The Vicksburg Herald

Sunday Morning, November 25.

PRESIDENT BARTLETT, of Dartmouth College, in a letter to the Boston School Committee, says: "I believe in giving our daughters the best and highest education, and therefore, I believe firmly in giving them a separate and special education. Co-education may answer during the period of childhood, and the earlier stages of instruction; it may be necessarily and safely continued to a period in the limited circumstances and watchful guardianship of a country village; and under exceptional conditions may proceed, perhaps, in the higher range of study. But so soon and so far as the distinctive traits of manhood and womanhood begin strongly to develop and assert themselves, the physical, intellectual and moral necessities of the case seem to me to demand a difference of method and separateness of daily study, recitation and intercourse."

Purity, Strength, Economy.

These three requisites are combined in DOOLEY'S Well-known YEAST POWDER. A few trials will convince you that it is not only the best, but also the cheapest.

IF Charles Sumner had lived a few years longer he might have been a good deal cut up by the assault upon his veracity made by General Grant and Mr. Fish, but his continuance in this vale of tears would not have been without its compensations. Many of his theories have since his death taken on the shape of reality. We all remember what a storm was caused by his proposition to erase the names of the battles of the civil war from the regimental colors of the regular army, and how the Massachusetts Legislature resented it by a vote of censure. The Secretary of War has now done something of the same kind, in ordering that all mention of battles shall hereafter be omitted from the Army Register. Most of these battles were fought during the great rebellion, but many came along in the wars of 1812 and 1847-8. The change was probably made not from the pacific motives that animated Sumner, but because we fight so many battles nowadays that the list was beginning to be burdensome to the volume. All the same, it is a wonder that somebody has not made a row about it, either in Congress or through the press.—[Philadelphia Times.

The Senate then, by a vote of yeas 29, nays 32, refused to lay on the table the resolution of Mr. Thurman, to discharge the Committee on Privileges and Elections from further consideration of the credentials of M. C. Butler, as Senator from South Carolina. Messrs. Davis, of Illinois; Conover, of Florida, and Patterson, of South Carolina, voted with the Democrats in the negative. The question then being on the adoption of the resolution, Mr. Edmunds, of Vermont, moved to amend the resolution, so as to discharge the Committee from further consideration of the credentials of Mr. Kellogg as Senator from Louisiana, instead of Mr. Butler, as Senator from South Carolina. Upon this motion a debate followed.

Dr. Price's Pet Rose

Is charming—the fragrance of sweet blossoms. Dr. Price's Alista Bouquet is delicately delightful—the odor of dainty buds. The most exquisite perfumes for the handkerchief. For sale by all dealers in choice toilet articles.

ALWAYS take a rope into your room at the hotel. It may enable you to slide out even if there is no fire. A big board bill is just about as bad as a conflagration.

A LITTLE AHEAD.—Pendleton seems to be only a little way ahead of Gen. Morgan for the Ohio Senatorship.—[N. Y. Herald.

J. Alexander.] Chloe Anderson's dam was sired by William of Transport, her dam, Butterfly, by Sumpter, her dam by Imported Buzzand, her dam by Dandridges Fearnought, her dam by Imported James. Bombay ran several races, his last race was run on Ohio Derby, at Cincinnati, winning the race and beating Grit, Harry Hill, Malmistic, Linsmore, Nina Douglass, Goleaburg and Lady Mack. Pratt's Improved

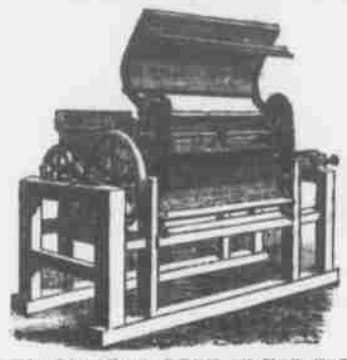
'REVOLVING HEAD' COTTON GIN.

PATENTED JULY 15, 1873.

Price Reduced to $4.50 Per Saw.



THIS GIN HAS BEEN IN USE FOR the past four seasons, and several recent improvements have been added. It obviates all friction at the ends of the cotton-box, prevents the roll from breaking, and gives a larger yield of lint from the same amount of seed than any other Gin in use. The Revolving Head lightens the draft, and causes the Gin to run faster with less driving power, thus doing a great deal more work within the same time, while economizing steam or animal power, than any other Gin. The seed being ginned very close, the length of the staple is increased, producing cotton on this account of a greater market value. This improved value, given by length of staple, with extra production of lint, added to increased amount of work done, more than covers the cost of the Gin in every one hundred bales ginned.
