arm action; the nervous man's jerky stride; the slow slouch of the loafer; the smooth-going and silent step of the scout and so on.

"I was once accused," says Lieut. Gen. Baden-Powell, from whose work on "Scouting for Boys" this information is taken, "of mistaking men with waxed mustaches. Well, so, to a certain extent, I do. It often means vanity and sometimes drink. Certainly, the 'quiff' or lock of hair which some lads wear on their foreheads is a sure sign of silliness."

Apart from being of extreme interest and value to boys, the advice which the redoubtable "B. P." gives on the art of judging character by keeping your eyes open should be of much service to grown-ups. You can generally tell from a person's boots whether he is rich or poor.

"I once was able," says the famous soldier, "to be of service to a lady who was in poor circumstances, as I had guessed it from noticing, while walking behind her, that, though she was well dressed, the soles of her shoes were in the last stage of disrepair. I don't suppose she ever knew how I guessed that she was in a bad way."

"But it is surprising how much of the sole of the boot you can see when behind a person walking—and it is equally surprising how much meaning you can read from that boot. It is said to wear out soles and heels equally is to give evidence of business capacity and honesty; to wear your heels down on the outside means that you are a man of imagination and love of adventure; but heels worn down inside signify weakness and indecision of character, and this last sign is more infallible in the case of a man than in that of woman."

"It is an amusing practice when you are in a railway carriage or omnibus with other people to look only at their feet and guess without looking any higher what sort of people they are, old or young, well-to-do or poor, fat or thin, and so on, and then look up and see how near you have been to the truth."

"Mr. Nat Goodwin, the American actor once described to me how he went to see a balloon ascend at a time when he happened to be suffering from a stiff neck. He was only able to look down instead of up—and he could see only the feet of the people around him in the crowd, so he chose among the feet those that he felt sure belonged to an affable, kind-hearted man who would describe to him what the balloon was doing."

"I was speaking with a detective not long ago, about a gentleman who had both been talking to, and we were trying to make out his character. I remarked, 'Well, at any rate, he is a fisherman, but my companion could not see why; but then he was not a fisherman himself. I had noticed a lot of little tufts of cloth sticking upon the top of his coat.'

"A good many fishermen, when they take their flies off the line, stick them into their cap to dry; others stick them into their sleeve. When dry they pull them out, which often tears a thread or two of the cloth."—Tit-Bits.

Insomnia.

Insomnia is the not uncommon fate of the brain-worker who, after years of continuous mental strain, retires from active life. The reason is that mental activity demands a large supply of blood for the brain, and the blood vessels gradually accommodate themselves to this large supply. But, when the hard work is over, the brain does not always realize that it needs less nourishment, and hence the condition of excessive mental activity which is what insomnia is.—Letter in London Mail.

Work of Watch Wheels. The main wheel of a watch makes 460 revolutions a year, the central wheel 8760, the third wheel 70,000, the fourth 525,600 and the escape wheel 731,860.

SOME AGED BRIDEGROOMS.

Well Known Men Who Wed When Far Advanced in Years.

Social records give several instances of ancient bridegrooms. The list is headed by the Earl of Wemyss. He was born in 1818, and when about 82 took as his second wife the handsome dark haired Miss Grace Blackburn. Then the Earl of Mount Edgcombe married at 74, taking as his second spouse his cousin Caroline, Countess of Ravensworth. And the wedding of the late Marquis of Donegal at the age of 80 made an event of December, 1902.

Baronets seem set on making second or third marriages after they have become octogenarians. In 1906 Sir Hector Hay, at the age of 85, took to wife Mrs. Fordyce, widow of Major Fordyce of Aberdeen, and in the same year Sir James Langrishe, when 82 years old, married as his second wife Miss Algitha Gooch, only sister of Sir Daniel Gooch.

Also in 1906 Sir Robert Turing, at the age of 79, married Mrs. Herbert Ramus, a niece of Lord Congleton, and Sir Henry Vavasour when well over the allotted span married Miss Alice Codrington, a cousin of the Duke of Beaufort. Sir Henry is now nearly 94, keeps well in mind and body, and makes long trips to the Continent.

The late Sir Charles Tennant (father of Mrs. Asquith) took a second wife when well on in the 70s, and a child was born to him when he was 80 years old.—From Tit-Bits.

Noise.

Noise, at first cultivated in this land by the Indians, has reached its climax in the college yell. It is used at political conventions, at christenings and at women's clubs.

No monument was necessary for the man who first invented noise. His work lives after him.

Noise is used by cities, which have the first call for it. They split it up into as many sounds as possible and divide it among all.

Noise varies in its volume and intensity, from embryonic and immature sawmill to a baby crying in the night.—Life.

An Emperor Obeyed.

While the Emperor (Nicholas I) was in Moscow witnessing a performance of "Lucia di Lammermoor" at the splendid opera-house, one of the largest in the world, a fire broke out and the theatre was burned to the ground.

The emperor calmly told the Governor-General: "I shall return here next year on the same day; I shall expect to find the opera-house rebuilt exactly as it was before, and I shall listen to a performance of 'Lucia' by the same company"—and he was obeyed.—From "The Court of Russia" by E. A. Brayley Hodgkiss.

Women Doctors.

It is a real grievance that students of the London School of Medicine for Women should have to go to Edinburgh or Dublin for a college diploma. There is, of course, the University of London, and some women have done well there. But the medical degrees of the London University are for the few.—British Medical Journal.

A Dog's Artificial Ear.

A shoemaker of Philadelphia has a dog which recently had one of its ears cut off by a tramcar. The dog is a pet, and therefore it has been supplied with an artificial ear made of leather and covered with curly brown hair to give it a natural appearance.—Home Notes.

A Suggestion.

A Boston gentleman has, out of sympathy, married a woman who was knocked down by his motor car, and had a leg amputated. We believe that if this kind of thing were made obligatory by law, we should hear of fewer people being run over.

Boy Was an Observer.

"What is the best place in which to keep fresh milk in hot weather?" asked the teacher. "Please, teacher, in the cow," answered the small boy who had just returned from a country holiday.

No Room for Him in the Parlor. "Briggs says he spends most of his time at home in the kitchen."

"I wonder why?" "I believe he said his wife was a 'parlor socialist.'—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Dentistry.

The Dentist—Now, open wide your mouth, and I won't hurt you a bit. The Patient (after the extraction)—Doctor, I know what Ananias did for a living, now.—Home Herald, Chicago.
