

Nazi Parachute Troops Discard Chutes and Run Thunder on Our Coast—but It's Only Practice!

The Nazis' highly effective parachute troops, which have so materially helped the success of the German drive, are pictured in action here. Men of this detachment have just been dropped from a Nazi transport plane. They have discarded their parachutes, assembled their heavy machine gun, and are dashing for the protection of the strategic railway line which runs on the embankment in the rear.

The thunder of the great war across the seas re-echoes here in America as one of the six-inch disappearing guns at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, unlimbers its blast. As the gunner yanks the lanyard a projectile is hurled at a moving target several miles away. Note how the men in the pit have braced themselves against the effects of the concussion.

Will American Battleships Come to This?

The whaleback battleship, heavily armored, may be the answer to the threat of the dive bomber, according to the Secretary of the Navy, Charles Edison. Just what a whaleback battleship would look like is shown by this drawing by Otto Kuhler, New York designing engineer. The rounded armored surfaces give maximum resistance to direct hits and deflect striking power. The whaleback fighting ship would present an ultra-streamlined appearance, even the smokestack being built like a teardrop. Refugees Fleeing the Terrible Nazi Invasion

This view, somewhere in Belgium, passed by French censors, shows a small group of nuns and civilians fleeing before a Nazi invasion. (Inset)—This dramatic picture shows a mother and child sobbing in the midst of the ruins of their home, in the environs of Paris, after a Nazi raid had destroyed what was dear to them. These scenes are typical of many that are witnessed daily in the war-torn sections of Europe.

James Roosevelt Christens His Sloop

James Roosevelt, movie producer and son of the President, is pictured above cracking a bottle of champagne over the bow of his new racing sloop, Half Moon. Young Roosevelt, like his father, is an ardent and capable sailor. He plans on entering his sloop in the spring series of San Diego, Calif., yacht club races.

Invaders From Sky

The launching of an attack by Nazi parachute troops. The parachutes are bailed out at one-second intervals, their chutes blossoming out as they dive for their objective.

Hitler With His Parachutists at Front

In this picture of Adolf Hitler at the western front, the Fuehrer is shown, according to the German censor-approved caption, with parachute troops whom he honored by awarding them the Iron Cross. The parachutists are credited with leading the attack on Fort Eben Emael, Liege citadel outpost. Note the crosses, Germany's highest honor.

S. S. 'America'

The giant steamship America at dock in Norfolk. The newest and biggest vessel in the American merchant marine; the largest passenger ship ever built in this country; length, 723 feet.

Admiral Byrd Checks His Polar Maps

Back again in his Boston home, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd gets down on his hands and knees before a large map of the wilderness known as Antarctica. He is explaining the many difficulties his expedition has encountered in establishing bases along the unexplored coastline under the Southern Cross.

Sponsors New Sub

Mrs. Walter B. Woodson, wife of Rear Admiral Woodson, just before she acted as sponsor to the newest addition to Uncle Sam's submarine fleet, the U. S. S. Trout. The Trout has recently been launched at the Portsmouth navy yard.

Kills Baby Son to Save Him From War

Mrs. Katherine Kelly of Chicago, suffering from "involutional depression," and her five-year-old son, John, whom she killed with a baseball bat because she wanted to save him from the war. The tragedy occurred while Austin, her 16-year-old son, was attending the furnace. The jury recommended that Mrs. Kelly be held on a murder charge.

Airdream Realized

Igor Sikorsky, aircraft designer, claims success for his airdream to rise and descend vertically. It looks ancient, but here it is—1940 model—hovering over the airport. Mr. Sikorsky is at the controls.

Performing Miracle With an Old Rocker

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

A CERTAIN Miss Fixit, and that was not really her name, inherited a house full of furniture that was not old enough to be either quaint or antique. One day she sent for my little Book No. 4, and there she found a sketch showing how to plot a room color plan based on a rug, or a picture, or a piece of drapery material with good coloring. Miss Fixit had a picture that she had always loved because of its beautiful colors. Just for fun, as a sort of game, she made a room color plot based on that picture. Then she suddenly realized that, after all, color is very cheap—anyone can have all they want of it for very little money.

That was really a turning point in the life of Miss Fixit. This old rocker that she made over is merely a sample of what may happen when a clever young lady is bent upon bringing color into her life. The chair has been painted a pale turquoise blue, and the seat cushion and back are covered with an inexpensive chintz in turquoise; cherry red; primrose yellow and deep green, with red bias bindings.

I wish every reader interested in choosing colors for her home might have a copy of my Book 4. It contains an illustrated rule for making a room color plan, based on the colors in a picture; a rug; a vase; or a piece of drapery material with lovely colorings. The rule is so clear and easily understood that I am sure every reader of these weekly articles would be delighted to have a copy. To get your copy, send 10 cents in coin and ask for Book 4. Hold the Tongue

Never hold any one by the button or the hand in order to be heard out; for if people are unwilling to hear you, you had better hold your tongue than them.—Lord Chesterfield.

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, going up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!
