SOCIETY

Society has not lacked for gayety during the past week. Almost every night there has been a dancing party, banquet, reception or musical, besides numerous small functions given in the afternoons. It would seem as though every one was celebrating the election.

The annual banquet of Sorosis which is always held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sawyer, was given Friday evening, November 9. The decorations and arrangements of the board and rooms carried out the idea of the olden time. The tables were set in the shape of a horse-shoe, with old-fashioned blue dishes, one knife, fork and spoon, very little silver and a few candlesticks with tallow candles. The walls were hung with old-fashioned pictures and on the mantle were rows of pewter platters and brass candlesticks. On the outside of the menus this quotation was printed, "We'll see how the old-time dainties suit the old-time boys and girls." Mrs. E. H. Barbour, the president of Sorosis, was toastmistress, and while Mr. Guthrie carved the roast pig, Mrs. Barbour gracefully read the following quotations: "What has this country deserved, what has it done, that it in golden letters should be set." Afterwards she called on the guests alphabetically according to the gold letter on each one's souvenir whereon was recounted the deeds and heroes of the century. Mrs. Barbour was a brilliant toastmistress and the moments sped, not one lagged under her skillful and tactful management. The responses finished, Mr. Guthrie's task of carving the pig was accomplished too. Under his sharp knife and knowledge of anatomy the pig fell into straight slices, as though pigs came that way. "The three R's a spread of old-fashioned food." was the banquet where each one responded to the toast, "The Century." After the banquet Mrs. Hill played a medley of old tunes. Mrs. Barbour alluded to the old-fashioned lady with ringlets, and repeated the quotation, "Soft words with nothing in them make a song," and then Mrs. Burlingim sang O'sian's Serenade.

O come with me in my little canoe,
 While the sea is calm, and the skies are blue.
 O come with me, for I long to go,
 To those isles where the mango apples grow.

Then come with me and be my love,
 For thee the jungle depths I'll rove.
 I'll gather the honeycomb bright as gold
 And chase the elk to its secret hold.

CHORUS.

I'll chase the antelope over the plain,
 The tiger's cub I'll bind with a chain;
 And the wild gazelle with its sil'ry feet
 I'll give thee for a playmate sweet.

O come if the love thou hast for me
 Is warm and bright as mine for thee;
 Pure as the fountain underground
 Where first 'tis by the lap-wing found.

At the close of the program the loving cup was passed, all drinking to Sorosis, after which the president presented it to Mrs. Sawyer as the gift of the club. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Guthrie, Hill, Hinman, Hodgman, Lees, Miller, Wharton, Sawyer, Taylor, Tibbets, Frost and Burnett; Mesdames Bell, Barbour, Barnard, Burlingim, Hall, Welch, Wheeler; Misses Tibbets and Miller. The guests were Mesdames Sewell, McCrery, and Northrop; Misses Hall, Harris, Irwin, Longwell; Dr. Manss and Dr. Lowrey. Every year Sorosis banquet has a distinct character. Every year the members believe that invention has been exhausted and that the next year's will be a repetition of some previous function, but it is always new. The menu of this year's banquet was especially delicious and the speeches were short, crisp and sparkling.

Mrs. Charles H. Rudge gave a large card party last Saturday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. McMasters of Chicago. The rooms were decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and lighted by red lamps. Euchre was played and three pretty prizes were given. The invited guests were: Mesdames Charles Hammond, O. N. Humphrey, A. L. Hoover, S. C. Hoover, Hill, Wolcott, Field, Tibbets, Frank Everetts, Fisk, O. M. Thompson, R. H. Oakley, Talbot, Mary Phillips, W. A. Phillips, Ricketts, Harris, Casebeer, Holm, R. M. Mrs. Herman Dierks entertained on Wednesday evening in honor of her guests, Miss Annie Ronnie of Walnut, Iowa, and Miss Dierks of Kansas City. The rooms were tastefully decorated with carnations and chrysanthemums. High five and crokinole were played. Miss Ronnie's numbers on the piano were exquisitely played. Mr. Easterday also played acceptably. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames Barth, Page and Easterday. Mesdames Wittie and Johnson, and Mr. Water. Misses Pearl Hall, Carrie Hall, Bertha Johnson, Eleise Johnson, Annie Vieth, Kate Vieth, Anna Hase and Winnie Smith.

Mrs. Fred Gardiner and Mrs. Richard O'Neill gave a large card party Thursday afternoon, November eighth, at the home of the former. The decorations were palms and pink roses. Refreshments were served at small tables. The guests were: Mesdames Winnett, Talbot, Wentz, Wilkinson, Wright, Cran-
