AMERICAN JEWISH CONGRESS Honors U.S. ATTORNEY GENERAL ALGER HISS

President Hiss, appareling as a guest speaker, was given a standing ovation by the assembly in the First Unitarian Church on Friday afternoon, when the American Jewish Congress honored him with its annual award for outstanding contributions to American-Jewish relations. The Congress, which was organized in 1889, includes representatives from all parts of the United States and Canada.

The award was presented to President Hiss by Rabbi J. substituting for Rabbi A. C. de S. O. N. at the ceremony.

In his acceptance speech, President Hiss said that he was "deeply honored" by the award and that it was "a fitting climax to the many contributions which the Jewish community has made to the country." He also thanked the Congress for its "generous and kind hospitality." (Continued on Page Five)

Judge Orders Grand Jury Indictment Of James Meredith

A grand jury indicted Thursday four persons—two Negroes and two whites—in connection with the Meredith case. The indictment was brought by the District Attorney, who announced that the charges were based on evidence that the defendants had conspired to prevent the Negro student from attending the University of Mississippi.

The defendants are: Marlin S. Bethune, 28, a Negro; and William J. McEwan, 29, a white. Both were charged with conspiracy to prevent Meredith from entering the university and with violating the civil rights of the Negro student.

The indictment charged that the defendants had conspired to prevent Meredith from entering the university and that they had done so with the intent of preventing him from exercising his rights as a citizen.

MERIDETH SAID MAY VISIT PRES. DURING THANKSGIVING

Chicago, III., Nov. 17—A spokesman for the President said Thursday that President Kennedy would welcome Mr. Meredith, the Negro student who was prevented from entering the University of Mississippi last year, to visit the White House during Thanksgiving. The President was quoted as saying that he would be "pleased" to receive Mr. Meredith and that he would make every effort to see that the student was given a "fair and honest" welcome.

The President's statement came in response to questions from members of the press who had asked whether the President would be willing to meet with Mr. Meredith.
