—Dr W. W. Gowan and Henry Pearce, of Brockway, made a short visit to this office on Wednesday.

—J. H. High has left on our table some of the finest grapes we have seen this season. The vine they were picked from is one he set out in his garden a little over a year ago. It is of the champion class. We acknowledge our thanks for the same.

—The excursion last Thursday was the boss. The only regrets we heard expressed was the loss, by some, of a good dinner on the lake and the very cold weather. The management here by careful nursing to bring their purses through the shock they received.

The price to join this class is $1 per month. This is a good opportunity for those wishing to post themselves in book-keeping and writing.

—The following is clipped from the Port Huron Mail: "Mr. J. S. Duffie, of Brockway Centre, declined the nomination for Register of Deeds, on a combination ticket, as he was personally opposed to a combination, but would support the ticket, and if he ever accepted a nomination on any ticket it must be on a straight Greenback ticket."

—Register of deeds—H. C. Mansfield. Clerk—H. Baker. Circuit Court Commissioners—Albert A. Carleton and W. L. Jenks.

—The iron hoop and velocipede nuisance has reached that point where something should be done to prevent serious accidents which will surely happen if this practice is carried much farther. As it is now people are compelled to get off the side-walks for fear of being run over, and farmers are actually afraid to leave their teams for fear they will get scared and break loose and run away. We hope to see a stop put to this nuisance as soon as possible.

Scandal in High Life.

Last Sunday revealed one of the most shocking scandals we have heard of for some time. It seems that while one of our respected artisans has been plying his profession through the country, as is his custom during the summer months, leaving his better half to mind his interests here, which trust, we are sorry to say, she sadly betrayed. As the balmy days of spring gradually lengthened into summer, her gentle nature longed for companionship and it comes to light that many of her lonely hours were wiled away in the company of some of our most influential citizens, with an occasional flying trip with some affable traveling man to relieve the monotony. While she thus killed dull time, he, on the other hand, was improving every precious moment to win the "almighty dollar" with which to make home pleasant and life more happy. As time wore on in this way, bringing no news to him of his home and children, having placed the utmost confidence in the wife of his bosom, whose integrity he never had cause to question, he at once concluded to hasten home to find the cause of this neglect, when all of his fond hopes were blasted by finding that the treasure of his life was taking a holiday trip with an amorous blackleg in some neighboring town. When the news of her perfidy fully dawned upon him he raved like a madman swearing vengeance and an early death to the one whom he had promised to love and protect, and lots of cowhides to the fellow who enticed her away. It seems the truant birds received news of his return home when they dissolved partnership, she concluding to throw herself on the tender mercies of her old standby and he to get out of reach of the cowhide. The meeting of the faithless wife and her forgiving husband, was an event long to be remembered by those who witnessed it. She humbly begged forgiveness saying, "I hadn't heard from you in five long weeks and felt like running off with most anybody." He forgave, saying, "Take the pistol and come to my arms my darling and we will leave the scenes of our troubles three hundred miles behind and turn over a new leaf." We sincerely hope they will.
