T. S. COLLINS, Sergeant Signal Service, U. S. A.

MISCELLANEOUS.

All quiet on the levee last night, no boats being due. The Sunflower Delta departed with a good freight trip. The Yazoo is lying at the wharf receiving an overhauling.

The Prevention of a Terrible Disaster.

No disorders, excepting the most deadly forms of lung disease, involve such a tremendous destruction of organic tissue as those which fasten upon the kidneys.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE.

Quiet as Sensitive.

The sense of smell of the American people is quite as sensitive as those of any country—and certainly, when this faculty is tutored, perfumes may be made in America as excellent as those which come from abroad.

Nervous Debility.

VITAL WEAKNESS OR DEPRESSION; a weak, exhausted feeling, no energy or courage; the result of mental overwork, indiscretions or excesses, or some drain upon the system, is always cured by HUMPHREY'S HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFIC No. 25.

The members of the Press Association received an invitation from Col. Martin Keary yesterday, to take an excursion on the P. F. Geisse to the National Cemetery, and around the Island, which was accepted, and at 4 p.m. the boat left the landing with about 150 guests, among whom were many ladies, and carried them to the National Cemetery, where the guests went ashore, and were soon admiring the beauties of the Cemetery, and which one and all pronounced the prettiest place in the State.

Mississippi Press Association.

FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Mississippi Press Association met in its Thirteenth Annual Convention at Klein's Hall, and was called to order, at 12 m., by the President, W. J. L. Holland, who delivered the following address:

PRESIDENT HOLLAND'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the Mississippi Press Association: In calling your distinguished body to order there is every reason why I should greet you with words of congratulation.

It is my duty to call attention to the fact that the Press Association of the State has been organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of journalism in this State.

It is my duty to call attention to the fact that the Press Association of the State has been organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of journalism in this State.

WOULD SUGGEST, THAT YOU LOOK TO YOUR OWN RESOURCES.

By adopting rates for legal advertising, fair and equitable as between publishers and advertiser, and adhering to them strictly, your honorable body would have accomplished the result which the Legislature has, time and again, made bold to deny you.

At your last Convention you adopted a resolution authorizing me, as your representative, to correspond with the Press Association in the several States in the Union, with a view of organizing a National Press Association.

I am glad to report that all with whom I have corresponded have exhibited every inclination to co-operate with you.

The melancholy duty falls to me to announce to this body the death of A. G. Ellis. This sad and unexpected event took place at his residence in Scooba, Mississippi.

The deceased was selected by you at your last Convention to deliver the Annual Oration on this occasion, an honor less creditable to you than merited by him.

It is my duty to call attention to the fact that the Press Association of the State has been organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of journalism in this State.

THE CONVENTION BEING DULY ORGANIZED.

On motion of Col. Geo. W. Harper, Rev. W. K. Douglas, D. D., was elected assistant Chaplain for the reorganization.

Prayer was then offered by the Chaplain, Rev. J. B. Gambrell. The following letter from Mrs. Hebron was read:

June 3, 1878. C. E. Wright, Esq., Vicksburg, Miss: Respected Sir—Owing to a series of circumstances which I could neither avoid nor control, such as home-sickness, illness in my family, want of help, etc., I am debarred the honored privilege of writing a poem for the Press Convention, or of attending the same.

I am glad to report that all with whom I have corresponded have exhibited every inclination to co-operate with you.
