COL. PERSONS JOINS FOREIGN VETERANS

He Served in Spanish-American War and Boxer Uprising in China.

TWELVE INITIATED Organization Will Give Dinner Soon and A.E.F. Plays This Spring.

"I am glad to get into an organization that stands for real Americanism and requires American citizenship of its members," said Col. W. E. Persons in talking to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday night after his initiation into the organization.

"There are too many men who do not appreciate their American citizenship," he continued. "Since coming to the University I have met many young men who have no idea of the true greatness of their country. This is my first opportunity to affiliate myself with this organization and I am indeed glad that I am able to do so."

Colonel Persons, who is commandant of the R.O.T.C. at the University, served in the Spanish-American war and in China during the Boxer uprisings.

Eleven other men were taken in at the same time. They are: Vance Mershon, A. Henry Mudd, Benton O. Gideon, Warren S. Whittle, K. W. Blomeyer, Paul F. Shilton, A. B. Armstrong, Homer W. Paton, Fred C. Eastin, Jr., Dean Chenoweth, and Dr. Dudley S. Conley.

Columbia people will probably have an opportunity of seeing some real A.E.F. plays this spring. A committee has been appointed to get copies of the most successful of these plays, and members of the post will put them on in true A.E.F. style, made-up by former doughboys. Generals Vin Blanc, Vin Rouge and Cognac, however will be impersonated by Private Grape Juice and Gigger Ale.

Preparations for the dinner that is to be given soon are being completed rapidly. All committees have been appointed and the nature of the affair has been determined. Tickets will be sold and every man will be expected to do his duty and purchase two, as each member will be permitted to bring a friend.

F. Warner Carling of Kansas City and commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be at the dinner. The time of the dinner will be arranged so that it will be possible for Col. John Henry Parker, who is in charge of the recruiting drive in Missouri and who is also an old member of the organization, to be present.

The action that the Missouri legislature will take on the question of additional compensation for soldiers was discussed. Members of the organization were instructed to get in touch with the other posts in the state and find out that they were doing in regard to the question.

Commander Sneed in speaking on the subject said that the former service men must be agreed in their requests so that the state would not be confused as to what they really wanted.

Eleven other states have already taken action, and the question is coming up before the legislatures of a great many more this winter.

LOCAL TRADITIONS KEPT BY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Do you enjoy local history? Can you feel the thrill of some old romance or deep mystery when it is connected with a well-known landmark upon which your eyes are often accustomed to rest?

If you are a native Columbian, can you pick out the first brick house to be erected in the city, can you tell what great man was born there? Then of course you know that Academic Hall was once a federal prison, that there was an Ashland Church a century ago as well as today, that Thomas Miller, the pioneer Columbian, met a tragic death and that Missouri had only one senator once upon a time.

If your grandmother or father has not told you of these things, there is only one place where you may look them up without difficulty and that is in the Missouri Historical Review, a magazine published in Columbia by the State Historical Society, which undertakes to publish, according to the secretary, F. C. Shoemaker, a list of all historical articles in Missouri newspapers.

The compilation of this data, so valuable for local historical research, was begun by Mr. Shoemaker. In discussing the probable reasons for the greater number of historical sketches of the constructive type being written in Columbia, Mr. Shoemaker said, "Columbia is no more rich in traditions than a dozen other cities of the state where little or no contribution is made along this line. I firmly believe that it can all be fairly attributed to one man and that man is Dean Walter Williams. He has always been deeply interested in local history. The many excellent biographical sketches that appeared in the old Missouri Herald, edited by him and E. W. Stephens, prove this fact."

"There is much practical value," continued Mr. Shoemaker, "to be gained through the publication of local history. With a knowledge of our own immediate past we can with more certainty predict our future. History and its study tend toward solidarity and conservatism, the two potent forces so essential, it seems to me, in the eradication of bolshevism and anarchy."

Debate Decision Favors Berger. Victor L. Berger should be allowed to take his seat in Congress, according to an argument held by the M. S. U. Debating Society Saturday night. Berger, a Socialist elected from Wisconsin, was refused a seat in Congress because he was under sentence after being convicted of violating the Espionage Act.

"IDEALS ARE SUSTAINING FORCE"

They Account for "Miracle of Israel's Preservation," Says Rabbi Sale.

"Ideals are the greatest sustaining force in the world, and that is the force which has maintained the Jews," This is the view of Rabbi Samuel Sale of St. Louis, who addressed the Jewish Students Congregation Sunday night on "The Miracle of Israel's Preservation."

He said that it was a wonder the Jews have persisted in spite of persecution. "The persecution which the Jews have undergone for ages has caused the cowardly to leave Judaism and deny their inheritance," he said, "but the real Jew has remained and has been kept alive by his ideals."
