CANADIAN ELECTIONS ARE LACKING IN INTEREST

Last Week of Campaign Finds the Voters Apathetic and No Excitement Anywhere.

GOVERNMENT WILL BE WELL SUSTAINED

The Election Follows the Dissolution of the Eleventh Canadian Parliament and the Main Question is the Size of the Government's Majority.

Hearst News Service.

Ottawa, Ont., October 19.—With nominations closing today an dthe general parliamentary election set for next Monday, the Dominion enters upon the last week of the political campaign following the dissolution of the Eleventh Parliament of Canada. No great public agitation has marked the campaign, and the warfare has been carried on principally in the newspapers, with the voters at large manifesting little interest. Opposition leaders are hopeful of victory, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier views the result as only a matter of the size of the majority for his government.

From present appearances, it seems likely that the government will be easily sustained, although its big majority in the late house will be considerably cut down. This, nevertheless, gives Liberals no cause for anxiety or even regret, as that majority was somewhat too unwieldy.

The standing of the two parties in the house last session by provinces was: Ontario—Liberals, 23; Conservatives, 47; Quebec—Liberals, 54; Conservatives, 11. Nova Scotia—Liberals, 17; Conservatives, 1. New Brunswick—Liberals, 8; Conservatives, 5. Manitoba—Liberals 7; Conservatives, 3. Saskatchewan—Liberals, 5; Conservatives, 1. Alberta—Liberals, 1; Conservatives, 1. Prince Edward Island—Liberals, 1; Conservatives, 3. Yukon—1 Conservative.

This gave a total Liberal vote in the House of Commons of 140 as against 74 conservatives, the majority for the government being 66. In the new house there will be seven more members than the last, who, by reason of the great increase in population in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, have been added to the representation from those new provinces.

There is no important issue between the contending parties, and the Conservatives have no vital or attractive public question upon which to arouse the independent voters. Both political parties are agreed upon their present fiscal policy, both being in accord upon the principle of protection. The present administration has been in office for twelve years, and for want of a better slogan its rivals are declaring that it is "time for a change." In the absence of any good reason being shown why a change of government should be brought about, the cry does not attract much attention.

The present Liberal government presents the strongest aggregation of public men that could be found in Canada today. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is pre-eminently the one man in the hearts of the great majority of Canadians. What Sir John A. Macdonald was to the country in the hey-day of Conservative power, so stands Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but more unique and even more powerful, amidst the great achievements and triumphs of Liberal government at the present time. No Conservative statesman since the days of Macdonald has been able to capture and maintain public opinion in his favor or confidence in the line of Conservative policy, but the day of Conservative triumph is not far distant now.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that their origin in an common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by Hays & Field and Yellow Pine Pharmacy. oct

VANDERBILT CUP RACE TO BE GOOD ONE

Hearst News Service.

New York, October 19.—One of the biggest events of the year in motor-circuit will be the Vanderbilt Cup race, which will be held Saturday over the new Long Island Motor Parkway course and necessary adjoining roads, making the most nearly perfect course ever supplied for such a contest of speed. A stretch of eleven miles of the new parkway is now completed, and the balance of the twenty-eight miles circuit has been put into the best of condition. It is alleged to be possible for cars to maintain an average speed of seventy miles an hour over this course.

FOOTBALL CALENDAR

New York, October 19.—Among the important football games scheduled for this week, only two will be played on Wednesday. Princeton will play Fordham on that date, and the Annapolis Naval Academy eleven has a contest arranged with the University of Maryland. These will be the last two week games to be played by important colleges the balance of the year's schedule, except for Thanksgiving day and a game between the Navy and George Washington on October 28, providing for Saturday games only.

Three games of more or less importance, which will afford a line on the football strength of some of the big colleges, will be played next Saturday. These are the Pennsylvania-Carlisle game at Philadelphia, the Princeton-Syracuse contest at Princeton and the Harvard-Navy game at Annapolis. The football fans will turn out in force at all of these struggles, since they are among the first of the season between really big colleges. Other games scheduled for Saturday in the east are Yale vs. Washington and Jefferson at New Haven; Cornell vs. Vermont at Ithaca, and West Point vs. Colgate at West Point.

Next Saturday will be an off day in western football circles, so far as important games are concerned. The University of Michigan will invade the Buckeye State for a game with Ohio State University at Columbus, but the Ann Arbor eleven seems assured of an easy victory. The Haskell Indians will play Nebraska at Lincoln, and Iowa will meet Morningside at Sioux City.

MOTHERS ASSEMBLY

Hearst News Service.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., October 19.—In many a household of the Empire State this week the husband and father will have to assume the maternal and housewifely duties, while his "better half" is giving her fellow-members of the New York State Assembly of Mothers some inside information on how to raise children and manage a husband. The assembly will not begin its sessions until tomorrow, but already many women are on the scene. Among the principal speakers will be Miss Richmond, representing an organization called "The Big Brothers," and Miss Sara Arnold, of Simmons College. This will be the twelfth annual meeting of the State Assembly of Mothers.

PRINCESS TO BE A BRIDE

Hearst News Service.

Berlin, October 19.—Princess Adelaide, of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Gluecksburg, today celebrated her 19th birthday by making a royal entrance into Berlin, preparatory to her marriage next Thursday to her cousin, Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of Emperor William. The arrival of the beautiful princess was marked by all the traditional pomp employed when new brides are admitted to the imperial family of the Hohenzollerns. The marriage between the prince and princess was arranged by the kaiser, but the young people are said to have acquiesced willingly. The wedding day will also mark the 50th birthday of the Empress.

WILLIAMS MAKES REPLY TO TREASURER EDWARDS

If I could, try to foist "worthless security" on the State, and I am sure that none believe that either the Governor or Attorney General would be a party to it, if I would. Pray tell me why they should? Neither of these gentlemen are under the slightest obligations to me, either personally or politically. What motive could impel them to forget their oaths of office, as they would do if what you declare to be true? I hold any citizen who would knowingly offer "worthless security" to the State to be an unworthy citizen, and any officer aiding him to wrong the State ought to be impeached.

If "surety bonds" are "worthless security" then every member of the Legislature who voted for the law authorizing it to be taken deserves condemnation; every Governor who signed the bill authorizing such security to be given by the State, county and municipal treasurers and officers deserves condemnation, every treasurer of the State, county or city, who has given such security for public money has been recreant to his trust the people reposed in him.

THE STATE'S PROTECTION.

Is it possible that when the people elected men to the Legislature, because of confidence in them, that they would be willing to authorize "worthless security" for their money, and yet (just as it has made it mandatory on the Depository Board to accept it) they made it mandatory on the State Treasurer to give surety company bonds, for the safe keeping of the people's money, made by one of these surety companies (possibly the very one offered by this bank, for the safe keeping of about one-fourteenth as much as was held by you), and you only refrained from giving this "worthless security" because the surety companies would not make the bond; and even now, you have not put up bonds or collateral with "a known value the world over," but you have secured the State by the same character of security this bank offers under the law, and which you characterize as a mere "bit of action" i. e., by a bond guaranteeing your faithful accounting for money of the State, the only difference being that you have a bond for $100,000, signed by sureties who qualified under the law, when you would have in hand nearly a million and a half dollars, and this bank offers a bond for $110,000, signed by a surety who has qualified under the law, when it can not have over $100,000, in hand as a maximum, and will not have over an average of $45,000. I submit to you that "the money of the people" is as well protected in the one case as the other, as, I presume, we are both equally honest, to say nothing of the fact that this bank has back of it a capital of $400,000 and a surplus of $55,000 more.

I wish so many of our public men would not act on the assumption that the people of this State are fools, when, in truth and fact, they are, as a whole, about as intelligent and quick as the average public man.

I have done nothing to have had the name of this bank, and my own, continually brought before the public in newspapers articles and interviews by you, with a covert reflection upon my motives. I have merely tracked the law, in applying for this bank to be designated as a State depository, and in complying with the law, when so designated, and have asked nothing of you but that you should obey the law as you have sworn to do.

Now, my good friend, I have written you probably at wearying length, but in the utmost good humor and, without the desire to wound or hurt, I sincerely trust that you may see that you are in error. This bank is a State depository, legally appointed and qualified, and as its president I am only demanding its due. You have made your protest against the law, now comply with its terms, for you must recognize that there none so high in this State as to be authorized to ignore its laws, and none so low as to not receive the protection of them.

I would be recreant to the trust reposed in me not to maintain the clear rights of this bank and without the slightest personal ill to you, I intend to do it just as I would if you were my brother, flagrantly defying and violating the law.

You have seen fit to place me in a position where I can not do otherwise than insist, for I do not, and will not even impliedly, acknowledge that this bank has sought to do a wrong to the State, when it has only obeyed the law.

I merely suggest to you that any loss suffered by this bank for failure on your part to do your duty under the law is recoverable from you and the sureties on your official bond.

Trusting you will pardon the length of this letter and receive it in the spirit it is written, I am, yours very truly,

C. H. WILLIAMS, President.
