THE MYSTIC LINKS. The Odd Fellows Celebrate their Sixty-Sixth Anniversary With Enthusiasm. Dedication of The New Hall.

MINOR MENTION. The Y. M. C. A. gave another of their pleasant entertainments last evening. Dr. S. Mosher, of Sioux City, is to be at the Scott house to-morrow to attend to the afflicted.

Yesterday was a gala one for the Odd Fellows, it being the sixty-sixth anniversary of the order, and the new hall being ready for dedication. A large number of visiting brethren were here and the elaborate arrangements for the day were carried out very happily.

The monthly conference of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Y. M. C. A. was held here Monday evening, and proved profitable and interesting, although the attendance was not as large as on some of the former occasions.

The services were in accordance with the programme given in yesterday's Bee, and after the ritualistic portions of it were carried out there were exercises of a varied character. The music was excellent. The Bavarian band furnished the martial music, and in the hall there was some choice vocal music.

The following persons will assist the violinist and tenor at the opera house Friday night, May 1: Miss Onetah McMillan, of Vassar college, pianist; Misses Jones, Merkel, Tostovin and Gerner, vocalists; Miss Julia Officer, accompanist.

The first address was by D. C. Bloomer and was an excellent one. It consisted of a brief, clear, outline of the history of the order in this country, beginning with Washington Lodge No. 1 which started in with only five members, and which was still in active working order.

MAJOR VAUGHAN having returned from his eastern trip, is beset by inquirers as to what he is going to do about the saloons. He says he has not had any occasion to change his position from that stated in an interview with THE BEE man just before his departure, and published at that time.

Dr. Harris, of Missouri Valley, also gave an address which was very timely, and was listened to with much interest. He picked up some of the objections which had been urged against the order, and answered them in his happy, keen manner, making it plain that he had not been an Odd Fellow for forty years without seeing increasing beauties in the organization.

On Monday a big fat alk talking individual arrived in this city and began working the merchants for from $1 to $5 each for the privilege of lettering their show windows with soap. He pushed the soap in good style, having his business down fine, but the rain of Monday night washed the soap lettering off the windows, and the big fat alk talking individual on Tuesday morning could not be found, having left for some dry weather town.

There were a goodly number of visitors here from other points, from Omaha, Plattsmouth, and from various places in Iowa. In the evening there was a grand ball given, which closed the festivities of the day. The order observed the day in a very creditable manner, and one which reflected credit upon the city.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE? The Saloon Question Still a Bothersome One. An attempt is being made to collect the back licenses for the quarter ending May 1st, a number of saloon men not having paid, although the understanding was that they should pay in advance.

Frank English, the foreman for David Bradley & Co., on his way home at an early hour yesterday morning discovered that one of the doors of the Keystone company's warehouse was open, and investigation showed that thieves had been prowling about the place, but had secured no plunder except a few postage stamps. The theory is that some boys had hidden in the warehouse before it was closed for the night, and were bent on getting a lot of tobacco tags, which had been gathered by the office boy, Walter, he having saved over 3,000. The collection has been greatly admired and coveted by many boys, and he has been offered $25 in cash for it.

It is expected that the prohibitionists will hold a meeting Thursday afternoon to decide on some course of action. It has been stated that one of the causes of delay has been the tardiness in raising the needed funds, and this has caused some wonder as to what the need might be for any amount of funds, as the getting out of injunctions seems not a very expensive mode of litigation, under the prohibitory law.

and this has caused some wonder as to what the need might be for any amount of funds, as the getting out of injunctions seems not a very expensive mode of litigation, under the prohibitory law. The reason for wanting a large amount of funds has been learned by the Bee to be that it is not the plan to merely shut up the saloons, for this they think is the easiest part of their proposed work. It is said that they feel that the shutting up of the saloons will amount to but little, as there will be other ways for the thirsty ones to get their thirst moistened, and the work of drying up all the quiet fountains is the really hard task, requiring much money and labor.
