

Business holds up well in spite of the lateness of the season, but of course the general situation is one of dullness. Looking ahead to the fall trade from the present standpoint the prospect is encouraging. We have confidence in the prophecy that the next season's business will prove not only large but highly remunerative.

VICKSBURG PRICE CURRENT.

Table listing various commodities such as Cotton, Bagging and Ties, Provisions, Chickens and Eggs, and Flour and Grain, with their respective prices.

THE BATTLE OF THE '48S AND '60S. The storm is brewing; the ominous clouds, black as ink, are gathering o'er head, and will burst when in full volume, showering discontent and disaffection in the midst of the wrangling office seeking Radical horde, and it will require a bold heart, a strong arm, clear head and steady nerve to withstand the effect.

appointment carried with it respectability and a certain amount of influence to the party. It was a master stroke because it brought a soldier from the opposition army. But in making selections from his own party does Governor Alcorn find the rock upon which he and his party are liable to split.

What is true of Warren county is true of every county in the State. The seeds of dissension have been sown and they will soon burst into a most luxuriant growth. The hand writing is on the wall. The seal of condemnation has been affixed.

Weak-kneed, office-seeking and corrupt Democrats, who have sloughed off and gone to the Radicals for the crumbs which fall from the great table of State, finding that there is no Political Messiah who can command the five loaves and seven little fishes to satisfy the craving of the famishing and hungry thousands, will soon be creeping back into the party with the same sycophancy with which they grovelled their way into the Radical camps.

Next, we have the removal of Col. Furlong, Sheriff of the county, and the appointment of Mr. Jno. B. Raymond. It is notorious that Mr. Raymond, at one time in the history of the Dent campaign, went heart and soul with that movement, while Col. Furlong remained true to the original faith.

Another impolitic move was forcing Capt. Fisher to retire from the editorial management of the Pilot and the substitution of Mr. Hewsom, the intimate and bosom friend of the Governor and who very plainly intimates that he will be assisted in his editorial duties by the Governor himself.

There was genuine Statesmanship and political acumen evinced in the appointment of Judge Simrall, because he had not clearly and officially allied himself before the public, with the party, and his spite, envy, malice, distrust and other bad passions, and have constant use for the prayer, "Lead me not into temptation." Thrice every day, with his face to the East, on bended knees, the holy prophet prayed to his God "Give me a clean heart and renew a right spirit within me." How often a man "swaying the destinies of the State, prays for grace and heavenly unction, cannot be known. The cares of State, are not apt to leave much time for prayer. Ambition is exacting, eats up the soul."

No worse state of things can exist than that recorded in sacred writ and confirmed (if the word of God can be confirmed) by the history of all nations. Justin tells the whole story in few words in enumerating the source of Roman Laws and the downfall of Roman liberty: 1st. The voice of the people; then, because it was inconvenient to have popular votes, the consultum of the Senate; then the decree of the Tribunes, and last the edict of the Emperor.

How extremes meet? "Loveless is young ambition's ladder, Whereto the climber upward turns his face; But when he once attains his upward road, He then unto the ladder turns his back, Looks in the clouds, scornful the base degrees, 'By which he did ascend.'"

There is a remedy, an easy one. There is a sure defence for liberty. There is but one. The price of liberty is vigilance. We have the corrective in our own hands. Each man may secure himself and his children after him, and his children's children to the remotest time from bondage, corrupt influence, calumny, kitchen and backstair influences.

Republicans be true to your principles. We extended the right of suffrage. Let us not take away the subjects on which it ought to be exercised. Let us not give the people, white and black, an apple of the dead sea, beautiful to the sight, but all ashes within.

Amend the constitution; restore the rights of the people; cut off executive patronage. In this and in this alone is safety. The benefits would be great. The people would be alive to the dignity of their position. Public virtue would again bless our land; the gentle dew would descend again upon the parched field of our politics. Men would be rewarded by the people, as they have ever been for their mind.

LABORERS on an English railway lately found a thrush's nest under a rail, with the hen busily sitting on four eggs, distributed by the conductor of passing trains. The thrush's nest was found in the composing room yesterday.

to the point of production, and at the close of the season both country and city merchants have little or no stocks to carry over to next season. This condition of affairs affords a sound guarantee for the future. The New York Financial Chronicle gives some valuable information regarding our currency and banking system: Fifteen per cent. is the reserve which the law requires from all banks situated outside the financial centres. These institutions number 1,397. Their liabilities are 404 millions, and their reserve should, of course be 61 millions. The banks actually hold 92 millions, or half as much again as the strict letter of the law requires.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

to the point of production, and at the close of the season both country and city merchants have little or no stocks to carry over to next season. This condition of affairs affords a sound guarantee for the future. The New York Financial Chronicle gives some valuable information regarding our currency and banking system: Fifteen per cent. is the reserve which the law requires from all banks situated outside the financial centres. These institutions number 1,397. Their liabilities are 404 millions, and their reserve should, of course be 61 millions. The banks actually hold 92 millions, or half as much again as the strict letter of the law requires.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

to the point of production, and at the close of the season both country and city merchants have little or no stocks to carry over to next season. This condition of affairs affords a sound guarantee for the future. The New York Financial Chronicle gives some valuable information regarding our currency and banking system: Fifteen per cent. is the reserve which the law requires from all banks situated outside the financial centres. These institutions number 1,397. Their liabilities are 404 millions, and their reserve should, of course be 61 millions. The banks actually hold 92 millions, or half as much again as the strict letter of the law requires.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

to the point of production, and at the close of the season both country and city merchants have little or no stocks to carry over to next season. This condition of affairs affords a sound guarantee for the future. The New York Financial Chronicle gives some valuable information regarding our currency and banking system: Fifteen per cent. is the reserve which the law requires from all banks situated outside the financial centres. These institutions number 1,397. Their liabilities are 404 millions, and their reserve should, of course be 61 millions. The banks actually hold 92 millions, or half as much again as the strict letter of the law requires.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.

THE UNITED STATES ECONOMIST OF NEW YORK, says of the spring trade: A review of the spring trade shows that on the whole it was more satisfactory than was anticipated. The volume of transactions has been very nearly up to the average of former years. Prices as compared with last year range from 10 to 15 per cent. lower, a fact that necessarily diminishes profits.