

There Are Only 14 Days Left!

There will be other days, but there will not be that number this year so important to those engaged in the Chronicle Salesmanship Campaign, as the period from now until July 2nd. The remaining six big prizes represent a big sum, (with the 10 per cent commission to be paid;) over $1800. It is to be distributed among the candidates named on this page the day after the campaign closes. All the Chronicle sales force will have a fund for celebration of the 4th of July, because every active candidate is sure to be well paid.

No more candidates will be accepted, the list is corrected to date and is final and official.

Just a few words now to the good folks of Carbon County who have received a copy of the Chronicle or who are now reading the paper and this advertisement for the first time.

The young people whose names appear in the list have been taking orders for subscriptions to the Carbon County Chronicle for several weeks and are now nearing the finish of the campaign period. In all about $2000.00 in cash and awards and commissions will be given to them for their work by this newspaper.

Eight days more they will receive double credits on subscriptions, after that the remaining six days are not so productive of the credits upon which the judges will award the prizes. That was the rule made at the beginning of the campaign.

If you like the paper now we promise that you will like it better as the years pass. Take a few minutes time, select some one in the salesmanship list and send a check or money order for a years subscription. Or if you prefer, send the order to the Chronicle and the return mail will bring you a receipt and two special ballots for 2000 credits each to cast for your favorite in the campaign.

EITHER WAY WILL SERVE BUT DO IT NOW.

FIRST GRAND AWARD THE GARDNER TOUR DELUXE

Purchased of H. P. Sandels, the Red Lodge Agent of the Gardner Motor Company. The price of the car, including the equipment with Balloon Tires is $1350.00 and it is worth every dollar of the money.

No more striking car will be seen on the road here this year as for comfort in riding, the balloon tires are mentioned in a late reading notice which is reproduced here.

"Balloon Tires are here to stay and will come more and more into general use until the time is not far distant when many sizes of high pressure casings will be a thing of the past."

This is the composite opinion of a number of the country's large car manufacturers who are already producing much of their out put equipped with balloon tires and who see this type of casing as standard equipment on nearly all makes and models in the near future.

And this is not to be wondered at for undoubtedly balloon tires add to the satisfaction of the motorist in his car. For instance, the fact that the automobile owner can now set out for a trip with even less danger of punctures or blowouts is of great importance. Balloon tires being less taut, with less air pressure behind sidewalls and tread, they do not strike sharp objects hard enough to force them through the casing or tube.

The new low pressure casings make it easier to drive out of ice or dirt ruts; they traction better in deep snow or soft mud; the car coasts more freely; the assurance of a higher general average of speed, because of better traction, brings even better speedometer showings; there is no increase in gasoline consumption, but, on the contrary an increased mileage per gallon of gas; with the possible exception of pulling out from curb with very close clearance balloon tires mean easier steering; breaking is reported superior with the low pressure casings.

Another advantage of balloon tires, not often referred to, is that muddy roads are not cut into so badly, saving the highway and prohibiting deep ruts, which will damage sidewalls. Tests show that except in extreme cases it is not necessary to use chains.

See the car at 101 North Broadway, at the Chronicle Salesmanship Headquarters.
