Threatened Extermination of Deer in Colorado by the Ute Indians—McKinley Felt.

Fonseca in Trouble.

LONDON, November 9.—Dispatches received here from Pernambuco show that the troubles in Brazil are approaching a crisis, and there is much anxiety expressed in financial and commercial circles regarding the outcome of President Fonseca's action in dissolving congress, and again in the role of dictator, and grave doubts are expressed as to the success of this move. These dispatches state that from the province of Rio Grande do Dul comes intelligence to the effect that the local government has refused to acquiesce in the assumption by Fonseca of the power of dictator, and has declared independence in the province. The dispatches further say that there is great discontent throughout all the provinces because of it.

Killed for Their Hides.

DENVER, November 9.—Gov. Routt today received information that the Utes had been off the reservation and roaming through Lily park and along the White and Yampa rivers, committing depredations and wantonly slaughtering game. It is estimated that during the past month they have killed 3000 deer, mostly does and fawns. The hides alone are taken, the meat being left to rot.

McKinley Bill.

LONDON, November 9.—The News, commenting on the Board of Trade returns, says: The decrease of 20 per per cent in our trade with America may fairly be attributed to the McKinley bill, while the diminution in the demand from other countries must be attributed to the financial depression.

LOST AND FOUND.

A Lost Child Put in Communication with Her People Through the Medium of the Journal.

Several days ago, on the usual invitation "exchanges please copy," the YELLOWSTONE JOURNAL published a card (which is reprinted below) from a girl who was anxious to find her parents. A copy of the paper came to the hands of some one in Boone, Iowa, who knew the parties, and an investigation elicited the story which we copy from the Boone News.

The card first referred to was as follows:

I am trying to find my father. I am told that his name is James E. Bailey. I have no recollection of him, nor do I remember that I ever looked on the face of a relative. My mother died 15 years ago in Boone county, Iowa, when I was only a year old. Shortly after mother's death I was adopted by a neighbor named Morgan. When I was about eight years old we moved to Nebraska, and at this time my father seems to have lost track of me. I understand that he endeavored to find me, but was basely led by an interested party to believe that I had died. I have only recently learned that the Morgans are not my parents. I believe my father is living somewhere in this wide, wide world, and if he is I mean to find him. You can assist me if you will, but I can offer no reward at present, except my gratitude and my blessing.

If you are unable to give me any information regarding my father, please help me to publish and circulate this notice, and oblige,

Sincerely yours,
RETTA BAILEY,
San Bernardino, California.

Some fifteen or sixteen years ago Mr. Bailey and Mr. Morgan, were living in Boone county. The wife of Mr. Bailey died, and left three daughters, Luta Bailey, the lost child (her name is given as Retta by the circular, but her right name is Luta) was adopted by Morgan. About seven years ago Morgan moved his family to Nebraska and was lost track of. Martha Bailey was adopted by J. S. Miller, and is now living at his home near Molingona. The other sister is married, and is living at Le Mars. James Bailey went from Boone county to Illinois, where he married again, and from Illinois he moved to Nebraska, but there he was lost from the knowledge of his daughters. The sister living in Boone county does not know where her father is, and as far as Mr. Miller knows, no one does. He has a brother, William Bailey, who lives at Van Meter.

By further inquiry the News has discovered that there is a chapter left out of the girl's story, which makes her longing to get away from "strangers" a little mysterious. Miss Bailey (who is no longer Miss Bailey), though quite young, was married recently to Oscar P. Taylor, a lawyer living at San Bernardino. It is also learned that her adopted parents are well-to-do people, who never had any children of their own, and lavished the tenderest care upon Luta, whom they induced to believe was their own daughter. Her own father, when he lived in Molingona, was a man given to drink, and is a roving character at present. Why the girl should desire to leave her present home and search for her father, if she is acquainted with these circumstances, is a mystery which she herself perhaps can best solve.

Her adopted parents live in San Bernardino county, Cal., near her husband's home, and have everything to make them comfortable. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were quite well known when they resided here, and were very estimable people, Mrs. Morgan being a sister of Dr. Deering. There are parties in the legal profession hunting for Mr. Bailey, probably instigated from the same source. The case is an interesting one, and if there is any great good to come of finding him it is to be sincerely hoped he will be found.

THE STRONGEST AND PUREST.

The Official Report of the Minnesota Dairy and Food Commissioner Shows the Royal Baking Powder the Best in the State.

The last report of the Minnesota state food and dairy commission contains the details of the state chemist's experiments and analysis to determine the strength and keeping qualities of the various baking powders. Samples of the numerous brands on sale in this state were purchased and first analyzed to ascertain their leavening power. The Royal Baking Powder is shown by the tests of both state analysts, Prof. Eberman and Prof. Drew, to contain the greatest amount of leavening gas of the cream of tartar powders thus purchased and tested. Hence this powder is officially ranked at the head of the list.

The report attaches great importance to a series of experiments made to ascertain the character, efficiency and keeping qualities of the powders. Baking powders that vary in strength before use, are unable and will not give even results; besides, it is an indication of the use in their compounding of improper ingredients. These tests were applied to a large number of samples of different ages of the three cream of tartar powders best known in Minnesota. They showed the strength or leavening power of the Royal very much greater than that of the others. The uniformity of strength of all the samples of Royal tested was remarkable. Its leavening power was practically unimpaired even in the oldest specimens. The difference in the amount of leavening gas in different samples of both the other brands was so great as to seriously impair their usefulness in baking. As much as 24 per cent loss was found in samples a few months old. All the samples of Royal examined by Dr. Drew were reported of satisfactory strength and quality.

The Accidental Mine.

The following item in regard to the Accidental mine, taken from the Harney Peak Mining News published at Hill City, S. D., will give an idea of what is thought of the property at home. The item is taken from the News' issue of November 6th, and is therefore quite recent:

"Work on the Accidental mine is progressing favorably. The main tunnel is in about 150 feet and the pay streak increases in richness. The new tunnel just completed and running obliquely from tunnel No. 1, is in about 110 feet, and bids fair to prospect as well as the old tunnel. An assay of the ore made by Prof. Brent of the Four Mile gold mill, near Custer last week, gave $23.50 gold to the ton. Mr. Brent is highly pleased with the Accidental property and prophesies a rich paying mine in the cement district. The Accidental shows considerable free gold and some of the finest specimens seen in the Hills have been taken from that mine. Supt. Canfield has a bonanza."

"The Italy of America."

Southern California has very truthfully been called. In the dry, pure, vital air of Southern California the strong feel a trebled joy in life, while the weak and suffering are builded up, renewed and strengthened in a perfectly marvelous manner. The soft and balmy and air, the prodigal profusion of flowers, the magnificent display of fruits, the luxury of sea bathing, the beautiful walks, drives and excursions which everywhere invite the traveler combine to make this southern summer land a veritable dream of enjoyment, and this, too, at a time of year when his eastern home is fast bound in the icy grasp of winter. Here the flowers are in bloom and summer clothing may be worn with comfort.

The arrangements for the fall and winter's traveling by the Union Pacific "The Original Overland Route," and the Southern Pacific, are absolutely perfect. Yosemite valley, the giant trees of Mariposa and Calaveras, Monterey, the queen of America's watering places, and the great city of San Francisco, are all the best, and the whole trip over the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads is the supremest luxury of railway traveling. On the 15 h of each month round trip tickets, good for six months, will be sold from Butte at the following rates: To San Francisco, $75; to Los Angeles, $80. Write the general agent, Butte, for information as to change of routes.

A trip down the lordly Columbia river, from "The Dalles" to Portland, Ore., on the Union Pacific is enchanting, and will never be forgotten.

Bear in mind that the Union Pacific takes second class passengers through on fast express trains.

The Squire's Opinion.

A man not especially well known had given a lecture in a New Hampshire town without rousing much enthusiasm in his audience, and as he rode away on the top of the stage coach the next morning he tried to get some sort of opinion from Jim Barker, the driver. After pumping in vain for a compliment he inquired:

"Did you hear nothing about my lecture? I should like very much to know how it was received."

"Wal, no, stranger, I can't say as I heerd much. I guess the folks was purty well pleased. Nobody seemed to be agin it but Square Lothrop."

"And may I ask what he said?"

"Wal, I wouldn't mind, if I'se you, what he said. He says just what he thinks, right out with it, no matter who's hurt, and he usually gits the gist on't. But I wouldn't mind what he said; the public was purty generally pleased."

"Yes," persisted the tortured man, "but I do want very much to know what Squire Lothrop's opinion was."

"Now, stranger, I wouldn't think anything more about the Squire. He's got good common sense, and allers hits the nail on the hed; but, as I said, you pleased 'em fustrate."

"Yes, but I must know what Squire Lothrop did say!"

"Wal, if you will have it, he did say, and he's apt to git the gist on't, he did say that he thought 'twas awful shaller."—Youth's Companion.

The Effect of Narcotics.

When Dr. Thomson was bishop of Gloucester he was occasionally a sufferer from toothache, and resorted, by medical advice, to narcotics to relieve the pain. One morning, after a night of great suffering, he left the house to consult the doctor, Mrs. Thomson entreating him not to allow the latter to prescribe a narcotic, as it affected his brain for some hours afterwards. On his way the bishop met the postman, who handed him a large official envelope.

He opened it in the street and read, to his surprise and gratification, his appointment to the see of York. He hastened back to communicate to his wife the exciting news. "Zoe, Zoe," he exclaimed, "what do you think has happened? I am Archbishop of York!"

"There! there!" she rejoined, "what did I tell you? You've been taking that horrid narcotic again and are quite out of your head."—North American Review.

A Paper Money Parasite.

Dr. L. B. Clifton, the Macon scientist, has detected a peculiar parasite which infects our paper money. It is found nowhere else, and though it is invisible to the unassisted eye the small creature multiplies at a surprising rate and is very numerous. Dr. Clifton counted 3,000 of them on an old five dollar bill. He said the money parasite is an acarus and closely related to the spider family. Its appearance is by no means handsome. In shape it is oblong and flat, and has four clumsy legs and a sharp bill. It is never known to leave the paper on which it lives and never becomes a parasite on the human body.—Paper Trade.
