The Buffalo Commercial says that the proposition to send Roscoe Conkling to the Senate has not met with encouragement from a single newspaper in the State of New York.

SENATOR VEST ANNOUNCES that the heretofore outrageous system of Deputy Marshals at the polls will not be abolished, for the reason that the Deputy Marshals will hereafter be Democrats.

It is reported that Confederate bonds have advanced in value since election. Whether this fact is the result of Democratic success, or of the advance in the price of waste paper caused by the cholera in Europe, is a question.

A STATUE to George Brown, late editor of the Toronto Globe, has been erected. Mr. Brown was one of the few editors, it appears, who did not make so many enemies during his life-time as to consign him to post-mortem oblivion.

THE New York Sun thinks it is well enough for the Democrats to bear two things in mind:

What was extravagance under Republican rule will not become judicious liberality merely because the expenditure is supervised by the Democrats.

THE London Lancet condemns the excessive use of the bicycle as very injurious to the health. It claims that the position of the rider upon the bicycle is such as to throw an undue weight of the body upon the pelvis and its organs by which they are seriously affected and ultimately permanently injured.

AN item is going the rounds of the exchanges which chronicles the important incident of Lady Hasketh meeting with Lady Waterloo at Brighton recently. Both are wives of English baronets, both are Californians, and both the progeny of millionaires.

Dr. Atticus G. Haygood is writing a biographical volume about the two noted Pierces of Georgia—Dr. Lovick Pierce and his son, Bishop Pierce.

Old Eliza, a Toronto pauper, died last week, and it was found that she had $2,000 in money in her box. She had been supported by charity for thirty-two years.

The report that he had attested the find of supposed Turners at Exeter, England, is contradicted by Mr. Ruskin. So many people write to him for his opinion that he finds it necessary to state that it is no part of his duty as an Oxford professor, and not compatible with his enjoyment of life, "to do picture dealers' work for nothing, still less for a consideration."

THE Detroit Post of yesterday gave publication to a fact which has been known to THE TELEGRAM for some little time, namely that Senator Conger will in all probability resign his office and be seated upon the Supreme bench in the District of Columbia at an early date.

THE Boston Post of yesterday gave publication to a fact which has been known to THE TELEGRAM for some little time, namely that Senator Conger will in all probability resign his office and be seated upon the Supreme bench in the District of Columbia at an early date.

him wise, pure and conservative man for his Cabinet and by a careful course in his inaugural to do a great work for the country. If, while the small fry and camp-followers are quarreling over the leaves and fishes, Cleveland is resolving of his own motion to call such men as Thurman and McDonald into his Cabinet the people may well feel encouraged.

THE Buffalo Courier (Dem.): The picture on the first page of the current number of Harper's Weekly is designed to make every Southerner who sees it go out and shoot a negro.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Age: We hope President-elect Cleveland will give a substantial recognition of the Independents who supported him. They might be made just as good Democrats as any of us.

ALBANY Journal: Rather than proving that the election of a great Republican is impossible, the defeat of Mr. Blaine creates those conditions which must lead to his success or to the success of a man like him—if such there be in the Republican party—in the not distant future.

PHILADELPHIA Record: The cheery jumble of the Thanksgiving turkey will soon succeed to the shrill clarion of the campaign rooster, and the gloomy caw of the campaign crow. Let it! It is a much more agreeable sound, and the Bird of Two Ments that Benjamin Franklin wisely preferred, as a national emblem to our eagle, is an infinitely pleasanter subject for discussion.

MOODY will visit Toronto Dec. 2, 3 and 4. It is hoped that some of the American sojourners in Canada will attend his meetings.

ADJUDGMENT was made that Governor Cleveland has directed his private secretary to destroy all letters containing an application for office, without showing them to him. This, to an office-seeker, is like inserting an icicle under his night-dress when he is dreaming.

NOTED PEOPLE. Benjamin H. Bristow is now talked of as the Mugwump Representative in the Cabinet.

A SIX-YEAR-OLD HERO. How He Saved a Playmate from Drowning. (N. Y. Truth.)

Harlem has a little hero of which it should be, and no doubt is, justly proud. He is just six years of age, and being rather small for his years, still wears short dresses and luxuriant ringlets. Despite his extreme youth, his diminutive size and curls, however, he has already rescued a life, and those who witnessed his heroism are still wondering where he got the strength to do it.

Seated on the piazza of Captain Monaghan's boat house, at the foot of East One Hundred and Twenty-first street, yesterday afternoon, were several gentlemen. They were discussing various topics and watching a party of children playing on the float below them.

The storm of indignation which followed the arrests was a caution. Holbert, one of the hotel proprietors, was particularly outraged. Judge Budlong, an attorney at the Park, was employed by the officers, and he went ahead with the prosecution.

A WESTERN ROMANCE.

One of the incidents of the War Which Reads More Like a Romance Than the Narrative of Fact.

(Pittsburgh Leader.)

Quite recently a gentleman living in Pittsburgh received a letter from his son, who resides in the State of Missouri, notifying him of the death of a lady connection of the family, named Mrs. Wilson, whose demise occurred near the town of Mexico, Mo. "Her death recalls one of those incidents of the war which read more like a romance than the narration of a sober fact," remarked the recipient of the letter to a Ledger reporter.

Some time about the period of the war a young Missourian, who had been married but a few months, feeling that the demands of his country were stronger than those of home, bid farewell to his lovely wife and enlisted in the army of the north. But a short time after his enlistment a letter announced the arrival of a young stranger in the family circle, and the soldier applied for permission to go home on a furlough to see his offspring.

From the bushes that hedged the roadsides they sent their murderous bullets to the hearts of unsuspecting travelers who passed their place of concealment, and many are the tales of how they rode up at night, firing through the windows of humble dwellings, killed the innocent men who were sitting at the fireside surrounded by their little ones.

Arresting the British Nobility. (Cheyenne Special.) A letter received by Governor Hale from Mammoth Hot Springs, in the Yellowstone Park, contains additional information concerning the enforcement of the law there.

The storm of indignation which followed the arrests was a caution. Holbert, one of the hotel proprietors, was particularly outraged. Judge Budlong, an attorney at the Park, was employed by the officers, and he went ahead with the prosecution.
