

THE DAILY PICKET.

VOL. XVII.

CANTON, MISSISSIPPI, THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

NO. 200.

WE SAY FAREWELL.

The DAILY PICKET bids farewell to its friends and supporters with this issue, and retires from the field for the present, if not forever.

The DAILY PICKET was the venture of my late father, Capt. Emmet L. Ross and was established by him nearly eighteen years ago.

Possessing great talent and the advantages of a fine education, the paper was most creditably conducted by him up to the time of his death in 1891. The older readers are familiar with the sad circumstances that made me his successor.

Assuming control at an early age, I realized my inefficiency for the responsibility, and, but for the encouragement of the good friends that have stood by me so steadfastly through all these years I would have faltered in my efforts.

My friends made the paper, not I, and to them I will ever be grateful for the leniency with which they have accepted my shortcomings and the good will and patronage bestowed.

The DAILY PICKET has managed to thrive under many hard struggles, and it is not that I feel discouraged, or am going to cease publishing a paper that I suspend the daily. It is my intention to devote more time to making the WEEKLY PICKET a better paper for the town and county, and also to the special line of business in which I have engaged in connection with my newspaper work, announcement of which is made in this issue.

This evening, the little paper that has visited you in your hours of joy and sadness bids you farewell. Thanking you most kindly for all favors, with many good wishes.

Yours truly,
HOWARD G. ROSS.

Business Notice.

The editor is perfecting arrangements to enlarge and otherwise improve the paper and to further advance the project requests your liberal co-operation. ## THE WASTE OF THE BODY.

Every seven days the blood, muscles and bones of a man of average size loses two pounds of worn-out tissue. This waste cannot be replenished and the health and strength kept up without perfect digestion. When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lets down, health gives way, and disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by B. E. Jones.
