HORNED RATTLE SNAKE ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN AMERICA.

At the Indian Herb store, 2206 1/2 Vine street, they have a horned rattle snake which was found in Arizona along with three others. These snakes were discovered by the Cliff dwellers in pre-historic times. This is the only one living. If you visit the Indian Herb store, r. Street will be glad to explain all about this rare specimen of reptiles.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank our many friends neighbors and members of St. Mary's Tabernacle No. 2 and Queen of Sheba Temple No. 284, St. Peter's Lodge and Rev. W. T. Osborne for the sympathy, help and beautiful floral offerings during the illness and death of our dear sister, mother-in-law and grandmother, Mrs. Minerva Tribble.
Mrs. Nan Michael,
Mr. Joseph E. Smith,
Miss Josephine Smith.

Mrs. Minerva Tribble, grandmother of Miss Josephine Smith, 3014 West Prospect Pl., City, died Monday morning December 13th, at 5 A. M. She was a resident of Kansas City nearly fifty years. She was one of the Charter members of Ebenezer A. M. E. church.
Services were under the auspices of St. Mary's Tabernacle No. 2 and Queen of Sheba Temple No. 284, both of which she was a member. Besides her grand daughter she is survived by a sister, Mr. Nan Michael, a son-in-law, Joseph E. Smith and four brothers, Louis, Nancy, Warren and James Michael, all of Hazelhurst, Miss.

"THE SMARTER SET" COMING TO AUDITORIUM, WEEK OF JANUARY 9TH.

Fresh from its remarkable and successful engagements in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Pittsburg, Chicago and Cincinnati, "The Smarter Set" headed by the foremost comedians, Salem Tutt Whitney and J. omer Tutt, will come to the Auditorium for their annual engagement starting Sunday night, January 9th, with matinee Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, presenting their latest and biggest success, "Bamboula" a jazz-onian operetta, in two acts with ten scenes of beautiful special scenery and gorgeous costuming.
The story of the play tells of Prof. Loving, a musical fanatic, who after hearing the first four measures of Bamboula, an ancient African melody, and not knowing from whence it originated, conceives the idea of tracing its origin in order that other people have contributed to the music of the world. The show is brilliantly mounted, while the "bronz beauty" chorus manifestly picked for vivacity and beauty, and above all Whitney and Tutt, who bring delightful personality, and extraordinary knack of clean comedy with a "kick" to musical comedy, which conspires to make them the shining lights of the stage.

Mrs. John R. Fairley of Rockford, Ill., will spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Sallie Sherrell of 2602 Highland and other relatives. She is accompanied by her little daughter.

The Kansas Industrial and Educational Institute will be able to take care of twelve more young men and women at the beginning of its next session January 5, 1921.

FARR-HENDERSON.
Thursday afternoon December 16, at 2:30 o'clock a surprise was given to Kansas City social set when the news of the secret marriage of Mr. James Luther Henderson and Miss Anna Claudia Farr was announced. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson are at home to their many friends at 1818 E. 10th street. We all wish for them a happy married life.

CARD OF THANKS.
I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors for their kindness shown toward me in my bereavement and death of my husband, Tom Hopkins who departed this life, December 6, 1920, wherein it was my loss and heaven's gain. I also want to thank the members of Friendship Church and neighbors and friends for the many beautiful floral offerings. It will always be a treasure in my memory. I also thank the pastor, Rev. S. C. Doyle for his consoling way in preaching the funeral.
Sadly missed by Ethel Hopkins, wife and mother.

MEMORY.
He is gone but not forgotten
Never shall his memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger
Round the grave where he is laid.
Mrs. Ethel Hopkins, wife.

VINE STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.
Services were not so well attended last Sunday as usual. Many visitors were in attendance. Quite a number are on the sick list. Rev. McDowell preached a grand sermon at night. The church will hold its business meeting Tuesday night the 28th. Don't fail to attend. Business of importance. The baby roll is the greatest thing ever organized in this church. Already fifty-four children have been added to the Sunday School. The church has been beautifully decorated under the leadership of Mrs. P. L. Blackwell and her committee. Both choirs furnished music. A male quartet from St. Paul Baptist church rendered selections.

We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

In Memoriam
Sacred to the memory of our dear son and brother,
EARL FREDERICK SHERRELL
Died December 26, 1919.
Some day 'twill all be over—
Some day the world be vanquished.
The toils and cares of life,
With all its bitter strife;
Some day, the journey ending,
We'll lay our burdens down;
Some day in realms supernal,
Receive at last our crown.
MRS. SALLIE E. SHERRELL, Mother.
MRS. CORNELIA S. FAIRLEY,
MRS. HAZLE S. BARTON,
MISS FANNIE V. SHERRELL, Sisters.

BETHEL BAPTIST CHURCH.
1325 E. 5th Street.
Rev. Geo. Devlin, Pastor.
Services were good last Sunday but poorly attended. Rev. Chas. Marshall was with us at night. Sister Devlin was called to the bedside of Sister Belle Martin, who is very ill. Sister Sadie B. Lewis has a long siege of illness. Her relatives, Simon Hawkins and Archie Lewis of Sweet Springs, Mo., are visiting her and will remain during the holidays. Sister Roberts of Ysland, Mich., prayed a feeling prayer: We ask every one to come to our services and attend our 3 in 1 Christmas program Monday night. A present for every one present.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Williams of Lincoln, Neb., are in the City to spend the holidays with Mrs. Williams, mother and sister at 2216 N. Second street, Kansas City, Kas.

PERSONALITY-PLUS.

For a great many years the writer possessed one of the most prominent features that characterized the late famous Jack London, that of "wanderlust," though we confess, on a far smaller scale, and as it were, a sort of "pocket edition." However, we "rumbled some" while we were at it. During this period of wandering around from city to city we observed many of the many million things there are to be encountered as we journey through this vale of tears and World Wars. We have unconsciously and without effort retained a great many of these impressions registered and filed in our storeroom of knowledge. These are classified and labeled, and every once in a while we find ourselves reviewing the parade of these impressionistic facts.

Now, all of us have hobbies. Whether we admit it or not does not alter the fact. We have them. Some are lovers of the ponies, cats, dogs, and still others are fanciers of the padded mitts, the ball team and the theatre, while many idolize art and literature. These are hobbies, yet some are loathe to admit their guilt. Candidly, we admit our hobby, if it can be termed such—it is that of "Personality." But personality alone does not arouse us as much as "Personality-Plus." Plus, you ask? Yes, just that—but, plus efficiency.

Just prior to the late World War we visited a few cities in the state of Iowa and one day while on a shopping tour—we abhor shopping—we entered a small, neat and attractive haberdashery and among the purchases made were collars. Now, there is nothing extraordinary or exciting about the purchase of a collar—we have been guilty of buying several hundreds—but here comes the "Personality-Plus." The salesman was a young, serious, yet alert chap, attentive and courteous. Ordinarily he did not seem to outrank other salesmen, but on closer observation we found that every move of hand and body had a meaning of its own; it signified personality, and more. "Plus." This chap had invented a sort of finger protector for handling collars, making it impossible to soil collars while exhibiting them to the patrons. There we found the "plus," thus making Personality Plus Efficiency, a combination hard to beat. Needless to say that this particular establishment soon grew to the largest of its kind in the state.

While the boy shined our shoes our mind quickly took in all the impressions, flitted over the continent to other establishments of this particular kind, and as the lad gave our trouser cuffs a slight pull, bespeaking a finished job, we alighted from the stand, paid the cashier, called for a paper, and—oh, say! you should have seen the youngster as he extended the paper to us—it was a revelation in personality-plus. In other words, personality-service-efficiency. Three in one. We shall never forget the movement of his hands! Nor the large individual who beamed at us from behind the counter. He was the center of personality, and the boys counter-currents.

As we turned to leave the graphonola struck up a popular selection, and to our surprise, bewilderment and later, joy, a corps of shoe shining rags and brushes, skillfully manipulated by as many boys, kept time with the music! Shoes shined to the tune of your favorite selection. Can you beat it?
We were, by this time, very much interested in this man who was responsible for this admirable display of efficiency and began inquiry among our friends. We learned that he is a quiet, reserved, though genial sort of fellow; intelligent in an unusual degree; young in age, but old in the service of his people. A thinker and writer of no mean ability who has led a gallant fight for years against all things corrupt that concern the black race.
We shall never forget the impression he left with us. A big man; yes, big in many ways. "Personality-Plus" is Charles A. Steaks.
