National Committee's Letter to Editors.

To the Editors:

There are no secrets in this campaign. Strictly practicing what he preaches, Mr. Bryan would not win victory with tainted money paying the election expenses.

Not a dollar is to be accepted which requires any promise, either expressed or implied, other than for HONEST, IMPARTIAL GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Bryan will enter the White House absolutely free from entangling alliances, free to serve all classes of honest citizens alike, or he will not enter at all.

Hence the course is plain. The campaign of Bryan and Kern must be conducted by the people.

The people must pay the necessary campaign expenses if they want public servants who will serve their interests.

Special interests and favored classes, having secured "SWOLLEN FORTUNES" by purchasing favors in the past with MILLIONS CONTRIBUTED TO CONTROL ELECTIONS, stand ready to give MILLIONS MORE FOR CONTINUED FAVORS. But that class never gives a dollar unless it buys a pledge.

Mr. Bryan says, from March 4, 1909, "LET THE PEOPLE RULE." This can come only if the people pay their own bills, and control their own elections.

"BEWARE OF THE TRUSTS 'BEARING GIFTS.'" That policy of the favored few buying a mortgage on the government meant that the candidate for president knew a few people only in an entire state.

Bryan says, "We will take the cause of PEOPLE'S RULE home to the people, and will know people in every county."

You can serve the grand cause of popular government.

Your paper reaches the fireside of the patriot who loves his country for his country's GOOD; as distinguished from the greedy possessor of swollen fortunes who loves his country only for his country's GOODS.

Please carry this letter in BOLD TYPE at the masthead of your paper.

Asking every one who favors government by the people to pay you, at once, as many dollars as he can spare to aid the campaign for BRYAN, KERN AND PEOPLE'S RULE. You forward these gifts of honest hearts and homes every two weeks to the treasurer of the Democratic national committee, with the name of each contributor and amounts given. The treasurer will forward you a certificate like the copy inclosed for each one, asking you to deliver these certificates.

Once more, you should be a part of the great organization bearing the Lamp of Light to every nook and corner of Free America.

Our country is for the people; its government must be by the people

Sincerely,
 NORMAN E. MACK,
 Chairman Democratic National Committee.
 M. C. WETMORE,
 Chairman Finance Committee.
 C. N. HASKELL,
 Treasurer.

Washington Day By Day.

Hearst News Service.

Washington, September 5.—There is little indication that the silver-tongued Joe Blackburn, of Kentucky, will be heard on the hustings this campaign. Since he fell out of the senate and into the Isthmian Canal Commission, with headquarters in the Canal Zone, he has lost interest in common politics. But Blackburn was a great campaigner in his day, and there was a time when it was hard to keep him from speaking. It is related of him that he was once present at a hanging in Kentucky, and in those days a hanging was looked upon as a public holiday. It was a public performance, and was attended by all citizens, men, women and children, and the farmers, with their hired hands and families, drove in from miles around. There was a great crowd when the condemned man was asked at the last moment if he had anything to say, he shook his head negatively, whereupon, Blackburn, mounted the platform and said:

"Mr. Sheriff, if the gentleman concedes his time, I desire to make a few remarks on the political issues of the day," and launched forth into a speech that held his great audience for an hour and a half. The sheriff proceeded with the hanging, but the assemblage took no interest in it. They all preferred to hear Blackburn.

Another old campaigner who will probably not take much part in the campaign this year, "Old Figgers" Grosvenor, of Ohio. Like Blackburn he was once an irrepressible spell-binder. Wherever two or three gathered together in the name of anybody, there was Grosvenor to make a speech. He was present one evening at a large church wedding. When the officiating minister had announced that if any man knew of any objection to the marriage he should speak then or forever afterward hold his peace, Grosvenor waited for a moment or two during the solemn pause that ensued, and then arose in his place and said:

"As no one seems inclined to take advantage of this opportunity, I desire to say a few words in connection with the coming campaign in this state," and for the next 30 minutes the wedding ceremony ceased until Grosvenor finished his remarks.

Gaines—John Wesley Gaines, of Tennessee—the gay and debonair, the brilliant and the bald, is another un-squelchable orator and much more audacious than either Blackburn or Grosvenor.

Probably the most characteristic story every told about Gaines is connected with the time he went up into Maine to be the best man at the wedding of the daughter of Dingley, the tariff apostle. Gaines got up there on time, all right, but the bridegroom missed the train and the wedding had to be postponed until the following night. Gaines did not propose to waste any time, so he went down town, hired a hall for the evening, called at a printing office and ordered a thousand posters stuck up over town. These posters read: "Free Trade! Free Trade! Free Trade! Down with the protection of monopolies. Come out out tonight and hear the gospel of tariff reform expounded by that champion of the people, the brilliant young statesman from Tennessee, John Wesley Gaines. Admission free. Seats reserved for ladies. The band will be in attendance.

Then Gaines hired the town band that evening delivered to a packed house one of the strongest anti-protection speeches ever made in the state of Maine. He made a hit with the people, but it is said that Mr. Dingley never did appreciate the joke. He and Gaines were really the only two who never did see the joke of it.

A special committee to provide for the entertainment of the women delegates and visitors to the International Tuberculosis Congress, which will convene in Washington, September 21, has been appointed by the local officials, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George M. Sternberg, wife of the former surgeon general of the army. The offices of the committee will be in the central department of the congress in the Smithsonian Museum.

Included in this committee will be sub-committees to arrange for the comfort and convenience of guests speaking different languages. Miss Sophie Stebert has been chosen chairman of the committee on foreign guests speaking German; Mrs. W. C. Chancellor, of the committee on guests speaking French; Mme Quesade, of the committee on guests speaking Spanish, and Mrs. Charles J. Bell, on the committee on guests speaking English.

Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary general of the congress is much elated over the announcement made by the German government through the Department of State, that Prof. Dr. Robert Koch, discoverer of the tubercle bacillus and the cholera germ, will attend the congress as the official representative of the German empire. Dr. Koch with Prof. Dr. Martin Kirschmer, of Kutusministerium, and Prof. Dr. Wilhelm Oliver von Loupe, professor in the Royal University of Wurzburg, Bavaria, will head the German delegation of 35 members.

Word has been received through the State Department that Dr. F. B. Herbitz has been appointed the official representative of Norway. Dr. Camilo Calleje, the official representative of the Spanish crown, sailed for this country with his family on the Deutschland yesterday.

MR. MERCHANT.

Spend thousands a year on rent and electric light and experienced salesmen and then squeeze out a niggardly hundred or two on advertising; on telling the people that you have the store and the goods and the salesmen, all hanging around waiting. A retail store that spends $2,000 a year on rent, decorations and electric lights, ought at the very lowest estimate spent $2,000 a year on advertising.

On Some Occasions You Could Afford to Pay

One Dollar a Word For WANT Advertising

WANT ADVERTISING SPACE is about the lowest-priced thing of value you can buy in this city.

This phrase of the matter probably never occurred to you. But think it over. Suppose that the rate for want advertising in this newspaper were one dollar a word! A prohibitive rate, you say? Perhaps, for some classes of business.

But if you were compelled to sell real estate, a dollar a word for an ad. would still be a profit-returning rate for you if it found the best market for your property. It would be a cheap rate for a Situation Wanted ad. if it found twice as good a job for you as you have ever had. It would be a profitable way to secure a tenant for vacant property.

In fact, perhaps half of the want ads. would pay their advertisers at a dollar a word—and a great many of them would be paid for at that rate if this newspaper charged that rate.

The purpose of this comparison is not to announce any advance in the want advertising rates—but to bring to your mind the fact that want adv. space, as now sold, is a genuine 'bargain'
