Nothing like trading with Bell & Freeman when you want good goods and big bargains.

KENDALL, HAMILTON Co.)
KANSAS, July 19, 1886. }

J. D. ALLEN, Friend and editor Butler Times. Thinking perhaps a few remarks from this part of the west may be of some interest to a few readers of your valuable paper, I will try and write a few lines telling some things in general. A few of your citizens have land interests here, so it may be possible that they will agree with me on a few things I will say. My town, Kendall, is situated almost in the center of Hamilton county, in the beautiful valley of the Arkansas river and on the main line of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. This is a new town recently made a city of the third class. We have a number of good business men who by their low prices are drawing trade from fifty to seventy-five miles. Kendall is surrounded by a beautiful sloping prairie. This land but a short time ago was thought to be suitable for nothing but buffalo, antelope and cattle to roam over. By the cultivation of different crops proves it to be very valuable for agriculture. Most all the crops are on sod land and looking well, the dry spell that we have been having has effected our corn but little, some of it is shoulder high and of a dark color, the soaking rain of last night makes things still better. People in the east are losing a splendid opportunity of getting a home of some of the best land in Kansas. Some few good claims are still open for filing.

Yours, BEN L. HALL.
