The Carp's Great Vitality.

The wonderful vitality and rapid growth of the German carp has just been singularly shown. About ten days ago a man driving along a road about eight miles from Newburg had his attention attracted by the flopping of some kind of fish in a mud puddle not more than three feet in circumference. Getting out of his wagon, he picked up what was to him a strange fish, and throwing it to the bottom of his vehicle, proceeded on his way to Newburg. For several days the fish, having been put in water, apparently none the worse for its jolting, was examined by the curious in Newburg, and no one knew what kind of a fish it was. At last it was determined that the nondescript should be sent to Mr. E. J. Blackford, the New York State Fish Commissioner, for identification. It was put in a small bait kettle and sent him to Mr. Blackford, receiving it yesterday, declared it, on sight, to be a fine specimen of the leather-back carp. On examining his books he found that last November, Mr. Lewis Beach, member of Congress, had received from Prof. Baird a number of small carp, which had been distributed to persons owning ponds in the neighborhood of the place where this one was found. This fish must certainly have been carried out of some preserve by the late flood and found a resting-place in the puddle by the roadside at the subsidence of the waters. Mr. Blackford at once placed the carp, which weighed three pounds, in one of his aquaria in Fulton Market, where it now lies disporting itself in the happiest way. From a weight of certainly not more than two ounces in last November—in ten months—this carp has grown two pounds fourteen ounces.

Why he Wept.

Yesterday afternoon a man stepped into a Main street barber shop to get shaved. While the barber was passing the steel over his face the man began to shed tears. This attracting the attention of the proprietor of the shop, he directed the manipulator of the razor to sharpen the implement. As the shave continued the man's tears flowed incessantly, and the barber continued to whet his tool, occasionally changing razors, and striving as diligently as possible to ameliorate the suffering of his customer.

"We are using the best razors in the shop, sir," said the man with the lather-cup. "Your face must be very tender. Does it pain you much?"

"A razor pens me! Do you suppose that a man who has been through the war shrinks from physical suffering?"

"Then what the deuce have you been blubberin' about?" quorried the boss.

"I got to thinking over bad news from the East. Another mother-in-law coming out to spend the winter. Here's the money for the shave."

"I shan't charge you a cent," said the barber sadly. "I never bleed a man's pocket when his heart's bowed down. Come in occasionally and mingle your tears with mine. I've got some mothers-in-law myself. Four, by thunder."

"That's what's going to make polygamy a failure in Utah," said the tearful man as he slammed the door. —[Salt Lake Tribune.

They are Strangers Now.

Hartford Times.

A Middletown young lady never tires of relating an amusing occurrence of the sleighing season last winter. She was enjoying a ride with two Hartford gentlemen, and she was driving. One of the gentlemen slyly inserted a hand in her muff and lovingly pressed her disengaged hand. She blushed and withdrew it just as the gentleman on the other side slipped his hand in the muff. She knew by the action of her adorers that the hand pressures were frequent and loving within the silk linings of the muff, for first one face and then the other would bob forward to catch a look at the sweet face and eyes that prompted, as they supposed, the tender pressure of the hand. The by-play lasted until the young lady quietly remarked: "If you gentlemen are through with my muff I will trouble you for it now, as my hands are getting cold." And the two gentlemen who had been comfortably warm for some time, suddenly felt an Arctic chill creeping up their spinal columns, and the mercury of their feelings dropped to 180 degrees below zero. The two gentlemen are strangers now.

Boys and Girls.

"If I had a dozen children I would want them all boys," said Mrs. Thrifty. "Boys can take care of themselves; they are energetic, enjoyable and it doesn't take half so much sewing to keep a family of boys all org."

"Now, if I should have any choice," said Mrs. Workhard, "I should rather have my children all girls. Girls are so gentle, so helpful, leave so much more refinement than boys; and then it is such a pleasure to sew for them."

"Very well, ladies," said Mrs. Sensible, "you are both right and wrong. I believe in a mixed family—part boys and part girls. The boys influence the girls to self-reliance; the girls refine the boys by their gentleness. A boy who is brought up with sisters makes the most manly man, and the girl who is brought up with brothers makes the most womanly woman."

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

Without exception, there is no remedy so strengthening in its effects as Brown's Iron Bitters.

If you wish to be strong and to enjoy the full exuberance of perfect, robust health, put your trust in Brown's Iron Bitters. It will not disappoint you.

A friend writes: "For years I suffered from physical exhaustion and declining health. Now I am as strong as iron. I used Brown's Iron Bitters."

Depend on Brown's Iron Bitters for strength of mind and body.

A Queer Character Gone.

John Talboy Binns, one of the most noted characters that ever entered the Philadelphia Almshouse, died in that institution Wednesday, aged sixty-nine years. Believing himself to be a woman, and affecting woman's ways, he was dubbed in the institution with the title of "Sallie" Binns. He was admitted February 16, 1853, and was at that time forty-one years of age. When a young man he joined an amatuer theatrical club, and the height of his ambition was to play female characters. He became quite a monomaniac on this subject, and his infatuation at last took upon itself a mild form of insanity, and for the greater part of his life he was thus affected. At all times and on all occasions he believed himself to be a dashing beauty, at whose feet scores of ardent suitors knelt, and upon whom society smiled with favor. Clad in feminine attire, whenever a ball or concert was given for the patients he was the centre of attraction. At all times he affected an effeminate voice in conversation, and acted in every respect like one of the female sex. The air of a woman never deserted him, and everybody who visited the house called on "Sallie" and purchased specimens of his handiwork, considering it a rare curiosity as coming from the hand of a man who considered himself to be a woman.—[Baltimore Sun.

Maj. Gordon, at Raymond yesterday, succeeded in buying the stock held by Hinds county in the Natchez and Jackson road.—Vicksburg Commercial.

This is a great mistake, and does injustice to Maj. Gordon, the railroad and Hinds county. Maj Gordon did not buy the Stock held by Hinds county. The county cannot sell its stock, and Maj. Gordon did not propose to buy at this time. He wished to know if he could buy at a future time, and was given to understand that he could under certain conditions, some of which conditions are not under his control.—Hinds County Gazette.

A Florida Alligator Story.

Jim Russell, a son of Major Russell, famous during the Florida war, now makes a precarious living in South Florida as a guide to visiting sportsmen. For a bounty of $2 Jim will dive into the current of the muddy St. John and bring up an alligator. He actually brings them out of their holes. Strange as this may seem it is the safest way to approach an alligator. They dig holes in the river banks just below the surface of the water, and crawl into them. Jim dives down, crawls in rapidly, and seizes the saurian by the tail, who, startled, immediately backs out. Jim holds on, keeping his legs stiff till clear of the bank, when he darts away, and 'gator, rising to the surface for an instant to see what is the matter, is slain by a waiting gunner in the boat. This has become common sport in the upper St. John River.—Jacksonville (Fla.) Times.

Mr. B. F. Porter, a rich banker in Utica N. Y., says "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters the past year, much to the chagrin of our family physician, for neither myself, wife nor little girls have since suffered from a single days illness. It is making us all robust and strong."

Chocolate buscuits: Mix some chocolate powder, with white of eggs, and powdered loaf sugar, into a paste. Mold this into biscuits and bake them at a gentle heat on a sheet of white paper.

The most important discovery has just been made in the neighborhood of Poiters, in France, where an entire Gallo-Roman town has been unearthed. It contains a temple 114 yards in length by 70 years in breadth, baths occupying two hectares, a theatre, the stage of which alone measures 90 yards, streets, houses and other buildings covering a space of nearly seven hectares, or about 17 acres. The cavications are being continued with further success, disclosing more edifices, sculpture in the very best style, and in good preservation—dating, it is thought from the second century—and a quantity of iron, bronze and earthern articles. M. Lisch, the inspector of historic monuments, is enthusiastic over this discovery, and declares that the town is a little Pompeii in the centre of France.

A Good Foundation.

In American households the prevailing complaints are weakness of the stomach and its consequences, Indigestion, Nervousness and Biliousness. Such sufferers can lay a good foundation for health by using Parker's Ginger Tonic and at once up the stomach and nerves, and keeps the kidneys active to carry off the foul matter.—[N. O. Picayune.

Great excitement was caused at Reading, in England, by the grand open air demonstration of the Salvation Army. The procession was headed by eleven girls dressed in the style of Italian peasants, carrying tambourines, with which they accompanied the singing; one of them, who had been lately turned out of doors because she joined the "Arm," caused a great deal of notice by wearing a large white pinafore, upon which was written a text of Scripture. The feeling shown throughout the service was intense. The signers was accompanied by a piano, harp, cornet-trombones, drums and fifes, the matidens occasionally executing a was dance.

Inquirer: What is the extreme penalty for bigamy? Two mothers-in-law.

WOMAN

HER HEALTH AND LIFE

Depend more on the regularity of her menstrual functions than on any or all causes combined. An actual or a living death is the inevitable result of derangement of a function which makes woman what she is in every respect, and especially in her mental and bodily constitution. Hence, immediate relief from such derangements is the only safeguard against wreck and ruin. In all cases of stoppage, delay, or other irregularity of the system, Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous centres, improving the blood, and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a scientific prescription, and the most intelligent physicians use it. Prepared by Dr. J. Bradfield, Atlanta, Ga. Price: trial size, 75c.; large size, $1.50. For sale by all druggists.

Prices very low, at ECKFORD'S, Phœnix Drug Store.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla acts directly and promptly, to purify and enrich the blood, improve the appetite, strengthen the nerves, and brace up the system. It is therefore, in the truest sense an ALTERATIVE medicine. Every invalid should give it a trial.

"OUR EXPERIENCE WITH ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM for Colds and Coughs has been of the most satisfactory character," writes the Editor of a leading paper. He is only one in thousands who have tried this "BALSAM," and been convinced of its virtue and merits. Go and do likewise, if a Cough or Cold afflicts you.

SHIPWRECK! TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE!!

Mother and daughter go down together. A lovely maiden leaps into eternity! Wives and husbands, sons and daughters are wrecked and lost. Many sad hearts are left to mourn the loss. A husband lost his wife and daughter, a young man lost his betrothed.

A contemplation of these horrible "wrecks" work wonderfully upon the mind. The thought makes one feel sad. The strain upon delicate female nerves is too great. A married lady of our acquaintance was so wrought upon mentally that she became low-spirited and sad, lost her appetite, refused food, became feeble and emaciated, nervous and fretful. Her friends insisted that she should not think of these "wrecks" so much, but she insisted that she was sick in reality, and took her bed. She soon had aches and pains, and worked herself into a net-work of female troubles, which eventually ended in chronic female weaknesses and excesses and death.

Another case in point was that of a young lady. She had lost a friend and soon became melancholy and nervous, could not sleep soundly, her memory began to fail her, she lost all desire for company, her brain lost its brilliancy, her eye its luster, her cheeks became pale, complained of constant headache, and finally fell a victim to a list of female troubles, hysterics, palpitations, delirium, convulsions, and death.

These cases are of every day occurrence, and these "wrecks" upon female society are frightful. They should be remedied, and there is a remedy within the reach of all, and it is your duty to apply it.

No one need complain, for dr. dromgoole's english female bitters will cure all such. A book is published giving details of all these "wrecks." Send your name to j. p. dromgoole and co., louisville, ky., and get one free.

Foo Choo's Balsam of Shark's Oil

Positively Restores the Hearing, and is the Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known.

This Oil is abstracted from peculiar species of small White Shark, caught in the Yellow Sea, known as CHARCHARDON ROSELTH. Every Chinese fisherman knows it. Its virtues as a restorative of hearing was discovered by a Buddhist Priest about the year 1413. Its use became so universal that for over 300 years no Deafness has existed among the Chines people. Sent, Charges prepaid, to any address at $1.00 per bottle.

Hear What the Deaf Say!

It has performed a miracle in my case. I have no unearthly noises in my head and hear much better.

I have been greatly benefited. My deafness helped a great deal—think another bottle will cure me.

"Its virtues are UNQUESTIONABLE and its CURATIVE CHARACTER ABSOLUTE, AS THE WRITER CAN PERSONALLY TESTIFY, BOTH FROM EXPERIENCE AND OBSERVATION. DR. J. BRADFIELD'S

FEMALE REGULATOR

WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND.

It is well known to physicians, and alas! too well known to suffering women themselves, that they are subject to numerous diseases peculiar to their sex, such as suppression of the Menses, painful and scanty Menstruation, Congestion, Ulceration and Falling of the Womb, attended with an endless train of sympathetic and constitutional disorders, which embitters the whole life, and which have long been considered as almost incurable. But at last the remedy has been found in

Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator.

It is not a "cure-all," but a remedy for one class of diseases, all of which pertain to the WOMB.

Any sufferer from the diseases mentioned can take this remedy and thus relieve herself without revealing her condition to any one, and without subjecting her womanly modesty to the shock of an examination by a physician.

To bring health and happiness to the homes of suffering women is sufficient before which royal favor sinks into insignificance. What earthly benefaction can compare with one which protects from

"That disease whose ruthless power Withers beauty's trancient flower"

which gives ease for pain, joy for sorrow, smiles for tears, the rose of health for the pallor of disease, the light, elastic step for dragging weariness, nights of soft repose for heavy hours of tossing restlessness, bounding vigor for languishing dullness, the sweet line of full grown beauty for the sharp and withered form of emaciation, a long life of mental, physical, social and domestic enjoyments for a few sad days of pain and gloom, ending in an early grave! Such is the mission, such are the results of DR. J. BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR, which is hence truly and appropriately styled "Woman's Best Friend."

"Whites," and all those irregularities of the womb so destructive to the health, happiness and beauty of women, disappear like magic before a single bottle of this wonderful compound.

All who suffer from any of these diseases are most earnestly invited to give this great remedy a trial. It has cured thousands, and will cure you. Don't fail to try it.

Price, small size, 75 cents. Large size, $1.50. Manufactured by
