CARLOAD OF WOOD WAS SHIPPED TODAY

No Doubt That the Experiment Will Prove Successful—Big Mill Will Be Located on Leaf or Boule River, Near the City.

Hattiesburg is entertaining today the representative of a large eastern paper mill, with the probability that a large paper manufacturing concern may soon be located on the banks of Leaf or Boule river tributary to the city.

The gentleman in question, whose name the Daily News is not at liberty to divulge, is shipping today a car load of yellow pine to a New York paper mill for experiment—

It is understood that the promoters of the proposed mill have already made a bargain with a large local lumber company for all of its refuse, consisting chiefly of the sap wood from large logs and the crooked cuts and branches.

Much discussion has recently appeared in the technical and trade journals regarding the availability of pine pulp for paper manufacture.
