

FAYETTE LANDMARK BURNS

Fire Destroys House Built by Governor Thomas Reynolds.
The old brick mansion erected in Fayette in 1845 by Governor Thomas Reynolds was burned last Tuesday night. The house, which was recently bought by Willard Crigler, caught fire Monday night from a lamp which Mr. Crigler overturned as he was putting down linoleum, and about $500 worth of damage was done before it was extinguished. On account of lack of city water the fire department was forced to fight with buckets. A stairway and the attic were badly damaged by the first fire, and it is supposed that the fire smoldered all day Tuesday and broke out Tuesday night.
When the fire broke out Tuesday no one was in the house, as Mr. Crigler, who was badly burned Monday night, had left.
This old home was erected by Governor Thomas Reynolds, but it was never occupied by him, as he committed suicide before his term of office expired. It was one of the finest homes in Central Missouri and had long been a place of interest to visitors in Fayette.

TO THE PEOPLE OF BOONE COUNTY

In the short time allotted to us, the Speakers' Committee of the Boone County Liberty Loan Organization has endeavored to cover every school district in the county. Covering a big county like Boone in this way in a week is a tremendous undertaking, but Columbia can boast of as large a number of able and patriotic speakers as any town of twice its size in Missouri, and we had no trouble in providing speakers and in getting other men, whose patriotism knows no limits, to use their own automobiles in taking these men to even the most inaccessible places in Boone County. Notwithstanding the enthusiastic co-operation of all these men, we have still been unable to reach all of the people of Boone County. Our slogan is "a bond in every home," and we want to give everybody a chance to invest in these bonds and a chance to get a full understanding of the imperative necessity for their purchase.

If there is any town in Boone County, or any school district or any organization of any kind that desires enlightenment on the Liberty Loan proposition, we will be glad to furnish the speakers. Arrange your meeting and telephone to headquarters here, and we will do the rest.

Remember this: These bonds must be sold. It is as much your duty as it is that of every citizen in Boone County to help take care of Boone County's quota—which is $585,000. It is your war as well as ours, and its successful prosecution entails sacrifices and responsibility which we cannot evade, even if we would.

If any man in Boone County can buy a Liberty Bond, and does not, he is falling short of his duty. The time is short. October 27 is the date set for the close of the sale. If you have not bought your Bond or Bonds, get in touch with your banker at once.
