SHERMAN IS 36 YEARS OLD

Republican Candidate For Vice President Celebrates His Birthday at Home.

Hearst News Service. Utica, N. Y., October 24.—James Schoolcraft Sherman, Congressman, Republican candidate for the vice-presidency and Utica's most famous and honored citizen is today celebrating his 36th birthday. A host of congratulatory messages were sent to the candidate by friends and admirers all over the country.

Although Mr. Sherman has been the subject of many attacks based on his record in the house, these criticisms have never had any effect upon his popularity in Utica. At the notification meeting in this city, people of all parties joined in the greatest demonstration in the history of the city. Mr. Sherman was born in Utica and has lived here all his life, and his rise to fame is a matter of the greatest local pride.

Mr. Taft's running mate first saw the light of day in this city, on October 24, 1855, the son of Gen. Richard U. Sherman and Mary Frances Sherman. He was educated at Hamilton College, and graduated therefrom in 1878. He subsequently studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1884 and was chairman of the Republican state convention in 1895 and in 1900. He served as member of congress from the 23rd New York district in 1887-91, from the 25th district in 1893-1903, and was elected from the 27th district in 1903. He was regarded by Speaker Reed as one of the best presiding officers among the members of the House. Sherman has a peculiar voice, thin but strong and penetrating, cutting through all the noise of the House so as to be heard distinctly without any apparent effort on his part, and indeed at a conversational pitch, to the remotest corner of the great galleries. He never wasted any words or any time, but carried business on rapidly, skillfully and accurately. His parliamentary decisions were clear, crisp and correct, according to Mr. Reed's view, and were always delivered decisively and with dignity. The personal integrity, the candid manner and the pleasant and obliging disposition, which with his humor and good spirits made him so popular with men of all parties on the floor, helped him greatly as presiding officer of the House, which will support a man it likes even when it would criticize a man it did not like for doing the very same thing.

As chairman of the committee on Indian affairs Mr. Sherman has shown in the committee room and on the floor how to be suave in manner while firm in act, and to settle hot disputes without alienating friends. Mr. Sherman is a good manager of a measure on the floor, thanks to his knowledge of the rules and practice and his skill as a debater. He is one of the orators of the House, though his oratory is of the modern, practical and business like character rather than the old-fashioned flowery Columbian style.

He is a business man rather than a scholar, and has no unusual literary attainments. Nor is he a wit or an epigram maker or an anecdote teller. Yet he commands the attention of the House, for he never speaks unless he has something to say, and then as master of the subject, and with no superfluous words or gestures.

Mr. Sherman is attractive in appearance. He has a short, straight, sturdy figure, rather stout than thin, and looks taller than he really is because he holds himself so well and has so much natural dignity. He has a round, handsome face, with a clear, youthful complexion, real rosy cheeks, keen, dark eyes behind eyeglasses, and thick, silky black hair, with short black whiskers. He has a very agreeable expression, a kind smile and prepossessing manners. Health, mental and physical, beams from his countenance and grips in his handshake.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD.

More Alert, More Thorough and More Fearless Than Ever.

A President of the United States will be elected this year. Who is he and who is the man whom he will beat? Nobody yet knows, but the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World will tell you every step and every detail of what promises to be a campaign of the most absorbing interest. It may not tell you what you hope, but it will tell you what is. The Thrice-a-Week World long ago established a character for impartiality and fearlessness in the publication of news, and this it will maintain. If you want the news as it really is subscribe to the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World, which comes to you every other day except Sunday, and is thus practically a daily at the price of a weekly.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers, we offer this unequalled newspaper and The Hattiesburg News together for one year for $5.00.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $7.00.
