TERWILLIGER CHOSEN FOR PRESIDENT

Montana State Teachers' Association Elects Officers.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

Many Suggestions for Betterment of the Public Schools Made.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN. Anaconda, Dec. 31.—Helena was unanimously chosen today as the place for holding the next meeting of the State Teachers' association one year hence. There was no opposition to the Capital City, the general opinion being that the meeting should go there in 1904. The following officers were elected: President, Lewis Terwilliger of Livingston; first vice president, Miss Anna Evans of Missoula; second vice president, E. S. Brothers of Billings; secretary, Miss Frances Miller of Sheridan; treasurer, John F. Curran of Sheridan; members of the executive committee, Dr. Bagley of Billings, Miss Ida Fullerton of Helena. Resolutions Adopted. The report of Prof. R. J. Coulson of Helena, for the committee on resolutions, was unanimously adopted. The resolutions recommended the establishment of a kindergarten department in all of the public schools. It was also recommended that more attention be paid to manual training. It was further the sense of the association that more care should be exercised in arranging the heating and ventilating facilities in the schools. It is proposed that the state board of education be given supervision over these facilities in all school buildings. More attention should also be paid to the decoration of the school rooms and to beautifying the grounds. There was the usual resolution of thanks to the people of Anaconda, the reception committee, the street railway, the press of Butte and Anaconda and others for favors. It was decided to print 1,000 copies of the annual address of President John M. Kay for distribution. The closing day of the session found interest in the proceedings as keen as ever. Although part of today was given over to sightseeing the teachers put in a busy day winding up the program, electing officers and otherwise finishing the work of the session. There is no discounting the fact that the 15th annual meeting of the association has carried off the palm for being the most successful in every sense. The attendance has been larger, while the character of the addresses and the discussion of educational matters generally left little doubt that the teachers of Montana take high rank in their profession. Go Through Works. Two parties of visitors went to the new works today and were shown through the great Washoe smelting plant. The first party left the city about 9:30 a. m. on cars specially provided for the occasion and spent the balance of the morning viewing the wonders of the big plant. This afternoon at 3 o'clock the second party visited the smelter. Those who did not go sightseeing wound up the program and participated in the business meeting. The morning session began in the High School with an invocation by Rev. A. R. Copman. D. C. Ahlers' Paper. D. C. Ahlers of the Butte High School read an interesting paper on "Commercial Training in the Public Schools." He stated that the public has reached a point where the conditions of the country favor special training along commercial lines. "The work in the school room," said he, "should always reflect the work done in the outside world. Courses of study are made by the popular demand and the boy who leaves the High School should be equipped for the battle in the business world." Mr. Ahlers went on to tell of the good that might be obtained from a course in French or Latin or chemistry. "The pupil may derive much benefit therefrom," said the speaker, "but the same time spent in the study of commercial law or learning how to write or spell or in learning how to add up a column of figures will better enable him to grapple with the problems of life on leaving school. "Utility should be the watchword. The three Rs, without frills or flourishes. In this way the time spent in the grades can be made of lasting benefit. This age is essentially an industrial and practical one. The spirit of commercialism seems to be the dominant factor in our social economy and there is no better proof of the need of a commercial training than the presence of the business college itself. Thousands and thousands of these schools have been established and are being maintained in the United States at the present time. If there were no demand for them their doors would soon close. In General Note. "No one, unless he is totally ignorant of the work done in these schools and the practical needs of the world today, will say a word in opposition to them. Yet if you take short-hand out of your calculation and consider it distinct and separate, like you would drawing and music, you will find four-fifths of the time spent in the business college consumed in learning to read, write, spell and in doing practical work in arithmetic." Mr. Ahlers stated that in his experience with business colleges, high school graduates came to him deeply deficient in these fundamental branches. He advocated teaching bookkeeping in the grades.
