

The Tri-Weekly CITIZEN

THURSDAY EVENING, DEC. 3.

Send $100.00—For all class cotton or paper tags delivered at this office, in large or small quantities, we will pay ten cents per pound.

In almost every family a large quantity of tags are wanted, which, if preserved, would soon accumulate into a large heap, and become to those who seek the trouble to sort them, quite a source of annoyance. But the profits arising from such a source of economy, should be the smallest consideration in those times of anxiety it is the duty, and should be a paramount object with everybody to save every thing that can be turned to account or made useful, by anybody else. People want newspapers to read, and to furnish them, printers must have paper on which to print; in fact, the paper millmen, have material out of which to manufacture that indispensable article. Hence, contribute the cheapest and best material for this purpose. Hence, it is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of all persons to save all the tags they can and sell them to publishers, in order that the supply of printing paper may not be exhausted.

THE MARYLAND ELECTION.

From the Baltimore (Md.) Herald.

On Monday afternoon a large body of cavalry, said to number 400, with a body of infantry equal perhaps to half that number, arrived at Salisbury by the railroad, and immediately after their arrival Order No. 53, issued from Gen. Schenck's headquarters, was made public. The town of Salisbury was filled with people from Worcester and Somerset counties, drawn there by the usual annual fair, and a political discussion then in progress, who immediately became greatly alarmed, in fear of the events which the presence of these forces at the election to come off on Wednesday was likely to occasion. The people began at once to disperse, carrying the sad intelligence of the arrival and apprehended purpose of these troops to the respective neighborhoods. On Tuesday these forces were distributed, about equally between the two counties, and marched for their respective destinations. Somewhat after the middle of the day a detachment of cavalry, numbering about 100, under the command of Capt. Moore, of the Third Maryland Cavalry, marched through the village, and camped about a mile south of the town. The day being our customary public day, great numbers of persons were present from every neighborhood in the county, all of whom became excited and alarmed, and dispersing to their houses, spreading the alarming intelligence in every direction.

In the evening Governor Bradford's proclamation arrived by a special messenger. This document, so just and manly, somewhat revived the public spirits, and reassured our people. It was at once sent by messengers to every district, and a copy of it, with a copy of the President's letter to Mr. Swann, was sent to Capt. Moore, in the hope that it would be respected by him, but we lament to say, it had not the slightest effect upon him.

Wednesday morning found each voting place occupied by squads of cavalry, varying in numbers from five to thirty, well mounted and fully armed, with carbines, sabres and pistols, where they remained the entire day. The Smith's Island District, which lies off in the bay and quite inaccessible, was the only exception; all the rest were completely occupied and held by these armed forces, what was done may be seen by the annexed statements, which have been carefully prepared and authenticated by the most respectable names, and may be authenticated by hundreds of others whenever required.

OUR SOLDIERS AT CHICKAMAUGA.—The following is an extract from a letter written by an officer in the 16th Regiment, S. C. V., Gist's brigade, dated October 10:

"We have a great deal of rain this week, and our camp is one vast mud puddle. We are still without tents, and I am afraid will have to do without them during the winter. Our men are very much in want of, clothing and many have no blankets. General Gist has directed the commanding officers to request the men to call upon their friends at home for comforts and blankets, as the Government will not be able to supply them. When our baggage was burned at Canton, Mississippi, our brigade lost nearly everything. The creek that separates our advanced lines from the rest of the army is now falling although still very high."

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE.

Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, That the Congress of the Confederate States be requested to repeal that portion of the conscript act authorizing substitution in the army, and that our Senators be instructed and Representatives requested to urge the repeal of that portion of said act as early a day as possible; and that the Governor transmit a copy of this resolution to Congress at its next session.

Approved Nov. 18, 1863.

Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, That the Senators of the Confederate States Congress from this State be instructed, and the Representatives from the different districts be requested to urge before Congress, the passage of an act requiring the appointment of an agent or agents on the part of the Confederate States to visit the different portions of the State of Mississippi, for the purpose of auditing, adjusting and paying off certificates and receipts given persons therein for provisions and other property impressed and used by order of Confederate States officers, and also pay off the amounts due the families or legal heirs of deceased soldiers.

Approved Nov. 20, 1863.

Northern News.

A dispatch to a New York paper states Meade is moving southward; that he has occupied Madison Court House; that his operations look like a flank movement; and that Federal cavalry have got into the rear of Lee's forces. Our correspondent in the Army of the Potomac, under date of Saturday, states that the report of the rebels falling back is probably incorrect, nothing has transpired to cause such a movement.

Washington advices state that no fear are entertained for the safety of Burnside. There is probably nothing more known about Burnside at Washington than there is at Chicago. An official order is promulgated superseding Burnside by Foster.

Upon the arrival of Gen. Banks' expedition in Texas, the rebels threw the guns of Fort Brown into the river, and burned the greater part of Brownsville. The Federal flag was raised over Brownsville by the 94th Illinois, and, at last accounts, several Federal regiments had arrived at that point. Gen. Banks, it is stated, needs more men. The Mexicans on the border are in considerable of a squabble. The N. Y. Tribune states that the President and Cabinet are engaged in the consideration of the question of reunion, and that the President has matured a "practical plan," which "practical plan" is, that "None of the vagrant States shall come back with a slave constitution." The President has a queer idea of practicality.

It is announced that Chief Justice Taney has placed his resignation in the hands of the President, and that Secretary Chase has been selected to fill the vacancy. "Old Abe" is anxious to get rid of rivals for the Presidential nomination.

The "government" having prohibited the distillation of whisky in Kentucky, and having fixed the price of hay in Missouri, has seized all the cotton in New Orleans,—requiring the owners to prove that they purchased it from "loyal" parties. There is nothing like "freedom."

LOST! LOST!!

A MOROCCO POCKET BOOK, containing one $100 Hoyer & Ludwick Confederate note; two $50 notes, and about two hundred dollars in $5, $10, and $20 notes. One hundred dollars in Mississippi Treasury ($5 and $10) notes. One $10 note of Tennessee money. Besides some small bills, passes, memorandums, &c. The money has been entrusted to my care, and I can ill afford to lose it.

LOST NOTE.

A NOTE of hand, given by F. J. Tristram to E. B. Anderson, of Hoover, dated January 20th, 1863, for eighty dollars. All persons are forewarned against trading for the same, and the maker do not pay it to any person except myself.

Nov. 28, 1863.

5000 REWARD.

On Saturday, November 29, we gave our negro boy, SHELBY, a pass to look for a stray mule in the vicinity of Canton. On Saturday night we learned that he had gone as far as the Confederate pickets on the Yazoo road, by whom he was stopped. He then turned back towards Canton, but has not since been heard of, and we have reason to believe has run away.

Said boy is about 17 years old; black complexion; five feet, six or seven inches high; will weigh about 145 lbs., and is a smart, intelligent fellow. He was purchased from Mrs. German, of Silver creek, Yazoo county.

The above reward will be given for his apprehension and delivery to us at Jackson, or safe judgment in jail so that we get him, together with the mule, which is a large, mouse-colored horse, six or seven years old, bought of Mr. Lambeth, of Yazoo county.

Address either of us at Jackson, Miss.

HEADQUARTERS JACKSON'S CAVALRY DIV. J. JACKSON, MISS., NOV. 28, 1863.

Circular.]

To the Citizens of Leake and Madison:

The Brigadier General commanding this division calls upon you for assistance in repairing the N. O. & G. N. R. R. to Pearl River. The benefits which will accrue to you from the speedy completion of this road, are well known to you, having for years prospered with it. Let the demands of your country and your own interests, induce you to send forward your negroes, without his having to resort to impressment. They will only be for this special work, and the moment it is finished they will be returned to you.

Send forward immediately to Capt. T. S. Williams, Superintendent, N. O. & G. N. R. R., at Canton, Miss., or deliver to Light. W. W. Keith, 28th Reg. Miss. Cav'y, who is now in your midst, as many of your able bodied negro men as you spare for this work, and receipts will be given you by them. If you desire to do so, send your overseers or agents along with them, to attend to their treatment and welfare.

Let them bring their blankets; rations will be furnished by the government.

In all cases where receipts are given, the officer giving them must take name and full descriptive lists of the negro, date he received him, and the name of the owner and his residence.

By command of Brig. Gen. JACKSON.
